Marines Invade Congs' 'Heartland'

Stirs County Commissioners Protest

Junction Termed 'Too Dangerous'

THIS PHOTO SHOWS THE JUNCTION of Routes 7 and 30 which has stirred charges by Columbiana County commissioners as being "too hazardous." The commissioners have called on the Ohio Highway Department to take steps to improve the junction "in the interest of public safety."

Associated Press Pulitzer prize - winning correspondent Peter Arnett accompanied the first U.S. Marines to hit the beaches of Vietnam's Mekong Delta — long a Viet Cong strnoghold.

By PETER ARNETT

THANH PHU PENINSULA, South Vietnam (AP) — Eight-inch shells thudded into the surf and beach and the dawn came up like thunder as U.S. Marines waded ashore on white beach in the Mekong Delta — heartland of the Viet Cong for 20 years.

It was the first mass American penetration into the guerrilla stronghold, where the Viet Cong have stored arms, trained recruits and hid near the beaches to rest from the war.

The object of the early morning attack Friday was a strip of sand streaked with driftwood at the southern tip of Vietnam's most densely populated province, Kien Hoa, 55 miles south of Saigon.

The enemy was presumed to have had an inkling of the assault, and few Viet Cong were to be found at the beach. Only several sniper rounds defiantly whipped in as the troops waded ashore. The enemy obviously was not interested in tangling with the Marines just yet.

The multibattalion force engaged in the delta landings, codenamed Deckhouse Five, assembled last weekend aboard a 12-ship Navy task force off the coastal resort of Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon, waiting for the weather to clear.

Twice the invasion was postponed because of hazardous sea conditions, particularly for the Vietnamese marines, who had to clamber over the sides of their assault transports, scramble down nets and into landing craft.

Eventually, the order was given for the U.S. Marines to go in first. Gray mist swirled around spade-shaped American landing ships as Task Force 76 launched its oblong, 32-ton, water-tight steel amtrak troop-carriers into the water like fish laying eggs.

Amtrack 01 plummeted like a submarine as it left mother ship Coconino County, an LST that harbored eight of the steel monsters in its stomach. Barrages of artillery and rocket fire from the 7th Fleet heavy cruiser Canberra and the medium rocket Ship St. Francis River had already softened the beach.

Lt. Stanley Cottle of Tulare, Calif., spearheaded the assault, aiming his amtrack directly at White Beach, 1,100 yards in front. It was the first official American military thrust into the delta, home of five million people and an estimated 100,000 Viet Cong.

Alpha Company of the 1st Battalion made the first enemy kill Friday when they shot a man clad in black near their positions.

Then early today, after a night of sniping, a perimeter post of a company heard voices. They opened fire and when the smoke cleared, a young man

Vegas Blast Kills 6

Police Say Bomb Tore City Motel

8 Others Injured; Authorities Weigh Suicide Or Murder

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A devastating explosion that killed six persons and injured eight in a downtown motel early today was caused by a bomb, county officials declared.

"It has to be a bomb. There's no question," said Dist. Atty. George E. Franklin. "We don't know if it's suicide or what."

Officers said the bodies of six persons were found in the rubble of wood and stones after the blast, and that eight persons were treated at a hospital. One victim was taken to emergency surgery.

Officers said much of the Orbit Inn Motel was destroyed, that the explosion apparently occurred on the third floor. They continued to search the rubble, while firemen stood guard to prevent any secondary fires.

The blast occurred at 1:25 a.m., investigators said.

The dead were not immediately identified.

The injured were identified as:

Most suffered cuts and bruises, except Lewis Palmer, who was admitted for surgery, officers said.

Deputy Coroner Harvey Schnitzer said "six occupants are unaccounted for, but we have, we think, six victims." He said the bodies of those recovered so far are extremely mangled.

Plain States 'Snowbound' In New Storm

Duluth Area Buried As Accumulation Reaches 27 Inches

By The Associated Press

A wind-lashed blizzard roared into the northern Plains states today, dumping up to 12 inches of new snow on the Duluth area.

The depth of snow on the ground in Duluth was 27 inches.

The storm, which came down the eastern slope of the Rockies Friday, was pushed by winds of 40 and 50 miles an hour. Temperatures in many areas fell far below zero.

Blizzard or heavy-snow warnings were issued by local weather bureaus for parts of North Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Wisconsin and Michigan.

The Weather Bureau in Chicago said 4 to 8 inches of new snow could be expected in parts of the eight states.

The Duluth snowfall came in 12 hours. At Alpena and Socoda, Mich., the snowfall totaled five inches in six hours. Salt Lake City got five inches.

Hazardous - driving warnings followed the heavy-snow reports and later bitter cold moved into the snow belt.

At 1 a.m., the reading at Glasgow, Mont., was -14. At Key West, Fla., it was 72, the nation's high.

Freezing rain or sleet fell over sections of southern Michigan and showers and thundershowers raked areas southward to the Gulf.

Some Rocky Mountain passes were blocked for a time by snowslides. At Afton, Wyo., a search was under way in an area where a 40-foot deep snow slide may have covered a logging contractor.

Toll May Top 100 In Crash Of Two Buses

MANILA (AP) — The Philippine Constabulary said today the death toll may pass 100 in what was probably the world's worst highway tragedy when two buses loaded with Roman Catholic pilgrims collided and plunged into a 300-foot ravine.

The buses, part of a 57-vehicle convoy taking villagers to a church festival to mark the end of Christmas, toppled off a winding mountain road Friday. Eighty-four persons including at least 21 children, were killed and 59 others have been hospitalized in serious condition. Many of the injured were not expected to survive.

Will Go Before Legislature

Rodak Will Seek Passage Of Bills

NEW CUMBERLAND — Sheriff Joseph Rodak has announced that he will go to Charleston next week to urge passage of several bills before the West Virginia legislature.

He will propose an increased daily fee from Waterford Park race track for use in a general fund for Hancock County.

Rodak explained that the amount now received from the track does not justify the use of deputies for patrolling the crowds on the scale required.

He pointed out that West Virginia receives about $250 a day from the track and suggests that Hancock County be allotted perhaps half this amount.

"It's all right to have the deputies there," he said, "but the county should get $125 a day."

An additional proposal by Rodak will call for the placement of all field deputies and tax office deputies under Civil Service. Under the present system, they are appointed every four years by the sheriff.

Rodak also will recommend the establishment of a capital improvements fund to provide for the construction of a new county jail.

Rodak's fourth proposal calls for new anti - gambling legislation.

The existing law, he explained, does not make the possession of gambling devices a misdemeanor. The machines must be in use before they are considered illegal.

Rodak's proposal would make the mere possession of the equipment a misdemeanor and would permit the seizure of such devices whether or not in use.

2 Men Hospitalized

Skidding Bus Rams Car, Hurts 5 In Beaver Area

Two bus passengers were hospitalized and three others injured when their bus skidded on icy Route 18 in Beaver County, hit a wrecked auto and plunged over an embankment this morning.

In "fair" condition today at Washington (Pa.) Hospital were Charles Corpus, 52, of Avella, Pa., who suffered a broken knee, and Joseph Smydo, 60, of Burgettstown, who sustained two broken ribs and a fractured knee.

Treated and released were Thomas Stanley, 31, of Burgettstown, abrasions of the ribs; Louis Pulver, 39, Florence, Pa., abrasions of the ribs, and John Davis, 58, also of Burgettstown, who suffered abrasions of the face and a sprained back muscle.

Troopers from the Carnegie Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police said the accident occurred after a car driven by William McCue of Burgettstown went out of control on a downhill section of Route 18 near the entrance of Raccoon State Park hit 12 guard rails and sheared off a telephone pole before coming to rest on the left side of the highway. McCue was uninjured and walked to a nearby restaurant to await assistance in a parked truck. His auto was totally destroyed, investigators reported.

At approximately 5:55 a.m. today the bus, operated by Robert Farner, 30, of Burgettstown, entered the same stretch of highway. His bus, owned by J & L Co. of Burgettstown, contained nine passengers.

The hazardous roadway caused the carrier to skid, striking several guard rails until the vehicle plowed into the abandoned McCue auto and sent both sliding down the embankment.

The State Police reported the accidents were due to "extremely icy conditions" and said "no prosecutions" were planned.

3 Children Perish As Fire Levels Home

RANDOLPH, Ohio (AP) — Three children perished today in an early morning fire which destroyed their home in this Portage County community. Their parents and a sister were hospitalized.

Firemen identified the victims as Pamela Moss, 2, William, 6, and Robert, 12.

The parents, Phillip, 35, and Gladys Moss, 31, were in fair condition at Robinson Memorial Hospital in Ravenna. The fourth child, Joyce Ann, was not burned but was treated for shock. She also was in fair condition.

Death Ruled As Stabbing; Leads Sifted

Mrs. Bessie Quinn Believed Victim Of Burglar At Home

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Jefferson County Coroner John Smarrella agreed today with the opinion of state officials that an 82-year-old Mingo Junction woman was stabbed to death, apparently by a burglar in her duplex home.

Smarrella said Mrs. Bessie Quinn was stabbed once in the back and twice in the abdomen some time Wednesday night or early Thursday. He said she lived a few hours after the stabbing.

Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, who sent three investigators from the Bureau of Criminal Investigation at London Friday, had said he thought she was murdered.

Mingo Junction Police Chief George Doddsworth said the killer apparently entered the basement of Mrs. Quinn's home, using a key the woman kept outside.

The intruder then broke through a wall into the basement of the adjoining home, ransacked it, and went through the attic into Mrs. Quinn's home, the chief said. Mrs. Quinn's home was not ransacked, he added. The occupant of the other half of the duplex was in Florida.

Doddsworth said the police had several leads.

Driver Cited In Death Of Midland Boy

A Smiths Ferry area driver whose car struck and fatally injured a Midland youth Dec. 22 has been charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and involuntary manslaughter.

Roy Bailey of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1 was charged formally Friday before Justice of the Peace Paul McGeehan of Midland in connection with the death of Morris (Sandy) Martin, 19, of Midland.

Bailey's car struck the youth on Route 168 in Ohioville, just north of the Midland borough line. He died Wednesday night at a Pittsburgh hospital of head and other injuries.

Ohioville Police Chief Bernard Zlatovich filed the charges against Bailey, who was released under $2,000 bond pending a preliminary hearing next week.

Zlatovich said the charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol was based on the results of tests of Bailey which were sent to the Pennsylvania state police laboratory at Harrisburg and returned this week.

2 Truckers Are Hurt As Rigs Wreck

Collision Occurs In Skidding Mishap At Williamsport

Two truckers were injured early today when one of their rigs skidded into the side of a Route 7 bridge at Williamsport and jacknifed and the other rammed into the wrecked tanker minutes later.

A Salineville man escaped serious injury this morning when his car skidded on icy Route 39 and plunged over a steep embankment into a dry creek bed.

John Ward, 33, of Maiden, N. C., and Donald Dean, 43, of McDonald were treated at City Hospital for injuries received in the Williamsport accident about 5:25.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Dean, driving an empty Matlack Corp. tanker rig, was headed north, down hill, on Route 7 when he lost control of the truck on an icy curve.

The truck hit the side of the concrete bridge, tearing out some 27 feet of the concrete railing as it careened along the span. The front axle of the tractor was ripped out and the rig came to a halt after jackknifing at the north end of the bridge.

Dean, who suffered a leg injury, climbed out of the demolished cab, the electrical system of which was destroyed.

About three minutes later, Ward approached the span from the hill, driving a large van type truck loaded with furniture. He rounded the curve and saw the darkened, wrecked rig only as he neared the bridge.

Ward drove his rig as far to the right as he could in an effort to avoid the wreckage, but his truck hit the right side of the span and then rammed the rear wheels of the tanker truck, officers said.

Ward suffered a laceration of the elbow.

The two rigs, jammed together at the north end of the span, blocked Route 7 traffic for about two hours, officers said.

James Michael Rice, 20, of the Old Irondale Rd., Wellsville, was apparently unhurt in the Route 39 mishap about 1.5 miles north of Salineville

He was headed north when he lost control on the icy pavement and his 1958 coach went off the left side of the roadway, officers said.

The car struck trees, then went over the steep embankment and into a dry creek bed.

He was charged with speed in excess of safe road conditions.

Grand Jury Reports

Arraignment Set For 12 Indicted

LISBON — Twelve defendants indicted Friday afternoon by the Columbiana County grand jury will be arraigned Jan. 23 in Common Pleas Court.

The jury of eight men and seven women was in session three days and examined 33 witnesses in 19 criminal cases and nine traffic deaths.

Their report to Judge Joel H. Sharp contained 13 true bills, one defendant being named in two indictments. There were no traffic manslaughter indictments and, for the first time in several sessions, no secret indictments.

FIVE CASES in addition to the traffic accident investigations were ignored after study for lack of sufficient evidence. One case was returned to Juvenile Court.

In its report, the panel said it appears no action has been taken on the recommendation of a previous grand jury that a better prisoner - visitor communication system be provided at the County Jail.

"It is our unanimous opinion that this situation be examined carefully and steps taken to improve upon this complaint," the jury wrote yesterday.

The jurors found the jail in "good condition, well staffed and operating efficiently" commended Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan and his staff and made note of the "courteous treatment" given them by Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis and his assistants.

Defendants follow with charges:

Lester G. Chapman, 724 Green St., East Liverpool, burglary Dec. 2 at Pop's Tavern, 17th and Main St., Wellsville.

William Icenhour, 204 Grandview Ave., Monaca, Pa., armed robbery Jan. 2, 1966, at 12th St. Market, Wellsville.

Walter Parsons, 471 Mulberry St., East Liverpool, receiving stolen property; Louise Melvin, 46, of 454 Mulberry rear, receiving stolen property, and her son, Joe Murray, same address, burglary Nov. 23 at Cataldo's TV, Main St., Wellsville, and receiving stolen property.

At Reorganization Meeting

Aughinbaugh New Head Of Beaver Local's Board

Clayton W. Aughinbaugh was elected president of the Beaver Local School District Board of Education when the group held a reorganizational meeting Friday morning in the junior high school.

Named vice president was Lee Myers, who replaced Aughinbaugh, last year's vice president. The former president was William Smith.

The board again scheduled meetings for the first Monday in each month, with any necessary additional meetings to be held the third Monday in the month.

The board hired Ralph Williamson of East Liverpool to be its new clerk at a salary of $5,500 annually. Williamson succeeds Robert Himes of Youngstown, who resigned. Himes' last official act was the submission of the 1966 financial report to the board.

In other business, the board hired Mrs. Patricia Trotter of Calcutta to teach second grade, replacing the former Bonnie McLaren, who resigned after her recent marriage.

A leave of absence was approved to permit high school social studies teacher Peter Metrovich to work toward his master's degree at Kent State University. Hired to teach his classes this next semester was Linda McBane of Columbiana.

Five bus drivers were hired for the balance of the year. They are William Arthur Wilson, Ottis Stewart, Jane Clark, Mary E. Baker and Susan Walker.

The board agreed to the use of the Calcutta Elementary School Feb. 11 by the Beaver Local Boosters Club for a pancake supper.

The board also will allow the Acre Baptist Church of Negley to have access to the Oak Grove Elementary School on Route 170, which was abandoned eight years ago.

It also was announced that the Beaver Local schools will join districts from United Local, Southern Local, Crestview and Lisbon in a cooperative plan to purchase school supplies.

The next regular meeting will be Feb. 6.

Heavy Toll Reported In Nanking Riots

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Czechoslovak news agency, CTK, said today 40 Chinese were killed, 500 wounded seriously and a great number of others lightly in clashes between workers and students in Nanking Tuesday and Wednesday.

CTK said the city was in the grip of terror, with transport paralyzed and telephone connection with the rest of the country cutoff.

Leaflets spread in Peking today said the casualties occurred in a battle between two great organizations of "revolutionary workers and students," the agency went on.

The leaflets said the workers were an "instrument of the bourgeois and reactionary party committee of the province," numbering "hundreds of thousands members."

Will Go Before Legislature

Rodak Will Seek Passage Of Bills

NEW CUMBERLAND — Sheriff Joseph Rodak has announced that he will go to Charleston next week to urge passage of several bills before the West Virginia legislature.

He will propose an increased daily fee from Waterford Park race track for use in a general fund for Hancock County.

Rodak explained that the amount now received from the track does not justify the use of deputies for patrolling the crowds on the scale required.

He pointed out that West Virginia receives about $250 a day from the track and suggests that Hancock County be allotted perhaps half this amount.

"It's all right to have the deputies there," he said, "but the county should get $125 a day."

An additional proposal by Rodak will call for the placement of all field deputies and tax office deputies under Civil Service. Under the present system, they are appointed every four years by the sheriff.

Rodak also will recommend the establishment of a capital improvements fund to provide for the construction of a new county jail.

Rodak's fourth proposal calls for new anti - gambling legislation.

The existing law, he explained, does not make the possession of gambling devices a misdemeanor. The machines must be in use before they are considered illegal.

Rodak's proposal would make the mere possession of the equipment a misdemeanor and would permit the seizure of such devices whether or not in use.

Skidding Bus Rams Car, Hurts 5 In Beaver Area

Two bus passengers were hospitalized and three others injured when their bus skidded on icy Route 18 in Beaver County, hit a wrecked auto and plunged over an embankment this morning.

Driver Cited In Death Of Midland Boy

A Smiths Ferry area driver whose car struck and fatally injured a Midland youth Dec. 22 has been charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and involuntary manslaughter.

Roy Bailey of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1 was charged formally Friday before Justice of the Peace Paul McGeehan of Midland in connection with the death of Morris (Sandy) Martin, 19, of Midland.

Bailey's car struck the youth on Route 168 in Ohioville, just north of the Midland borough line. He died Wednesday night at a Pittsburgh hospital of head and other injuries.

Ohioville Police Chief Bernard Zlatovich filed the charges against Bailey, who was released under $2,000 bond pending a preliminary hearing next week.

Zlatovich said the charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol was based on the results of tests of Bailey which were sent to the Pennsylvania state police laboratory at Harrisburg and returned this week.

2 Truckers Are Hurt As Rigs Wreck

Collision Occurs In Skidding Mishap At Williamsport

Two truckers were injured early today when one of their rigs skidded into the side of a Route 7 bridge at Williamsport and jacknifed and the other rammed into the wrecked tanker minutes later.

A Salineville man escaped serious injury this morning when his car skidded on icy Route 39 and plunged over a steep embankment into a dry creek bed.

John Ward, 33, of Maiden, N. C., and Donald Dean, 43, of McDonald were treated at City Hospital for injuries received in the Williamsport accident about 5:25.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Dean, driving an empty Matlack Corp. tanker rig, was headed north, down hill, on Route 7 when he lost control of the truck on an icy curve.

The truck hit the side of the concrete bridge, tearing out some 27 feet of the concrete railing as it careened along the span. The front axle of the tractor was ripped out and the rig came to a halt after jackknifing at the north end of the bridge.

Dean, who suffered a leg injury, climbed out of the demolished cab, the electrical system of which was destroyed.

About three minutes later, Ward approached the span from the hill, driving a large van type truck loaded with furniture. He rounded the curve and saw the darkened, wrecked rig only as he neared the bridge.

Ward drove his rig as far to the right as he could in an effort to avoid the wreckage, but his truck hit the right side of the span and then rammed the rear wheels of the tanker truck, officers said.

Ward suffered a laceration of the elbow.

The two rigs, jammed together at the north end of the span, blocked Route 7 traffic for about two hours, officers said.

James Michael Rice, 20, of the Old Irondale Rd., Wellsville, was apparently unhurt in the Route 39 mishap about 1.5 miles north of Salineville.

He was headed north when he lost control on the icy pavement and his 1958 coach went off the left side of the roadway, officers said.

The car struck trees, then went over the steep embankment and into a dry creek bed.

He was charged with speed in excess of safe road conditions.

At Reorganization Meeting

Aughinbaugh New Head Of Beaver Local's Board

Clayton W. Aughinbaugh was elected president of the Beaver Local School District Board of Education when the group heid a reorganizational meeting Friday morning in the junior high school.

Named vice president was Lee Myers, who replaced Aughmbaugh, last year's vice president. The former president was William Smith.

The board again scheduled meetings for the first Monday in each month, with any necessary additional meetings to be held the third Monday in the month.

The board hired Ralph Williamson of East Liverpool to be its new clerk at a salary of $5,500 annually. Williamson succeeds Robert Himes of Youngstown, who resigned. Himes' last official act was the submission of the 1966 financial report to the board.

In other business, the board hired Mrs. Patricia Trotter of Calcutta to teach second grade, replacing the former Bonnie McLaren, who resigned after her recent marriage.

A leave of absence was approved to permit high school social studies teacher Peter Metrovich to work toward his master's degree at Kent State University. Hired to teach his classes this next semester was Linda McBane of Columbiana.

Five bus drivers were hired for the balance of the year. They are William Arthur Wilson, Ottis Stewart, Jane Clark, Mary E. Baker and Susan Walker.

The board agreed to the use of the Calcutta Elementary School Feb. 11 by the Beaver Local Boosters Club for a pancake supper.

The board also will allow the Acre Baptist Church of Negley to have access to the Oak Grove Elementary School on Route 170, which was abandoned eight years ago.

It also was announced that the Beaver Local schools will join districts from United Local, Southern Local, Crestview and Lisbon in a cooperative plan to purchase school supplies.

The next regular meeting will be Feb. 6.

Police Say Bomb Tore City Motel

8 Others Injured; Authorities Weigh Suicide Or Murder

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A devastating explosion that killed six persons and injured eight in a downtown motel early today was caused by a bomb, county officials declared.

"It has to be a bomb. There's no question," said Dist. Atty. George E. Franklin. "We don't know if it's suicide or what."

Officers said the bodies of six persons were found in the rubble of wood and stones after the blast, and that eight persons were treated at a hospital. One victim was taken to emergency surgery.

Officers said much of the Orbit Inn Motel was destroyed, that the explosion apparently occurred on the third floor. They continued to search the rubble, while firemen stood guard to prevent any secondary fires.

The blast occurred at 1:25 a.m., investigators said.

The dead were not immediately identified.

The injured were identified as:

Most suffered cuts and bruises, except Lewis Palmer, who was admitted for surgery, officers said.

Deputy Coroner Harvey Schnitzer said "six occupants are unaccounted for, but we have, we think, six victims." He said the bodies of those recovered so far are extremely mangled.

Heavy Toll Reported In Nanking Riots

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Czechoslovak news agency, CTK, said today 40 Chinese were killed, 500 wounded seriously and a great number of others lightly in clashes between workers and students in Nanking Tuesday and Wednesday.

CTK said the city was in the grip of terror, with transport paralyzed and telephone connection with the rest of the country cutoff.

Leaflets spread in Peking today said the casualties occurred in a battle between two great organizations of "revolutionary workers and students," the agency went on.

The leaflets said the workers were an "instrument of the bourgeois and reactionary party committee of the province," numbering "hundreds of thousands members."

Fire Sweeps Lisbon Home

LISBON — A fire at 10:40 a.m. today caused extensive damage to a factory pre - built aluminum home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles McFadden of Pleasant Heights.

Mrs. McFadden said she was at work at Hillyer's IGA Foodliner and received a call from her daughter, Cheryl, 12, that there was smoke in the house.

"I told her to go outside and I'd be right home," Mrs. McFadden said. "When I got there I went in and saw flames all around the gas furnace."

Lisbon volunteer firemen extinguished the fire, but were not available immediately for a description of the damage.

Mr. McFadden was at work. Mrs. McFadden said the one-floor home consists of living room, kitchen, bath and three bedrooms. She said most of the damage appears to be in the hall, living room and kitchen.

Pleasant Heights is northeast of the village corporation line. Gas lines serve the community, but it does not have village water.

Mrs. Wilma McFadden, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Etta Russell led devotions and Miss Alice Hickman conducted the program. Mrs. Flora Nicholson was a guest.

The next meeting will be Feb. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGraw of Stratton and Mrs. Charles Nicholson of Irondale spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. McGraw of Salineville.

Iron Blamed For Fire In Home At Ohioville

Ohioville firemen quelled the blaze at the home of Lloyd Wilson. Fire Capt. Ben Tiberio said there was about $300 damage to the four-room structure.

Driver Cleared In Traffic Case

Fined $10 and costs each after pleas of guilty were Charles E. Rearley, Wellsville; Paul E. Glunt Jr., Hanoverton R.D. 1, and John L. Smith, Ravenna.

Forfeiting $15 each for non appearance were Wallace H. Sunderland, Dennis S. Rutan and Ralph Polk, all of Cleveland, and Charles R. Rine, Littletown, W. Va.

Lloyd A. Grate, 18, Columbiana, charged with failure to obey a traffic signal, and Robert Shingleton, New Waterford, charged with failure to stop in an assured clear distance, were fined $10 and costs each.

Charles A. Richards, Elkton, was fined $5 and costs for operating a motor vehicle without a muffler and was ordered to pay $5 costs, but escaped a fine on a second charge — driving without a valid operator's license. The court noted Richards' license had expired five days before and that the defendant presented a new license in court.

Commissioners Get Letter

State Asks Information On Change In School Site

LISBON — The Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction at Columbus has asked Columbiana County commissioners for additional information on the change of site for the Robert Bycroft School for Retarded Children.

Commissioners voted Dec. 12 to build the school on the County Home farm three miles west of Lisbon rather than at the former Rogers farm on Route 7 just north of Rogers — a site approved Sept. 26.

John P. Morrison, coordinator of construction programs for the department, sent the letter to R. Max Gard of Lisbon, 1966 president of the commissioners.

Morrison said the commissioners will need to provide a "statement detailing the reasons for the site change, particularly in regard to the accessibility of the school to the persons to be served. This also must indicate future highway development and the areas of the county where it is estimated that the greatest future growth will take place."

The letter also enclosed for signature and return to the state office copies of applications covering financial and site information.

Morris said the material, when received and reviewed at Columbus, will be forwarded to the Chicago regional office for approval and permission to proceed with the working drawings.

The letter was turned over Thursday to Commissioner James W. Boyd of East Liverpool, who was elected president at a reorganization meeting Tuesday.

Boyd opposed the Rogers farm site from the beginning. It was approved by Gard and Robert Owen of East Liverpool, former county commissioner. Charles J. Gause of Hanoverton R. D. 1, new county commissioner, joined with Boyd to rescind action on the Rogers site.

A year earlier, county voters approved a one - mill levy for the school and workshop. Commissioners last month appropriated the $241,365 this tax brought in.

Gard said he is afraid delay caused by the change and resulting red tape puts the county in danger of losing the federal grant. He said the money must be used this fiscal year ending June 30 or reapplication will have to be made.

Change Made In Pughtown Area Project

A change in the plans for rural road improvements in the Pughtown area of mid-Hancock County was announced today by Burl A. Sawyers, state road commissioner, in a letter to State Sen. William Tompos of Weirton.

The change was made after Tompos had conveyed to Sawyers the petition signed by members of the Frankfort Road Improvement Club.

The State Road Commission had started to improve secondary road No. 26, extending from Pughtown to Hardins Run Rd., as a phase of the road improvement project extending from West Virginia Route 66 to the Hardins Run Rd.

In his letter to Tompos, Sawyers said: "We have found that by improving secondary road No. 24 more families would be served and there would be a higher traffic volume. Also, this road would provide service to Herron's Airport.

"Based upon this investigation, we feel that more persons as well as Hancock County will benefit by the improvement of secondary road No. 24. Therefore, we are proceeding with plans to improve Secondary 24 instead of Secondary 26."

Driver Misses Death When Stone Hits Auto

A Sewickley (Pa.) driver had a narrow brush with death on Route 14 near Columbiana Friday when a 4-inch stone, tossed from between the wheels of a tractor - trailer truck, smashed through his windshield and out the rear window.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said Thurman Ritter, 43, was headed west on Route 14 about a half-mile west of the intersection with Route 7 when the eastbound rig passed, the 4-inch stone flying from one of the dual wheels and hitting the windshield.

Ritter was treated by a physician for lacerations of the face received from broken glass.

Midland Club Names Staff For Contest

John Adams, president of the Midland Lions Club, appointed tellers to tabulate peace essay contest judge's votes when the club met Thursday night at Deramo's Azure Room. Appointed were Lloyd Murphy, Delbert McLane and Leslie B. Roach, co-chairman, of the contest.

Adams said the contest winners will be announced sometime this month.

The eight entries include five from South Side High School in Hookstown and three from Lincoln High School in Midland.

Morey Silverman attended as a guest of Lou Glumac. Twenty-one attended the meeting.

A thank you note was read from a person who received glasses from the Midland Club.

Five couples who attended the party for the blind held Dec. 28 at the New Brighton Fire hall were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schlosser, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McNeillie, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Haggerty, Mr. and Mrs. John Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Truman Rodfong, who transported the blind from the Midland area.

Henry Cannon will be program chairman at the next regular meeting Jan. 19 at 6:30 p.m. at Deramo's.

Fire Sweeps Lisbon Home

LISBON — A fire at 10:40 a.m. today caused extensive damage to a factory pre - built aluminum home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles McFadden of Pleasant Heights.

Mrs. McFadden said she was at work at Hillyer's IGA Foodliner and received a call from her daughter, Cheryl, 12, that there was smoke in the house.

"I told her to go outside and I'd be right home," Mrs. McFadden said. "When I got there I went in and saw flames all around the gas furnace."

Lisbon volunteer firemen extinguished the fire, but were not available immediately for a description of the damage.

Mr. McFadden was at work. Mrs. McFadden said the one-floor home consists of living room, kitchen, bath and three bedrooms. She said most of the damage appears to be in the hall, living room and kitchen.

Pleasant Heights is northeast of the village corporation line. Gas lines serve the community, but it does not have village water.

Mrs. Edith Crawford of Crafton, Pa., is a guest of Mrs. John Dando.

Miss Elizabeth McFadden of Crafton, Pa., has returned home after a visit with her mother, Mrs. C. R. McFadden.

The Dorcas Class of the Methodist Church held a coverdish dinner Wednesday night preceding a regular meeting. Eighteen were present.

Mrs. Wilma McFadden, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Etta Russell led devotions and Miss Alice Hickman conducted the program. Mrs. Flora Nicholson was a guest.

The next meeting will be Feb. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGraw of Stratton and Mrs. Charles Nicholson of Irondale spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. McGraw of Salineville.

Ohioville firemen quelled the blaze at the home of Lloyd Wilson. Fire Capt. Ben Tiberio said there was about $300 damage to the four-room structure.

Driver Cleared In Traffic Case

Fined $10 and costs each after pleas of guilty were Charles E. Rearley, Wellsville; Paul E. Glunt Jr., Hanoverton R.D. 1, and John L. Smith, Ravenna.

Forfeiting $15 each for non appearance were Wallace H. Sunderland, Dennis S. Rutan and Ralph Polk, all of Cleveland, and Charles R. Rine, Littletown, W. Va.

Lloyd A. Grate, 18, Columbiana, charged with failure to obey a traffic signal, and Robert Shingleton, New Waterford, charged with failure to stop in an assured clear distance, were fined $10 and costs each.

Charles A. Richards, Elkton, was fined $5 and costs for operating a motor vehicle without a muffler and was ordered to pay $5 costs, but escaped a fine on a second charge — driving without a valid operator's license. The court noted Richards' license had expired five days before and that the defendant presented a new license in court.

Commissioners Get Letter

State Asks Information On Change In School Site

LISBON — The Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction at Columbus has asked Columbiana County commissioners for additional information on the change of site for the Robert Bycroft School for Retarded Children.

Commissioners voted Dec. 12 to build the school on the County Home farm three miles west of Lisbon rather than at the former Rogers farm on Route 7 just north of Rogers — a site approved Sept. 26.

John P. Morrison, coordinator of construction programs for the department, sent the letter to R. Max Gard of Lisbon, 1966 president of the commissioners.

Morrison said the commissioners will need to provide a "statement detailing the reasons for the site change, particularly in regard to the accessibility of the school to the persons to be served. This also must indicate future highway development and the areas of the county where it is estimated that the greatest future growth will take place."

The letter also enclosed for signature and return to the state office copies of applications covering financial and site information.

Morris said the material, when received and reviewed at Columbus, will be forwarded to the Chicago regional office for approval and permission to proceed with the working drawings.

The letter was turned over Thursday to Commissioner James W. Boyd of East Liverpool, who was elected president at a reorganization meeting Tuesday.

Boyd opposed the Rogers farm site from the beginning. It was approved by Gard and Robert Owen of East Liverpool, former county commissioner. Charles J. Gause of Hanoverton R. D. 1, new county commissioner, joined with Boyd to rescind action on the Rogers site.

The U. S. Public Health Service last October approved a $103,999 grant to help construct the school at the Rogers site.

A year earlier, county voters approved a one - mill levy for the school and workshop. Commissioners last month appropriated the $241,365 this tax brought in.

Gard said he is afraid delay caused by the change and resulting red tape puts the county in danger of losing the federal grant. He said the money must be used this fiscal year ending June 30 or reapplication will have to be made.

Change Made In Pughtown Area Project

A change in the plans for rural road improvements in the Pughtown area of mid-Hancock County was announced today by Burl A. Sawyers, state road commissioner, in a letter to State Sen. William Tompos of Weirton.

The change was made after Tompos had conveyed to Sawyers the petition signed by members of the Frankfort Road Improvement Club.

The State Road Commission had started to improve secondary road No. 26, extending from Pughtown to Hardins Run Rd., as a phase of the road improvement project extending from West Virginia Route 66 to the Hardins Run Rd.

The Frankfort club protested the improvement and requested instead that secondary road No. 24 be improved from Pughtown to the Pennsylvania line.

In his letter to Tompos, Sawyers said: "We have found that by improving secondary road No. 24 more families would be served and there would be a higher traffic volume. Also, this road would provide service to Herron's Airport.

"Based upon this investigation, we feel that more persons as well as Hancock County will benefit by the improvement of secondary road No. 24. Therefore, we are proceeding with plans to improve Secondary 24 instead of Secondary 26."

Driver Misses Death When Stone Hits Auto

A Sewickley (Pa.) driver had a narrow brush with death on Route 14 near Columbiana Friday when a 4-inch stone, tossed from between the wheels of a tractor - trailer truck, smashed through his windshield and out the rear window.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said Thurman Ritter, 43, was headed west on Route 14 about a half-mile west of the intersection with Route 7 when the eastbound rig passed, the 4-inch stone flying from one of the dual wheels and hitting the windshield.

Ritter was treated by a physician for lacerations of the face received from broken glass.

Even In The Foxholes

Servicemen Charge Bond Coercion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The files of the Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittees are bulging with complaints from servicemen and federal employes that they are coerced into buying savings bonds and making charitable contributions.

Letters from servicemen tell of being denied promotion and even of being threatened with shipment to Vietnam if they fail to buy bonds.

The subcommittee also has received reports of Marine sergeants being sent into the foxholes in Vietnam to sign up fighting men for bond purchases.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., subcommittee chairman, has introduced a bill that would, among other things, protect government employes against any form of compulsion to buy bonds or contribute to charity.

In a recent letter to Thomas D. Morris, assistant secretary of defense for manpower, Ervin wrote: "It is becoming glaringly apparent that legislation is needed to protect servicemen as much — or more so — as it is to protect civilian personnel."

Morris said the Defense Department not only does not authorize coercion of civilian and military personnel to buy savings bonds or contribute to charitable campaigns but has not and will not condone such coercion.

Ervin replied "the numerous complaints from civilian and military personnel throughout the world" indicate that the mere continuance of the Pentagon's support of established grievance procedures is insufficient.

The senator declined to submit to the Pentagon for investigation the names of persons who had complained to the subcommittee. "The risk of reprisals is not worth such an exercise in futility," Ervin wrote.

The senator's letter said that "a Marine general has been quoted as saying that his men in charge of the bond drive in Vietnam were not deterred from achieving the unit goal."

"They went to forward positions and interviewed Marines in fighting holes and kept track of the patrols so that every individual had an opportunity to hear how he could invest his money in a worthwhile savings program," he quoted the general as saying.

Ervin added: "I find this story grotesque."

The Treasury Department said 1,427,602 servicemen were enrolled in payroll savings plans — where bonds are automatically purchased and the price is deducted from pay — as of last Sept. 30.

It said the percentage of those enrolled, compared with total strength, varied widely among the services.

As of Sept. 30, the Army had 84 per cent enrollment with 765,133 active participants followed by the Air Force with 45.3 per cent or 392,542 participants.

The Navy and Marine Corps combined had 27.2 per cent participation, the department said, with 201,637 Navy personnel and 68,290 Marines taking part.

Of federal civilian employees, 73.8 per cent or 1,687,129 persons were enrolled in the payroll savings program as of Sept. 30, the department added.

During the first nine months of 1966, the department said, $648.1 million in bonds were bought by federal employes both civilian and military under payroll savings. Civilians bought $445.2 million and the military $202.9 million.

Blaze Strikes Lisbon Home

LISBON — A blaze starting from a candle and spreading from one object to another burned a bedroom at 12:50 a.m. today in the Leroy Tullis Home at 320 W. Pine St.

Volunteer firemen said the fire was confined to the bedroom, but there would be some smoke and water damage to the two-story frame dwelling.

Terry Tullis, 18, said he was alone in the house and, because there was no electricity, took a candle when he went upstairs to bed.

He said the candle apparently toppled over and ignited his dresser scarf while he was straightening covers on the bed. He said he noticed the room getting bright and turned to see the dresser top on fire.

He grabbed a pillow to smother the flames, but it caught fire. When he beat the pillow against the wall, the plastic drapes flared and disintegrated in flaming shreds onto the bed.

By the time he called the fire department the room was burning and he couldn't get back in, so he ran outside to wait for firemen.

The fire was the third dwelling blaze Lisbon firemen have faced since Dec. 28.

Firemen said the community was within "a spark" of a catastrophe about 1:30 a.m. Thursday when gasoline ran in the Jerome St. gutter from Market St. to the fairgrounds.

The sheriff's radio log records that Police Sgt. Kenneth McKenzie radioed a request for firemen — that a truck was unloading gasoline at the Mattix Service Station and the storage tank ran over.

The jail dispatcher notified Fire Chief Thirl Flugan and he and other firemen flushed the street. Firemen said one spark or a flicked cigarette could have caused a conflagration in the residential areas of Market and Jerome Sts.

'Costs Could Be Met,' Canal Supporter Says

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—A supporter of the $8 billion Lake Erie-Ohio River Canal says the total "non-federal" cost of the project will be $95 million.

Kenneth M. Lloyd, executive secretary of the Interconnecting Waterway, inc, gave that estimate Friday night in a talk before 150 city and county officials and businessmen.

Lloyd said the costs can be met in various ways and are not considered insurmountable. He said 15 Ohio subdivisions involved must pass resolutions supporting the project—including statements of intention to comply with conditions of local cooperation and financing.

A request will be made for $2.5 million for planning and $10 million for Grand River reservoir land purchases in fiscal 1968, which starts July 1, Lloyd told the group.

He said there can be deducted from the $95 million figure the amount of $31.9 million for development of recreation potential of the Grand River reservoir. If the state adopts the project, the federal government would put up all the money and ask that the state replay half over a 50-year period, Lloyd said.

He said it is assumed that 25 per cent of the total length and cost of the waterway is in Pennsylvania and 75 per cent is in Ohio.

The two states should create an authority to buy right-of-way and disposal areas, Lloyd suggested. Sale of the improved lands for industrial sites after the canal is built would more than repay the initial cost, he said.

The proposed canal would start between Fairport Harbor and Ashtabula on Lake Erie and would meet the Ohio River at Rochester, Pa.

The federal cost was estimated at $911 million.

Irey Named To State Post

LISBON — Dawson Irey of Lisbon R. D. 4, chairman of the Columbiana Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Supervisors, was elected a state director Friday for a two-year term.

The election was held at New Philadelphia by representatives from districts in Area 3 made up of 15 counties.

Irey will be one of 12 directors on the board of the Ohio Federation of Soil and Water Conservation Districts and will represent Area 3 at the annual meeting Jan. 17-19 at Columbus.

Wood Thompson of Harrison County was elected a state director for one year. Also elected were Walter Sutton of Jefferson County, Area 3 chairman, and Lloyd Smith of Carroll County, area secretary.

Irey said the federation's purpose is to promote soil and water conservation and proper resource management, and insure a continuing productive agriculture essential to the national welfare.

Area 3 has two geographical units — Columbiana, Stark, Carroll, Jefferson, Harrison, Tuscarawas and Guernsey counties in the east, and Richland, Ashland, Wayne, Holmes, Knox, Coshocton, Licking and Muskingum in the west.

Federal Agency Sanctions City's 'Workable Plan'

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th District Congressman, today announced approval by the Department of Housing and Urban Development of a workable program for East Liverpool.

Rep. Hays said the certification means the city now is eligible for grants and loans under the urban renewal and low-rent housing program.

The approval also means the city will be eligible to apply in the future for federal funds to help make realities of many of the programs and projects envisioned in the local "master plan" — such items as modernization of the central business area, improved traffic flow, street and sewer work and additional off-street parking.

The Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority already has received HUD approval of a request for initial planning funds for a 260-unit low rent housing development.

Mayor George E. Willshaw forwarded the "workable program" to HUD's regional office in Chicago about two months ago. A few weeks later, he was advised the bulky plan appeared to be in order and would be forwarded to the office at Washington for final approval. Today's action followed.

Difference Same

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — For the 300 residents of Turkey Neck Bend, Ky., the distance to the county seat, Tompkinsville, will continue to be 8 miles by day and 50 miles by night. The Highway Department has rejected a request to build a bridge over the Cumberland River to replace a ferry boat, which runs only from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Wellsville Minister Speaks At Meeting Of Lisbon BPW

LISBON — The Rev. I. Melville Wohrley of the Wellsville Methodist Church was guest speaker during the Lisbon Business and Professional Women's Club dinner meeting Wednesday night at St. George Parish Hall.

An arrangement of chrysanthemums centered the speakers' table. The world affairs committee, Mrs. Beatrice Rupp, chairman, Mrs. Alfred Cook, Miss Grace Woodward and Miss Barbara Wetzel, was in charge.

Mrs. Richard Andrus, president, presided during the business meeting when plans were discussed for the civil defense program to begin in March. Fifteen members already have signed for the course to be taught by Mrs. John Rumberger.

Chairman of the group will be Mrs. Elbert Burson.

A $100 donation was approved to the community scholarship loan fund and it was decided to assist the combined clubs' survey concerning toll-free telephone calls to Salem, Leetonia and Columbiana at an additional 25-cents-a-month cost to each subscriber.

Prizes for the evening were awarded Mrs. Arnold Green and Mrs. Paul Nicholson.

"Bosses Night" will feature the next meeting Feb. 1 at 6:30 p.m. at the American Legion home. Mrs. Burson, past president will serve as chairman of the committee, which includes Mrs. John Vokovich, Mrs. Thyrl McMillan, Mrs. Wayne Calhoun, Mrs. Alfred Cook, Mrs. Annetta Courtney, Mrs. Byron Griffith, Mrs. Lucile Porter and Mrs. Richard Lambert. Reservations are to be made by Jan. 20 with Mrs. Calhoun.

D. of A. Holds Installation

Miss Catherine McKee, was installed as councilor of Pride of Center Council 190, Daughters of America, Thursday night, succeeding Miss Virginia Rabalio.

Mrs. Mildred Hiscox, council deputy and member of the state home and orphans committee, was installing officer for Miss McKee and Mrs. Elsie Pete, associate councilor; Mrs. Mildred Westover, vice councilor; Miss Laura McKee, associate vice councilor; Mrs. Ruth McKee, conductor; Mrs. Iva Mentzer, warden; Mrs. Kathy Bush, inside sentinel; Mrs. Thelma Dickens, outside sentinel; Mrs. Olive Scott, trustee; Miss Rabalio, junior past councilor; Mrs. Mary Hoy, associate past councilor; Mrs. Myrtle Toot, and Mrs. Elizabeth Polite, color - bearers.

A committee comprised of Mrs. Laura Wright, Mrs. Nanee Meehan and Mrs. Kathryn Gunn was appointed for planning the council's 50th anniversary party.

A gift was presented to Mrs. Hiscox by Miss Rabalio on behalf of the council.

The next meeting will be Jan. 12, with Mrs. Virginia Williams, Mrs. Gunn, Miss Rabalio and Mrs. Ollie Carnes hostesses.

Libby, Mrs. Russell Harsh, Mrs. Leland Adams, Mrs. Walter Lipp, Mrs. Walter Cope and Mrs. Gilbert Marshall, attended the all-day meeting.

Mrs. Ruth Fitzsimmons of Wellsville was elected president of the district association, succeeding Mrs. Corola McCullough of Summitville, who presided. Also named were Mrs. Eva Steinbuck of Massillon, vice president; Mrs. Virginia Burkey of Columbiana, secretary, and Bruce Pelley of Hanoverton, re-elected treasurer for the 18th year.

Mrs. Evelyn Moesle of Massillon, past worthy matron of Hadassah chapter in 1957, was appointed grand representative of California in Ohio at the afternoon session.

Trailer Brings Legal Question At Unity Session

EAST PALESTINE — Whether or not a house trailer is improperly located on what may be public property in Unity may be decided by court action.

Complaints about the trailer owned by Howard Gierling of Bessemer, Pa., were aired at a meeting of the Unity Township trustees Friday night.

Gierling recently purchased the former Lawrence Hart property and placed the trailer on it to use as living quarters while he remodels another structure across the street.

The area is at the junction of Routes 170 and 14, and some of the tract has been used in the past for the sale of fruit and other items.

County Prosecutor Warren Bettis last night advised the trustees to file a complaint of trespassing in Eastern County Court in a move to clarify the issue.

James Bell, chairman of the trustees, said the complaint is to be filed in the trustee's names, adding, "I don't know what is going to happen."

Hearing Delayed In Hancock Case

NEW CUMBERLAND — A hearing for Steve Gomori, 47, of Youngstown and Malcolm Payne of Cleveland, arrested Dec. 22 by West Virginia State Police for the illegal transport of a truckload of cigarettes, was recessed Friday for a week by Squire John D. Herron.

They will be tried by Herron next Friday at 2 p.m. for failure to have a state tax stamp.

The pair also faces a hearing next week before U. S. Commissiner John Vujnovic of Weirton on federal charges of interstate transportation of the $50,000 worth of cigarettes, stolen from a Sharon, Pa., warehouse.

Each has posted $10,000 federal and $2,500 state bond.

More Single Women

PRAGUE (AP) — Every fifth woman in Prague is unmarried while every 16th man lives alone, the news agency C.T.K. reported. C.T.K. said some 2,600 persons were listed in the Prague "get-together" bureau looking for a partner for life. The ages of the listed persons range from 18 to 75 years.

Burglars Get Money, Tools

City police today were investigating the burglary of a service station at Broadway and 3rd St. sometime during the night in which $150 in cash and some tools were taken.

The money was removed from the safe of the Humble Oil Co. station operated by Woodrow Lovett of 3rd Ave., LaCroft.

Officers said the safe was not damaged, and whoever entered the station apparently used the combination.

Entry was made by knocking out two metal sections of an overhead door, then forcing a floor door to enter the station. An estimated $300 in tools was also removed, officers said.

Loss Of Ring Likened To Shipwreck, Fire

CHICAGO (AP) — A hapless husband poured his wife's diamond ring down the sink when it fell into the grinding clutches of a garbage disposal unit.

He claimed the $1,010 loss on his income tax return, and the Tax Court held he suffered — among other things — a casualty loss.

The ruling likened it to a shipwreck, landslide, accidental car damage, fire or storm.

After the trip through the disposal, the ring was valued at $30, Commerce Clearing House reported.

$50,000 Paid As Ransom In Kidnap Case

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The FBI and police pressed a search today for the person or persons who collected a $50,000 ransom for the wife of a bank president.

Betty Lue Hill, 42, was held captive in her home while a man in his early 20s gave telephone instructions to her husband, Leo, about how the money was to be transferred.

Mrs. Hill told police the man knocked at her door Friday morning, then forced his way into her home at gunpoint. He made her lie down on the hall floor and taped her wrists and legs.

She said the man went to the phone and called the First National Bank of Boulder, of which her husband is president.

The gunman told Hill to get the money and take it to a self-service laundry in Boulder. Mrs. Hill said he was holding a gun at her head while he talked to her husband.

Paul Dawson, board chairman of the bank, said Hill got $40,000 in $20 bills and $10,000 in $50 bills and put it in a briefcase.

When Hill got to his car, police said, a note under the front seat told him to disregard his previous instructions and to take the money to a designated room at the Norlin Library at the University of Colorado campus.

The instructions told Hill to put the money on a shelf in the room, then go to a lavatory and wait 10 minutes before coming out. Hill followed the orders — and when he returned the money was gone.

After the first instructions were telephoned to Hill, the man quickly left the home. The man told Mrs. Hill to remain where she was for five minutes.

About seven minutes later, Mrs. Hill said she attracted a neighbor's attenton by working her way to a window and cracking it with her head.

The Arctic tern is the champion migrator among birds. In fall it deserts nesting sites in the Far North to sweep down the Atlantic and Pacific for a second summer in Antarctic regions. The round - trip flight may cover more than 22,000 miles.

Falls Injure 2 Area Girls

Two area girls hurt in falls were admitted Friday to City Hospital, where five other residents were treated.

Brenda Hayhurst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hayhurst of 916 Dresden Ave., was in "good" condition today with an injury to the left ankle received in a fall.

Lori Turner, daughter of Mrs. Jacob Turner of Chester, was in "satisfactory" condition with contusion of the scalp and a possible concussion received in a fall at a roller skating rink.

Mrs. Richard Forbes of 402 Jefferson St., Salineville, received a laceration of the right hand on glass at home.

Grace Sterns of 433 Washington St., Newell, sustained a laceration of the scalp when the door of her garage struck her.

Canyon Monument

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (AP) — Grand Canyon National Monument, a 198,280 acre preserve just west of the Grand Canyon National Park, marked its 24th anniversary Dec. 22, 1966. Nearly 40 miles of the twisting Colorado River gorge runs through the monument which was created by presidential decree. Fewer than 2,000 persons a year visit the area, compared with more than 1.8 million at the national park.

Palestine Boy Jailed, Fined For Vandalism

EAST PALESTINE — Cecil Hotchkiss, 18, of 93½ N. Market St., cited in connection with vandalism of an automatic laundry business earlier this week, was fined and jailed by Mayor Robert Harding Friday night.

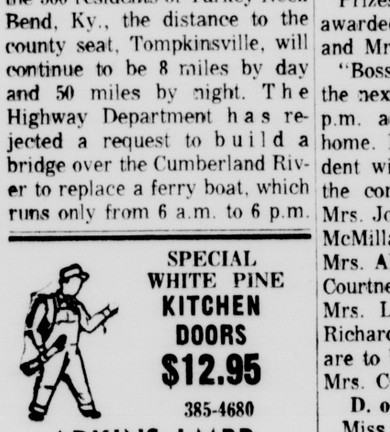

Hotchkiss pleaded guilty to vandalism and was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail. He is also scheduled for a Juvenile Court hearing Jan. 17.

He and a younger boy were charged in the incident.

Reno, Nev., was named for Jesse Reno, a hero of the Civil War.

Servicemen Charge Bond Coercion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The files of the Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittees are bulging with complaints from servicemen and federal employes that they are coerced into buying savings bonds and making charitable contributions.

Letters from servicemen tell of being denied promotion and even of being threatened with shipment to Vietnam if they fail to buy bonds.

The subcommittee also has received reports of Marine sergeants being sent into the foxholes in Vietnam to sign up fighting men for bond purchases.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., subcommittee chairman, has introduced a bill that would, among other things, protect government employes against any form of compulsion to buy bonds or contribute to charity.

In a recent letter to Thomas D. Morris, assistant secretary of defense for manpower, Ervin wrote: "It is becoming glaringly apparent that legislation is needed to protect servicemen as much — or more so — as it is to protect civilian personnel."

Morris said the Defense Department not only does not authorize coercion of civilian and military personnel to buy savings bonds or contribute to charitable campaigns but has not and will not condone such coercion.

Ervin replied "the numerous complaints from civilian and military personnel throughout the world" indicate that the mere continuance of the Pentagon's support of established grievance procedures is insufficient.

The senator declined to submit to the Pentagon for investigation the names of persons who had complained to the subcommittee. "The risk of reprisals is not worth such an exercise in futility," Ervin wrote.

The senator's letter said that "a Marine general has been quoted as saying that his men in charge of the bond drive in Vietnam were not deterred from achieving the unit goal."

"They went to forward positions and interviewed Marines in fighting holes and kept track of the patrols so that every individual had an opportunity to hear how he could invest his money in a worthwhile savings program," he quoted the general as saying.

Ervin added: "I find this story grotesque."

The Treasury Department said 1,427,602 servicemen were enrolled in payroll savings plans — where bonds are automatically purchased and the price is deducted from pay — as of last Sept. 30.

It said the percentage of those enrolled, compared with total strength, varied widely among the services.

As of Sept. 30, the Army had 84 per cent enrollment with 765,133 active participants followed by the Air Force with 45.3 per cent or 392,542 participants.

The Navy and Marine Corps combined had 27.2 per cent participation, the department said, with 201,637 Navy personnel and 68,290 Marines taking part.

Of federal civilian employees, 73.8 per cent or 1,687,129 persons were enrolled in the payroll savings program as of Sept. 30, the department added.

During the first nine months of 1966, the department said, $648.1 million in bonds were bought by federal employes both civilian and military under payroll savings. Civilians bought $445.2 million and the military $202.9 million.

Blaze Strikes Lisbon Home

LISBON — A blaze starting from a candle and spreading from one object to another burned a bedroom at 12:50 a.m. today in the Leroy Tullis Home at 320 W. Pine St.

Volunteer firemen said the fire was confined to the bedroom, but there would be some smoke and water damage to the two-story frame dwelling.

Terry Tullis, 18, said he was alone in the house and, because there was no electricity, took a candle when he went upstairs to bed.

He said the candle apparently toppled over and ignited his dresser scarf while he was straightening covers on the bed. He said he noticed the room getting bright and turned to see the dresser top on fire.

He grabbed a pillow to smother the flames, but it caught fire. When he beat the pillow against the wall, the plastic drapes flared and disintegrated in flaming shreds onto the bed.

By the time he called the fire department the room was burning and he couldn't get back in, so he ran outside to wait for firemen.

The fire was the third dwelling blaze Lisbon firemen have faced since Dec. 28.

Firemen said the community was within "a spark" of a catastrophe about 1:30 a.m. Thursday when gasoline ran in the Jerome St. gutter from Market St. to the fairgrounds.

The sheriff's radio log records that Police Sgt. Kenneth McKenzie radioed a request for firemen — that a truck was unloading gasoline at the Mattix Service Station and the storage tank ran over.

The jail dispatcher notified Fire Chief Thirl Flugan and he and other firemen flushed the street. Firemen said one spark or a flicked cigarette could have caused a conflagration in the residential areas of Market and Jerome Sts.

'Costs Could Be Met,' Canal Supporter Says

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—A supporter of the $8 billion Lake Erie-Ohio River Canal says the total "non-federal" cost of the project will be $95 million.

Kenneth M. Lloyd, executive secretary of the Interconnecting Waterway, inc, gave that estimate Friday night in a talk before 150 city and county officials and businessmen.

Lloyd said the costs can be met in various ways and are not considered insurmountable. He said 15 Ohio subdivisions involved must pass resolutions supporting the project—including statements of intention to comply with conditions of local cooperation and financing.

A request will be made for $2.5 million for planning and $10 million for Grand River reservoir land purchases in fiscal 1968, which starts July 1, Lloyd told the group.

He said there can be deducted from the $95 million figure the amount of $31.9 million for development of recreation potential of the Grand River reservoir. If the state adopts the project, the federal government would put up all the money and ask that the state replay half over a 50-year period, Lloyd said.

He said it is assumed that 25 per cent of the total length and cost of the waterway is in Pennsylvania and 75 per cent is in Ohio.

The two states should create an authority to buy right-of-way and disposal areas, Lloyd suggested. Sale of the improved lands for industrial sites after the canal is built would more than repay the initial cost, he said.

The proposed canal would start between Fairport Harbor and Ashtabula on Lake Erie and would meet the Ohio River at Rochester, Pa.

The federal cost was estimated at $911 million.

Irey Named To State Post

LISBON — Dawson Irey of Lisbon R. D. 4, chairman of the Columbiana Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Supervisors, was elected a state director Friday for a two-year term.

The election was held at New Philadelphia by representatives from districts in Area 3 made up of 15 counties.

Irey will be one of 12 directors on the board of the Ohio Federation of Soil and Water Conservation Districts and will represent Area 3 at the annual meeting Jan. 17-19 at Columbus.

Wood Thompson of Harrison County was elected a state director for one year. Also elected were Walter Sutton of Jefferson County, Area 3 chairman, and Lloyd Smith of Carroll County, area secretary.

Irey said the federation's purpose is to promote soil and water conservation and proper resource management, and insure a continuing productive agriculture essential to the national welfare.

Area 3 has two geographical units — Columbiana, Stark, Carroll, Jefferson, Harrison, Tuscarawas and Guernsey counties in the east, and Richland, Ashland, Wayne, Holmes, Knox, Coshocton, Licking and Muskingum in the west.

Federal Agency Sanctions City's 'Workable Plan'

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th District Congressman, today announced approval by the Department of Housing and Urban Development of a workable program for East Liverpool.

Rep. Hays said the certification means the city now is eligible for grants and loans under the urban renewal and low-rent housing program.

The approval also means the city will be eligible to apply in the future for federal funds to help make realities of many of the programs and projects envisioned in the local "master plan" — such items as modernization of the central business area, improved traffic flow, street and sewer work and additional off-street parking.

The Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority already has received HUD approval of a request for initial planning funds for a 260-unit low rent housing development.

Mayor George E. Willshaw forwarded the "workable program" to HUD's regional office in Chicago about two months ago. A few weeks later, he was advised the bulky plan appeared to be in order and would be forwarded to the office at Washington for final approval. Today's action followed.

Wellsville Minister Speaks At Meeting Of Lisbon BPW

LISBON — The Rev. I. Melville Wohrley of the Wellsville Methodist Church was guest speaker during the Lisbon Business and Professional Women's Club dinner meeting Wednesday night at St. George Parish Hall.

An arrangement of chrysanthemums centered the speakers' table. The world affairs committee, Mrs. Beatrice Rupp, chairman, Mrs. Alfred Cook, Miss Grace Woodward and Miss Barbara Wetzel, was in charge.

Mrs. Richard Andrus, president, presided during the business meeting when plans were discussed for the civil defense program to begin in March. Fifteen members already have signed for the course to be taught by Mrs. John Rumberger.

Chairman of the group will be Mrs. Elbert Burson.

A $100 donation was approved to the community scholarship loan fund and it was decided to assist the combined clubs' survey concerning toll-free telephone calls to Salem, Leetonia and Columbiana at an additional 25-cents-a-month cost to each subscriber.

Prizes for the evening were awarded Mrs. Arnold Green and Mrs. Paul Nicholson.

"Bosses Night" will feature the next meeting Feb. 1 at 6:30 p.m. at the American Legion home. Mrs. Burson, past president will serve as chairman of the committee, which includes Mrs. John Vokovich, Mrs. Thyrl McMillan, Mrs. Wayne Calhoun, Mrs. Alfred Cook, Mrs. Annetta Courtney, Mrs. Byron Griffith, Mrs. Lucile Porter and Mrs. Richard Lambert. Reservations are to be made by Jan. 20 with Mrs. Calhoun.

D. of A. Holds Installation

Miss Catherine McKee, was installed as councilor of Pride of Center Council 190, Daughters of America, Thursday night, succeeding Miss Virginia Rabalio.

Mrs. Mildred Hiscox, council deputy and member of the state home and orphans committee, was installing officer for Miss McKee and Mrs. Elsie Pete, associate councilor; Mrs. Mildred Westover, vice councilor; Miss Laura McKee, associate vice councilor; Mrs. Ruth McKee, conductor; Mrs. Iva Mentzer, warden; Mrs. Kathy Bush, inside sentinel; Mrs. Thelma Dickens, outside sentinel; Mrs. Olive Scott, trustee; Miss Rabalio, junior past councilor; Mrs. Mary Hoy, associate past councilor; Mrs. Myrtle Toot, and Mrs. Elizabeth Polite, color - bearers.

A committee comprised of Mrs. Laura Wright, Mrs. Nanee Meehan and Mrs. Kathryn Gunn was appointed for planning the council's 50th anniversary party.

A gift was presented to Mrs. Hiscox by Miss Rabalio on behalf of the council.

The next meeting will be Jan. 12, with Mrs. Virginia Williams, Mrs. Gunn, Miss Rabalio and Mrs. Ollie Carnes hostesses.

Attend OES Meeting

The District 13 Order of Eastern Star school of instruction was held Thursday at the Canton Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Alice Rider of Bucyrus, worthy grand matron of the OES grand chapter of Ohio, was in charge.

Mrs. Frank Davies, worthy matron of Iva Chapter, accompanied by Mrs. Ike Skeels, Miss Helene Prudner, Mrs. Ray Beers, Mrs. Paul Mollenkopf, Mrs. C. E. Mitchell, Mrs. William Spooner, Mrs. C. D. Libby, Mrs. Russell Harsh, Mrs. Leland Adams, Mrs. Walter Lipp, Mrs. Walter Cope and Mrs. Gilbert Marshall, attended the all-day meeting.

Mrs. Ruth Fitzsimmons of Wellsville was elected president of the district association, succeeding Mrs. Corola McCullough of Summitville, who presided. Also named were Mrs. Eva Steinbuck of Massillon, vice president; Mrs. Virginia Burkey of Columbiana, secretary, and Bruce Pelley of Hanoverton, re-elected treasurer for the 18th year.

Mrs. Evelyn Moesle of Massillon, past worthy matron of Hadassah chapter in 1957, was appointed grand representative of California in Ohio at the afternoon session.

Trailer Brings Legal Question At Unity Session

EAST PALESTINE — Whether or not a house trailer is improperly located on what may be public property in Unity may be decided by court action.

Complaints about the trailer owned by Howard Gierling of Bessemer, Pa., were aired at a meeting of the Unity Township trustees Friday night.

Gierling recently purchased the former Lawrence Hart property and placed the trailer on it to use as living quarters while he remodels another structure across the street.

The area is at the junction of Routes 170 and 14, and some of the tract has been used in the past for the sale of fruit and other items.

County Prosecutor Warren Bettis last night advised the trustees to file a complaint of trespassing in Eastern County Court in a move to clarify the issue.

James Bell, chairman of the trustees, said the complaint is to be filed in the trustee's names, adding, "I don't know what is going to happen."

Hearing Delayed In Hancock Case

NEW CUMBERLAND — A hearing for Steve Gomori, 47, of Youngstown and Malcolm Payne of Cleveland, arrested Dec. 22 by West Virginia State Police for the illegal transport of a truckload of cigarettes, was recessed Friday for a week by Squire John D. Herron.

They will be tried by Herron next Friday at 2 p.m. for failure to have a state tax stamp.

The pair also faces a hearing next week before U. S. Commissiner John Vujnovic of Weirton on federal charges of interstate transportation of the $50,000 worth of cigarettes, stolen from a Sharon, Pa., warehouse.

Each has posted $10,000 federal and $2,500 state bond.

More Single Women

PRAGUE (AP) — Every fifth woman in Prague is unmarried while every 16th man lives alone, the news agency C.T.K. reported. C.T.K. said some 2,600 persons were listed in the Prague "get-together" bureau looking for a partner for life. The ages of the listed persons range from 18 to 75 years.

Burglars Get Money, Tools

City police today were investigating the burglary of a service station at Broadway and 3rd St. sometime during the night in which $150 in cash and some tools were taken.

The money was removed from the safe of the Humble Oil Co. station operated by Woodrow Lovett of 3rd Ave., LaCroft.

Officers said the safe was not damaged, and whoever entered the station apparently used the combination.

Entry was made by knocking out two metal sections of an overhead door, then forcing a floor door to enter the station. An estimated $300 in tools was also removed, officers said.

Loss Of Ring Likened To Shipwreck, Fire

CHICAGO (AP) — A hapless husband poured his wife's diamond ring down the sink when it fell into the grinding clutches of a garbage disposal unit.

He claimed the $1,010 loss on his income tax return, and the Tax Court held he suffered — among other things — a casualty loss.

The ruling likened it to a shipwreck, landslide, accidental car damage, fire or storm.

After the trip through the disposal, the ring was valued at $30, Commerce Clearing House reported.

$50,000 Paid As Ransom In Kidnap Case

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The FBI and police pressed a search today for the person or persons who collected a $50,000 ransom for the wife of a bank president.

Betty Lue Hill, 42, was held captive in her home while a man in his early 20s gave telephone instructions to her husband, Leo, about how the money was to be transferred.

Mrs. Hill told police the man knocked at her door Friday morning, then forced his way into her home at gunpoint. He made her lie down on the hall floor and taped her wrists and legs.

She said the man went to the phone and called the First National Bank of Boulder, of which her husband is president.

The gunman told Hill to get the money and take it to a self-service laundry in Boulder. Mrs. Hill said he was holding a gun at her head while he talked to her husband.

Paul Dawson, board chairman of the bank, said Hill got $40,000 in $20 bills and $10,000 in $50 bills and put it in a briefcase.

When Hill got to his car, police said, a note under the front seat told him to disregard his previous instructions and to take the money to a designated room at the Norlin Library at the University of Colorado campus.

The instructions told Hill to put the money on a shelf in the room, then go to a lavatory and wait 10 minutes before coming out. Hill followed the orders — and when he returned the money was gone.

After the first instructions were telephoned to Hill, the man quickly left the home. The man told Mrs. Hill to remain where she was for five minutes.

About seven minutes later, Mrs. Hill said she attracted a neighbor's attenton by working her way to a window and cracking it with her head.

The Arctic tern is the champion migrator among birds. In fall it deserts nesting sites in the Far North to sweep down the Atlantic and Pacific for a second summer in Antarctic regions. The round - trip flight may cover more than 22,000 miles.

Falls Injure 2 Area Girls

Two area girls hurt in falls were admitted Friday to City Hospital, where five other residents were treated.

Brenda Hayhurst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hayhurst of 916 Dresden Ave., was in "good" condition today with an injury to the left ankle received in a fall.

Lori Turner, daughter of Mrs. Jacob Turner of Chester, was in "satisfactory" condition with contusion of the scalp and a possible concussion received in a fall at a roller skating rink.

Mrs. Richard Forbes of 402 Jefferson St., Salineville, received a laceration of the right hand on glass at home.

Grace Sterns of 433 Washington St., Newell, sustained a laceration of the scalp when the door of her garage struck her.

Canyon Monument

Palestine Boy Jailed, Fined For Vandalism

EAST PALESTINE — Cecil Hotchkiss, 18, of 93½ N. Market St., cited in connection with vandalism of an automatic laundry business earlier this week, was fined and jailed by Mayor Robert Harding Friday night.

Hotchkiss pleaded guilty to vandalism and was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail. He is also scheduled for a Juvenile Court hearing Jan. 17.

He and a younger boy were charged in the incident.

Reno, Nev., was named for Jesse Reno, a hero of the Civil War.

The Bugle-Call Drag

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has released figures showing an increase in convictions of persons accused of violating military draft laws.

The 450 convictions in 1966 was almost double the 1965 total.

This increase has caused some head-shaking and musing about what American young men "are coming to."

In June of 1953 during the Korean War, the FBI reported more than 19,000 men were draft delinquents in the current draft, 3,301 were fugitives and 554 had been convicted.

As World War II was drawing to a close in July of 1945, the FBI reported it had tracked down 494,774 draft dodgers resulting in 12,559 convictions.

The record dating from the Revolutionary War is clear; so long as we have war, we will have draft dodgers.

It is a fact we must accept.

The endless, smoldering debate about draft evasion is fanned into flame every time the screws are put to American young men to participate in a military action.

It is most significant, however, that regardless of the number of evaders there always has been a sufficient number of men who answered the call—whether they agreed with their country's action or not—to get the job done.

They'd Take It From There

That mischievous arrangement for diverting income tax revenue into political party coffers should be repealed immediately.

Whatever effect it could have on income tax payments this year should be nullified by suitable legislation.

This is a prime example of a good intention gone wrong.

The intention was to take control of political parties away from proverbial fat cats who put up big money.

The theory was that if taxpayers steered a dollar apiece into party treasuries they would assert themselves as the prime contributors.

It takes only an ordinary amount of skepticism to see what would happen. If taxpayers in the mass could be conned into diverting income tax money to political parties, realists who know the ways of the world would still solicit fat cats for the extra funds that would make the difference in a tight contest. And the cats still would expect something for their money.

Political costs would zoom. Campaign managers would be money-happy. They never would have had it so good. They could afford to buy prime television time for a whole year before Election Day. They could hire platoons of pretty girls and build up campaign personalities for photogenic nonentities. They could afford the most expensive ad agencies.

With as much as $30 million for each party to play with, the realists and fat cats would take it from there and stage an election bash to make everything which has gone before look like the vote for football queen in a cow college.

Now Cometh The Junkman

A fellow we know has collared people for years to tell them about his scheme for perpetual prosperity.

Prosperity depends on complete consumption of all-out production, he explains. He reasons that the surest way to do this is to tie production to products whose consumption is assured.

He thinks fireworks would be ideal.

Keep everybody busy making fireworks, he says, then shoot off all the fireworks after quitting time at the end of the work week.

This would enable producers to start each week with empty warehouses. There never would be any carryover to depress prices. Production and consumption would be in perpetual balance.

His idea came to mind while reading that the Defense Department overdid itself in closing the "missile gap."

On the standard bureaucratic assumption that nothing is too much for the great good government, the Defense Department produced missiles until it didn't know what to do with them.

One of its ideas was to hide them in the ground. It now has more than 200 obsolete Atlas and Titan I missiles that were to have been disposed of in underground "silos."

It also has a lot of obsolete silos.

In the near future, the department also will have hundreds of obselete Minuteman I missiles and hundreds of Polaris missiles, not to mention the porbability that dozens of Titan II missiles will be phased out of the missile-age arsenal.

Going back to that fellow's scheme for perpetual prosperity we have to admit that the billions spent on missiles that never were used is not guite the same as shooting of the entire output of firecrackers periodically.

But there is a similarity. The effect is the same as if all the firecrackers were declared obsolete, disassembled and sold to the junkman.

That could extend the benefits of profligacy to the junkman, too, and might even be an improvement on the original plan.

Always Worth It

The death of Mary Garden in Aberdeen, Scotland, at the age of 92 will cause a well-worn question to be asked again and again by people who never understood the powerful impact of opera stars in their "golden era."

Did they deserve the adulation they received in the late 19th century and the early 20th century?

Were they as glamorous as nostalgic writings of that period make them out to be?

Did the movie queens who came later deserve what happened to them? Do recording stars who sell a million recordings of what would have been caterwauling in Mary Garden's day deserve adulation and riches?

Is a baseball player who draws people through the turnstiles worth $125,000 a season?

Is a TV personality worth a seven-digit contract for reciting lines written by someone else, or moving his lips to simulate the sound of his singing voice on an electronically doctored recording?

Mary Garden was worth it. Whatever good things came her way, she was worth it, because she made life more enjoyable for her contemporaries. Whatever that costs, it's always worth it.

A Year Of Decision

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Johnson is heading into his toughest year so far, although 1967 doesn't promise to be a very exciting year by itself.

Yet, what happens in 1967 — and what he makes happen — may determine whether he will seek re-election in 1968.

But events by themselves, unless Johnson makes some wretched mistakes in handling them, may not be the dominant factor in his decision to run again or in the Democrats' decision to make him their candidate again.

A very important factor, and perhaps the most important one in the end — although hardly anything is being said about it now — is the kind of candidate the Republicans select for their nominee in 1968.

It was extremely important when President Harry S. Truman ran against New York's Thomas E. Dewey and beat him in 1948.

LIKE JOHNSON after the death of President John F. Kennedy, when Truman took over after the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1945, he rocked along on a great tide of sympathy and goodwill for a while.

Gradually, his troubles piled up. The cold war began and at home, as a result of the war, there were shortages in food and housing. As his troubles multiplied, his popularity went down. Price controls became a national irritant. As they gradually fell apart, inflation roared through the roof.

And this was the result: In the off-year elections of 1946 the Republicans for the first time since 1928 gained control of both House and Senate. His troubles with the Republican-run Congress became so intense that they evoked new sympathy for Truman, although not much, it seemed.

So, when the Democrats nominated him for a full term in 1948, they did so without much enthusiasm. Against Dewey he looked like a sure loser right up until half-way through election night.

Then came his truly tremendous and troublesome years: The creation of NATO, the Korean War, the assaults by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. But if his standing with the electorate seemed low, it was anything but that with historians.

In 1962, 10 years after he left the White House, a poll of 75 historians placed him among the near great among the presidents, with the reservation that future historians might well list him with the great ones.

THE POPULARITY of Johnson's new presidency sailed through 1964, climaxed by an overwhelming victory over his Republican challenger, Sen. Barry Goldwater, who unwittingly aided and abetted Johnson's victory by being way out of step with his times, as the voters showed.

Then, in 1965, with the help of his Democratic-run Congress, Johnson reached new heights: He got through the greatest batch of major legislation in one year in American history.

Nevertheless, it was in 1965 that Johnson began to undermine his own popularity by the firm, strong stand he took in putting the United States up to its neck in the war in Vietnam.

But it wasn't until 1966 that the edge of his popularity wore off and the public opinion polls continually showed his prestige with the people going down.

It was in the off-year elections of 1966 — just as in the case of Truman in 1948 — that the popularity of Johnson's leadership landed in the basement. The Republicans, while not regaining control of Congress, won enough seats to cut down Democratic control.

Even within his own party, particularly among governors, Johnson's leadership was attacked. And Congress in 1967 may spend more time examining some of the Johnson programs already on the books than in approving new ones.

Therefore, this does not look like a very creative year in Congress. But it is in this year, with the Vietnamese war continuing, that Johnson must start rebuilding his political future if he hopes for the presidency again.

Social Security Trust Fund

By Raymond Moley

It has always seemed to me the Social Security trust fund is not, in the sense in which the term is understood in private life, a trust fund at all.

I offer herewith a reform which would win few votes in Congress and which most economists and other students of the subject will denounce as impractical.

My suggestion is based upon a conviction that government ought to respect the moral standards it imposes upon its citizens. When it uses an expression hallowed by long observance to designate something it has created, it should in fact make sure what it has created conforms in truth to what it promises.

If a man sets up a trust fund in his will to care for a child or his widow and I am the custodian of that fund, the law and moral principle require me to make sure that the securities in trust are sound and marketable representations of real wealth.

If I need or want money for my own purposes and I use the income for those purposes and put my own promissory notes or IOU's into the trust fund, I will be required by law either to redeem those IOUs or go to jail.

MISUSE of a trust is exactly what the government does with the Social Security trust fund.

It collects Social Security taxes from employers and employes and uses the money thus collected for its general expenses, such as the maintenance of the Army and Navy, the war on poverty or the salaries of congressmen.

Beyond amounts maintained for current payments to beneficiaries to put its IOU's into the trust fund. Its IOUs are, in fact, its own bonds and other securities.

This, I maintain, is not an honest transaction.

It is true that whenever benefits paid out are greater than income from Social Security taxes collected, the government will redeem some of the bonds in the fund out of general revenue. And so long as there are benefits — pensions and so on — to be paid, the government will pay them.

But its procedure really exacts twice by taxation for the same purpose.

The present trust fund is not what President Roosevelt had in mind when he proposed a Social Security system in 1934. When he outlined his plan to some of his advisers — and I was present at that time — someone asked him what he proposed to put into the trust fund or reserve.

He said "state and municipal bonds." That would have made it a real trust fund.

When Congress enacted the law in 1935, however, it did not do what Mr. Roosevelt proposed. It decreed that the money collected from employers and employes over and above what was paid out in benefits would be spent for the general expenses of the government and that federal securities would be put into the trust fund.

That is how the system has been operated in the years since.

IN 1967, there will come before Congress various proposals for sharing the proceeds of the federal personal income taxes with the states and local governments.

That is what Republican governors have suggested and what Republican leaders in Congress will propose in the new session.

My proposal is that instead of sharing the federal income tax with the states and local governments, the federal government buy the bonds of the states and of local governments and put those securities into the Social Security trust fund.

To make room for them, some of the federal securities or IOUs in that fund would be sold to the banks or private investors.

I do not propose that the whole Social Security trust fund be changed overnight. The process should be gradual.

This new market for state and municipal bonds would provide money sorely needed by the states and local governments for capital improvements — streets, housing, anti-pollution installations.

This would greatly help the states and cities and be no more of a strain on the federal government than tax sharing.

I HAVE already heard arguments against this idea from people I have consulted.

I have no hope that it will be adopted.

Nevertheless, it would create an honest trust fund and help the states and local communities.

It would not cost the federal government as much as would sharing the federal personal income tax.

Objections are in order. I invite them.

Maybe I can be assured that I am wrong.

Out Of The Past

The past has never had a brighter future.

Modern methods are helping archeologists to discover long-buried secrets of ancient peoples at an increasing rate. In the past 10 or 15 years, scientists estimate, more has been learned about ancient peoples than in the previous centuries of civilization.

Archeologists program computers to store vast amounts of observations concerning the artifacts as they collect, the National Geographic Society says.

The University of Missouri is building a library of computer tapes that will hold thousands upon thousands of archeological observations. Within a few years, Dr. Dee F. Green of the university predicts, archeologists in many parts of the country will draw data from a network of computers.

Other archeologists are using submarines. Supported by a National Geographic grant, George F. Bass of the University of Pennsylvania has been excavating a seventh - century Byzantine ship sunk off the coast of Turkey. Underwater archeologists stake out the bottom of the Mediterranean much as their colleagues stake out dry land to record precisely the position of artifacts.

The Problem

By David Lawrence

Governors Need More Money

President Johnson has far more than a "public relations" problem on his hands in improving his contracts with state governors.

Many of them — particularly Democrats — recently indicated considerable dissatisfaction over the treatment they have been getting from the administration. The blame for the discord, however, cannot be placed entirely on the President.

Underneath the dissension is a self-centered interest which motivates some of the governors. They feel their own chances for re-election will be boosted if they can get more federal money.

A new era has been begun in the relations of the federal government and the states.

Governors are face to face with growing problems due to increased population and the corresponding demands for urban development, as well as better educational and medical facilities.

It seems as if all of a sudden the fact states and cities have not been able to keep abreast of the people's needs has become not merely a sociological factor of greater importance than ever but a political factor of consequence.

Since the recent state and congressional elections showed Republican gains, some Democratic governors have criticized their own party leader in the White House. This didn't, however, reveal all the troubles which have arisen and which will continue to plague the governors.

They do not like, for instance, to raise their own state or local taxes, yet they must have more funds. Plans are being suggested whereby the federal government would refund tax money to the states. Even doing this would not take care of all the grievances.

In reality, the root of the difficulty is not more money but administrative efficiency. The current challenge is unprecedented in scope and intensity.

ONE WONDERS why senators and representatives from the various states have not been more vocal about the deficiencies in federal and state relationships.

This attitude, on the other hand, points up the dilemma of what is often called "pork barrel" politics.

Some presidents have been more generous in the favors granted states whose representatives in Congress have "played ball" with the administration. The power to withhold public funds from states or cities, particularly in the field of education, is used by the executive branch of the government in ways that are neither unifrom nor equitable.

This has given rise to many complaints. There is need for a complete overhauling of federal and state relationships, especially a disclosure of the rules and the unpublished "guidelines" that are applied by Washington's bureaucracy.

Sooner or later, the political manipulation of public funds will have to be exposed to view and an impartial system substituted. But here, too, congress is at fault. For it writes laws giving wide discretionary powers instead of spelling out the exact purposes for which money should be expended.

OUTBURSTS by some of the governors reflect a mood of discontent in the country. Taxpayers, themselves, are becoming alarmed over the mess created with the large sums being appropriated for what are called "Great Society" programs.

There are other reasons for dissatisfaction—such as arbitrary action in handling racial problems related to housing.

Politicians have concluded that the administration lost ground in the last election because of the negative mood of the voters and that the time has come for some remedial or corrective measures to be adopted which take account of the trends of public opinion.

The President—as Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Democratic leader, has recently urged—will have to recommend revisions and improvements in existing laws so that allocations of public funds will really "promote the general welfare."

But this means not only amending legislation to make grants for specific purposes but putting in charge of the executive agencies persons who are efficient administrators.

The Bugle-Call Drag

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has released figures showing an increase in convictions of persons accused of violating military draft laws.

The 450 convictions in 1966 was almost double the 1965 total.

This increase has caused some head-shaking and musing about what American young men "are coming to."

In June of 1953 during the Korean War, the FBI reported more than 19,000 men were draft delinquents in the current draft, 3,301 were fugitives and 554 had been convicted.

As World War II was drawing to a close in July of 1945, the FBI reported it had tracked down 494,774 draft dodgers resulting in 12,559 convictions.

The record dating from the Revolutionary War is clear; so long as we have war, we will have draft dodgers.

It is a fact we must accept.

The endless, smoldering debate about draft evasion is fanned into flame every time the screws are put to American young men to participate in a military action.

It is most significant, however, that regardless of the number of evaders there always has been a sufficient number of men who answered the call—whether they agreed with their country's action or not—to get the job done.

They'd Take It From There

That mischievous arrangement for diverting income tax revenue into political party coffers should be repealed immediately.

Whatever effect it could have on income tax payments this year should be nullified by suitable legislation.

This is a prime example of a good intention gone wrong.

The intention was to take control of political parties away from proverbial fat cats who put up big money.

The theory was that if taxpayers steered a dollar apiece into party treasuries they would assert themselves as the prime contributors.

It takes only an ordinary amount of skepticism to see what would happen. If taxpayers in the mass could be conned into diverting income tax money to political parties, realists who know the ways of the world would still solicit fat cats for the extra funds that would make the difference in a tight contest. And the cats still would expect something for their money.

Political costs would zoom. Campaign managers would be money-happy. They never would have had it so good. They could afford to buy prime television time for a whole year before Election Day. They could hire platoons of pretty girls and build up campaign personalities for photogenic nonentities. They could afford the most expensive ad agencies.

With as much as $30 million for each party to play with, the realists and fat cats would take it from there and stage an election bash to make everything which has gone before look like the vote for football queen in a cow college.

Now Cometh The Junkman

A fellow we know has collared people for years to tell them about his scheme for perpetual prosperity.

Prosperity depends on complete consumption of all-out production, he explains. He reasons that the surest way to do this is to tie production to products whose consumption is assured.

He thinks fireworks would be ideal.

Keep everybody busy making fireworks, he says, then shoot off all the fireworks after quitting time at the end of the work week.

This would enable producers to start each week with empty warehouses. There never would be any carryover to depress prices. Production and consumption would be in perpetual balance.

His idea came to mind while reading that the Defense Department overdid itself in closing the "missile gap."

On the standard bureaucratic assumption that nothing is too much for the great good government, the Defense Department produced missiles until it didn't know what to do with them.

One of its ideas was to hide them in the ground. It now has more than 200 obsolete Atlas and Titan I missiles that were to have been disposed of in underground "silos."

It also has a lot of obsolete silos.

In the near future, the department also will have hundreds of obselete Minuteman I missiles and hundreds of Polaris missiles, not to mention the porbability that dozens of Titan II missiles will be phased out of the missile-age arsenal.

Going back to that fellow's scheme for perpetual prosperity we have to admit that the billions spent on missiles that never were used is not guite the same as shooting of the entire output of firecrackers periodically.

But there is a similarity. The effect is the same as if all the firecrackers were declared obsolete, disassembled and sold to the junkman.

That could extend the benefits of profligacy to the junkman, too, and might even be an improvement on the original plan.

Always Worth It

The death of Mary Garden in Aberdeen, Scotland, at the age of 92 will cause a well-worn question to be asked again and again by people who never understood the powerful impact of opera stars in their "golden era."

Did they deserve the adulation they received in the late 19th century and the early 20th century?

Were they as glamorous as nostalgic writings of that period make them out to be?

Did the movie queens who came later deserve what happened to them? Do recording stars who sell a million recordings of what would have been caterwauling in Mary Garden's day deserve adulation and riches?

Is a baseball player who draws people through the turnstiles worth $125,000 a season?

Is a TV personality worth a seven-digit contract for reciting lines written by someone else, or moving his lips to simulate the sound of his singing voice on an electronically doctored recording?

Mary Garden was worth it. Whatever good things came her way, she was worth it, because she made life more enjoyable for her contemporaries. Whatever that costs, it's always worth it.

A Year Of Decision

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Johnson is heading into his toughest year so far, although 1967 doesn't promise to be a very exciting year by itself.

Yet, what happens in 1967 — and what he makes happen — may determine whether he will seek re-election in 1968.

But events by themselves, unless Johnson makes some wretched mistakes in handling them, may not be the dominant factor in his decision to run again or in the Democrats' decision to make him their candidate again.

A very important factor, and perhaps the most important one in the end — although hardly anything is being said about it now — is the kind of candidate the Republicans select for their nominee in 1968.

It was extremely important when President Harry S. Truman ran against New York's Thomas E. Dewey and beat him in 1948.

LIKE JOHNSON after the death of President John F. Kennedy, when Truman took over after the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1945, he rocked along on a great tide of sympathy and goodwill for a while.

Gradually, his troubles piled up. The cold war began and at home, as a result of the war, there were shortages in food and housing. As his troubles multiplied, his popularity went down. Price controls became a national irritant. As they gradually fell apart, inflation roared through the roof.

And this was the result: In the off-year elections of 1946 the Republicans for the first time since 1928 gained control of both House and Senate. His troubles with the Republican-run Congress became so intense that they evoked new sympathy for Truman, although not much, it seemed.

So, when the Democrats nominated him for a full term in 1948, they did so without much enthusiasm. Against Dewey he looked like a sure loser right up until half-way through election night.

Then came his truly tremendous and troublesome years: The creation of NATO, the Korean War, the assaults by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. But if his standing with the electorate seemed low, it was anything but that with historians.

In 1962, 10 years after he left the White House, a poll of 75 historians placed him among the near great among the presidents, with the reservation that future historians might well list him with the great ones.

THE POPULARITY of Johnson's new presidency sailed through 1964, climaxed by an overwhelming victory over his Republican challenger, Sen. Barry Goldwater, who unwittingly aided and abetted Johnson's victory by being way out of step with his times, as the voters showed.

Then, in 1965, with the help of his Democratic-run Congress, Johnson reached new heights: He got through the greatest batch of major legislation in one year in American history.

Nevertheless, it was in 1965 that Johnson began to undermine his own popularity by the firm, strong stand he took in putting the United States up to its neck in the war in Vietnam.

But it wasn't until 1966 that the edge of his popularity wore off and the public opinion polls continually showed his prestige with the people going down.

It was in the off-year elections of 1966 — just as in the case of Truman in 1948 — that the popularity of Johnson's leadership landed in the basement. The Republicans, while not regaining control of Congress, won enough seats to cut down Democratic control.

Even within his own party, particularly among governors, Johnson's leadership was attacked. And Congress in 1967 may spend more time examining some of the Johnson programs already on the books than in approving new ones.

Therefore, this does not look like a very creative year in Congress. But it is in this year, with the Vietnamese war continuing, that Johnson must start rebuilding his political future if he hopes for the presidency again.

It Was Time-Saving Coincidence There

It was two days before current was restored and the work crew cautioned Mrs. Jonson that all clocks should be reset.

She checked and found that the power came on again at exactly the hour and minute it had gone off 48 hours earlier—4:33.

Installation Ceremonies Held By Job's Daughters

First-term officers for 1967, headed by Miss Deborah Sue Badger, honored queen, were inducted during ceremonies by Bethel 61 of the International Order of Job's Daughters Wednesday night at the Masonic Temple.

Miss Anne Lynne McDowell, junior past honored queen, was installing officer and presented Miss Badger with a long, royal purple velvet cloak and crown of jewels, emblematic of her leadership and symbol of her position.

Miss Badger chose "peace" for her theme, the "white dove" as her symbol, purple and silver for her colors and "Guide our feet in the way of peace" as her motto. All the line officers carried white doves and olive leaves in accordance with the theme. The cover of the program booklet was made of deep purple and featured silver lettering in addition to the picture of a dove. A prayer for peace, written by Helen Steiner Rice, was enclosed.

FOLLOWING the introduction of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Badger of Martha St., Glenmoor, the honored queen read a poem written in their honor. Her father presented her with the gavel. She also received the jewel of her office and a gift from Mrs. Genevieve Hoffman, guardian.

The Rev. James Hobson of the Glenmoor United Presbyterian Church, where Miss Badger holds membership, gave the charge to the newly-installed officers.

Installation Ceremonies Held By Job's Daughters

First-term officers for 1967, headed by Miss Deborah Sue Badger, honored queen, were inducted during ceremonies by Bethel 61 of the International Order of Job's Daughters Wednesday night at the Masonic Temple.

Miss Anne Lynne McDowell, junior past honored queen, was installing officer and presented Miss Badger with a long, royal purple velvet cloak and crown of jewels, emblematic of her leadership and symbol of her position.

Miss Badger chose "peace" for her theme, the "white dove" as her symbol, purple and silver for her colors and "Guide our feet in the way of peace" as her motto. All the line officers carried white doves and olive leaves in accordance with the theme. The cover of the program booklet was made of deep purple and featured silver lettering in addition to the picture of a dove. A prayer for peace, written by Helen Steiner Rice, was enclosed.

FOLLOWING the introduction of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Badger of Martha St., Glenmoor, the honored queen read a poem written in their honor. Her father presented her with the gavel. She also received the jewel of her office and a gift from Mrs. Genevieve Hoffman, guardian.

The Rev. James Hobson of the Glenmoor United Presbyterian Church, where Miss Badger holds membership, gave the charge to the newly-installed officers.

Other installing officers from the local Bethel assisting Miss McDowell were Victoria Deshler, guide; Holly Lampman, senior custodian; Barbara Eason, musician; Cindy Butler, narrator, and Sue Conley, soloist.

Assisting from Lisbon Bethel 48 were Jennifer Mason, marshal and Gale Schnader, junior custodian; from Salineville Bethel 68, Patty Osgood, recorder, and from Norwood Bethel 12, Peggy Wittekind, chaplain.

Members of Harding Chapter, Order of DeMolay, headed by Don Edgar, master councilor, served as escorts.

Preceding the installation was the "Rose Ceremony" honoring the retiring honored queen, Miss McDowell, and her officers. Miss McDowell received the past honored queen's jewel. Following the ritual of signing her name in the Bible, she presented her officers with rosebuds, which they used to form an arch for her retirement.

Announcement was made of the Bethel Guardian Council, which includes in addition to Mrs. Hoffman, Samual Blackburn, associate guardian; Mrs. Dolores Hopper, secretary; Mrs. Phyllis McDowell, treasurer, and Mrs. Hazel Neiser, directress of music.

THE ASSOCIATE council is comprised of Mrs. Millie Hopper, custodian of paraphernalia; Mrs. Clara Young, promoter of sociability; Mrs. Arlene Blackburn, promoter of hospitality; Homer Hoffman, promoter of fraternal relations, and Earl Neiser, promoter of finance.

Those serving on the committees will be Mrs. Blackburn, Carolyn Wynn, Penny Barker and Cindy Fisher, hospitality; Mrs. Young, Cindy Dray and Linda Hager, sociability; Mrs. Millie Hopper, Pam Hillyard and Lori Phillips, paraphernalia; Cathy Ferguson and Peggy May, sunshine; Martha Wakefield, Cathy Watson and Janine Clapsaddle, decorating; Linda Jack, lighting; Mrs. Hoffman and Terry Garren, proficiency, and Deborah Badger, Nancy Doland, Linda Haney, Debbie Phillips and Janet Andrews, telephone.

Future activities include an ice skating party, a trip to Pittsburgh to see the Ice Capades, a visit to the Weirton Youth Center, a hayride and a "Go To Church" Sunday.

A reception followed in the grill room under the supervision of a committee that included Mrs. Donald Raber, chairman, Mrs. Bernard Casto, Mrs. Robert Hillyard, Mrs. Thomas Doland and Mrs. John Hopper.

SALZBURG, Austria (AP) — A hunter near here aimed his rifle at a crow sitting on a high-voltage line but hit the power-line instead of the bird, police reported recently. The area was without light for a while.

Chester Residents Marry In Ceremonies At Church

The Sacred Heart Catholic Church at Chester was the scene of the open church wedding at noon Dec. 31 of Miss Linda Gay Shroades, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Shroades of Grandview Ave., Chester, and Charles Phillip LaScola, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. LaScola of Carolina Ave., Chester.

Fr. Robert Hickey officiated at the double - ring ceremony before an altar banked with seasonal poinsettias. William Bourne of Chester, organist, played and sang traditional music.

GIVEN IN marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta, styled with a scalloped neckline and trimmed with pearls and sequins. It featured long appliqued sleeves and tiny satin buttons down the back and at the wrist.

Her elbow - length veil of silk illusion was attached to a headpiece of organza rose petals accented with pearls. She carried other familiar traditions.

The bride chose a three-piece green wool suit with black accessories and a white rose corsage for traveling.

Mrs. Sandra Hawthorne of Shippingport, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Debbra Shroades, sister of the bride, Miss Angie LaScola, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Dawn Mott, niece of the bride, all of Chester.

They wore matching floor-length gowns, with a dark green velvet bodice styled with a scoop neckline and the mint green crepe skirt with an empire waistline and accented with a satin bow in the back and on the three-quarter-length sleeves.

Mrs. Shroades chose a three-piece suit of green and beige with black accessories. Mrs. LaScola wore a dress of turquoise with matching jacket and black accessories. Both wore yellow rose corsages.

MRS. CHARLES LASCOLA
Double-Ring Ceremony.

Corsages of white carnations were presented Mrs. Lena LaScola and Mrs. Mary Wood, grandmothers of the bridegroom.

James LaScola Jr. of Chester served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Stanley Shroades of Chester, brother of the bride; William Hawthorne of Shippingport, brother-in-law of the bride, and Phillip LaScola of Wellsville, cousin of the bridegroom.

A RECEPTION followed at Jimmie's Restaurant in Chester for about 400 guests. A three-tier wedding cake centered the bridal table. Aides were Miss Jacki Ingold and Miss Sandy Wilson. Guests were registered by Mrs. Dona Mott, sister of the bride.

The newlyweds are 1965 graduates of Oak Glen High School. The bride is employed as a telephone operator for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. here. Her husband joined the Navy in October 1965 and is stationed at Pensacola, Fla. The bride will reside temporarily with her parents.

Congressman Due Back

Compromise Talks Grow In Dispute Over Powell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Talk of compromise in the fight over the seating of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell in the 90th Congress spread today as the Harlem Democrat headed back to Washington and next week's showdown.

Powell's office said he was due back in the capital this weekend after fishing and sunning in the Bahamas for weeks and had scheduled meetings with several unnamed individuals.

House Democrats caucus at 10 a.m. Monday to organize for the new session and Powell's case is high on the agenda. The fight over seating him will take place Tuesday when Congress convenes.

The harsh probability that he might be denied his seat or tossed out as chairman of the Education and Labor Committee has eased a bit in the light of two recent developments:

— Speaker John W. McCormack came back to town and made it clear he had little sympathy with the anti-Powell move, which is being led by two junior members, Reps. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., and Sam M. Gibbons, D-Fla.

— The executive committee of the Democratic Study Group, which claims to have 145 of the 248 House Democrats as members, decided Friday to take an official hands-off policy on the issue.

The speaker's attitude and the lack of any firm policy by the largest single group of House Democrats seemed to clear the way for a compromise, something McCormack is known to be fervently seeking.

Van Deerlin's effort to unseat Powell is tied to the contempt of court conviction and jail sentence facing Powell in New York because of his failure to pay a $164,000 civil judgment against him.

Under one suggestion Powell would be seated conditionally for a certain period of time, during which he would have to clear up the court judgment. He would retain his chairmanship in the meantime.

The general feeling is that Powell will have to stir himself in the few days remaining and help arrange any compromise that will keep him from being dealt with harshly.

Committee To Be Briefed On War By Head Of CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Congress opens its scrutiny of the Vietnam war Monday with a Senate committee scheduled to get a top-secret appraisal from the director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Intelligence chief Richard Helms' briefing of Sen. Richard B. Russell's special CIA subcommittee Monday — the day before Congress convenes — is expected to include the agency's evaluation of the impact of U.S. bombing on North Vietnam.

The CIA has been reported as skeptical of whether the air attacks are damaging Hanoi's will to continue the war.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a member of the Senate CIA panel, said Friday the present scale of bombing had not been an "outstanding success" in preventing the infiltration of North Vietnamese troops.

"The number of troops flowing from the North is considerably more than we were told last year would be coming down this year," Symington told a news conference after returning from the war area.

Symington, a member of the Armed Services and Foreign relations Committees, said he was more pessimistic than a year ago and "more favorably inclined" toward a political settlement.

The Senate leaders — Democrat Mike Mansfield and Republican Everett M. Dirksen — didn't agree in separate pre-session interviews on whether peace talks appeared any nearer.

Mansfield expressed belief that "the opening has been enlarged" for possible negotiations through U.S. efforts at the United Nations.

But Dirksen said there has been "no hard evidence and no firm clues" that Hanoi wants to negotiate.

They agreed on one thing. The war will be a hot subject of debate in the 90th Congress.

The speaker's attitude and the lack of any firm policy by the largest single group of House Democrats seemed to clear the way for a compromise, something McCormack is known to be fervently seeking.

Van Deerlin's effort to unseat Powell is tied to the contempt of court conviction and jail sentence facing Powell in New York because of his failure to pay a $164,000 civil judgment against him.

Under one suggestion, Powell would be seated conditionally for a certain period of time during which he would have to clear up the court judgment. He would retain his chairmanship in the meantime.

The general feeling is that Powell will have to stir himself in the few days remaining and help arrange any compromise that will keep him from being dealt with harshly.

Committee To Be Briefed On War By Head Of CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Congress opens its scrutiny of the Vietnam war Monday with a Senate committee scheduled to get a top-secret appraisal from the director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Intelligence chief Richard Helms' briefing of Sen. Richard B. Russell's special CIA subcommittee Monday — the day before Congress convenes — is expected to include the agency's evaluation of the impact of U.S. bombing on North Vietnam.

The CIA has been reported as skeptical of whether the air attacks are damaging Hanoi's will to continue the war.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a member of the Senate CIA panel, said Friday the present scale of bombing had not been at "outstanding success" in preventing the inultration of North Vietnamese troops.

"The number of troops flowing from the North is considerably more than we were told last year would be coming down this year," Symington told a news conference after returning from the war area.

Symington, a member of the Armed Services and Foreign relations Committees, said he was more pessimistic than a year ago and "more favorably inclined" toward a political settlement.

The Senate leaders — Democrat Mike Mansfield and Republican Everett M. Dirksen — didn't agree in separate pre-session interviews on whether peace talks appeared any nearer.

Mansfield expressed belief that "the opening has been enlarged" for possible negotiations through U.S. efforts at the United Nations.

But Dirksen said there has been "no hard evidence and no firm clues" that Hanoi wants to negotiate.

They agreed on one thing. The war will be a hot subject of debate in the 90th Congress.

Rev. Cowsert To Speak

Oakland Church To Host Meeting

The Rev. Eugene Cowsert of Uniontown will address pastors and layman of 18 churches of the Rochester District of the Free Methodist Church tonight and Sunday at the Oakland Church during an area evangelistic convention.

He is district superintendent of the Uniontown and Fairmont districts of the Pittsburgh conference.

The convention will begin at 7:30, with additional services Sunday morning, afternoon and night. The theme will be "Evangelistic Breakthrough."

The Rev. R. L. Page of Apollo, Pa., formerly of East Liverpool, where he served as superintendent of this district, also will speak. The Rev. R. D. Merkle, superintendent of the Rochester District, will be in charge of the meetings and will speak at the 10:30 a.m. service Sunday.

A combined choir from area churches will provide the music for each of the services under the direction of Kenneth Campbell of Industry, R.D. 1.

REV. COWSERT
Will Join In Services

The Oakland church will serve a luncheon to those attending the Sunday afternoon meeting and Sunday night closing service.

Committee Begins Study On Common Bible For All

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A provisional committee of 22 Protestant and Roman Catholic biblical scholars has begun a study of translation requirements needed for a common Bible for all Christians.

Augustin Cardinal Bea, German-born biblical scholar who heads the Vatican's Christian Unity Secretariat, told the gathering of 10 Protestants and 12 Catholics they were involved in "a work that is basic and vital to the future of Christianity: Translation and distribution of the Bible."

"It does not seem an exaggeration to say that the possibility of our cooperation is one of the most important developments in contemporary Christian history," said the cardinal. The meeting was in conjunction with a visit to Rome by leaders of the United Bible Societies, under the chairmanship of Dr. Laton E. Holmgren, general secretary of the American Bible Society.

Dr. Holmgren told the Cardinal the UBS was glad to respond "to the new overtures of your great church for consultation and cooperation" in preparing scriptual translations for use by all Christians.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's first law concerning roads, passed five years after admission to the Union in 1792, required all able - bodied male citizens 16 and older to work on the roads for a specified period.

Rites Planned By Orthodox For Holidays

Parishioners of the Midland St. George Serbian Orthodox Church are celebrating Christmas today, the services beginning with Christmas Divine Liturgy this morning. Responses were sung by the Dr. Laza Kostich Choir.

The burning of the Yule logs was featured Friday evening (Christmas Eve) at the Serbian National Home. Fr. Milorad Dobrot awas the celebrant for the midnight services.

The Council of the Mother of God will be celebrated Sunday, with Divine Liturgy at 10 a.m. The responses will be sung by the St. George Junior Church Choir. In the afternoon, members of the Dr. Laza Kostich Choir and the St. George Junior Church Choir will go caroling.

The feast of St. Stephen will be observed Monday at 10 a.m., with Divine Liturgy of St. John Chrysostom.

The traditional New Year's Eve dance will be held Jan. 13 beginning at 9 at the Serbian National Home under the sponsorship of the Dr. Laza Kostich Choir. On New Year's Day, Jan 14, Divine Liturgy will be celebrated at 10 a. m., with a Thanksgivig service at 11:30, in commemoration of the new year.

A Christmas party for the Sunday School children will be held Jan. 15 in the church lyceum beginning at 2:30 p. m.

Lions Hear Vista Girls

They explained the purposes of the VISTA (Volunteers In Service To America) program, defining it as the "domestic Peace Corps."

The relatively new organization, they explained, was created by the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

Miss Sutton is from Bluffton, Ind., and Miss Sperry from Milwaukee, Wis. They are assigned to the East Liverpool and Wellsville area.

The principal purpose of their stay, they explained, is to "organize youth from low income families, and those who are culturally and socially deprived."

Clubs under 4-H sponsorship for children of age 10 and over are being formed through cooperation with school officials, they stated.

"A 4-H club can exist in a city environment as well as rural. We try to instill a feeling of responsibility and leadership in kids who are not being reached by other groups."

They stressed a basic need for male leadership in the VISTA program, and the necessity for arousing interest in the community.

Miss Sutton and Miss Sperry were introduced by Chuck Haugh, program chairman.

Dr. Allan O'Brien was a guest.

The Rev. E. C. Traylor gave the invocation.

Ed Shingler, president, announced that the board of directors will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the Ohio Power Co.

Urich Re-Elected By Stanton Board

IRONDALE — Joseph Urich was re-elected president when the Stanton Local Board of Education held its reorganizational meeting at the school. Audrey Whitcomb was returned as vice president.

An appropriation resolution for the upcoming year was approved.

Glenn Jackson of Monroeville, Pa., was employed as an industrial arts teacher for the second semester.

The board also approved an adult education program. An announcement relative to the courses offered and dates will be forthcoming "in a few days."

'Blackboard By Wire' New Teaching System

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) —An electronic "black-board-by-wire" teaching system has sent voice communications and handwriting over telephone lines for a long - distance illustrated lecture.

The demonstration was sponsored by Purdue University and General Telephone and Electronics Corp.

James S. Miles, director of television at Purdue, said the system appears to have many applications in education, particularly for continuing education to sparsely populated areas distant from colleges or universities."

He said costs appear low enough to make such an effort capable of being done.

Pair Injured In 2 Hancock Car Mishaps

Two Chester residents were treated at City Hospital today for injuries received in a one-car accident shortly after 5 a.m. on West Virginia Route 66 near Waterford Park race track.

Vera Flowers, 45, of Fairview St., driver of the 1963 auto, received a leg laceration and her passenger, George Karavos of 335 Carolina Ave., multiple lacerations of the face.

Hancock County Sheriff's deputies reported the northbound auto skidded on wet slippery pavement and hit a tree on a bend near the race track.

About $700 damage to the vehicle was estimated.

An auto driven by Michael Lee Hill, 21, of 304 W. 3rd St., East Liverpool, skidded on West Virginia Route 66 near the Globe Brick Co. at Newell and ran into a ditch shortly after 6 this morning, deputies reported.

The motorist was headed north in his 1961 compact car on a straight stretch of highway when the accident occurred.

Dimes Drive Set By PTA In Midland

The Midland 7th St. School Parent - Teacher Association is completing plans to participate in the mothers' march in the annual dimes campaign Jan. 26 from 7 to 8 p.m. in the school area. At a meeting held Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Ross Hurst, president, asked for volunteers.

Mrs. John Adams gave the invocation. Mrs. Alice Stillwagon led the salute to the flag and the singing of "America".

Mrs. MacMillan Nash and Mrs. Will T. Leavell are co-chairmen for a hat show to be held at the school March 15 at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Hurst said there will be an admission charge of 50 cents and a light luncheon will be served. She said the hats at the show will all cost under $4.

Mrs. Nash, chairman of the ways and means committee, said all money for the school record book project must be reported her by Jan. 20.

Miss Mary Conlon reported on her remedial reading classes and demonstrated some of the equipment used.

Mrs. Stillwagon led group singing.

The PTA will participate in a joint meeting with the 1st and 4th St. School PTA's Feb. 8 in Lincoln High School when Dr. I. S. Nwokorie of Nigeria will be the guest speaker.

Sugar was considered a luxury item and a medicine until the 18th century.

Southern Local Citizens Review Financial Needs

SALINEVILLE — Sixty attended a meeting of area residents Friday night at the Southern Local High School during which further plans were made for support of a proposed school levy in a special election Jan. 24.

The group agreed to continue solicitation of funds to pay for the election on the 4.5-mill levy sought to bolster the district's lagging finances.

Jack Hiscox of near Lisbon, coordinator of the committee backing the levy, said $1,000 has been received so far toward the election's estimated cost of $1,300.

Hiscox reviewed the school finances and needs and said Southern Local was last or nearly last in salaries and other financial aspects in Columbiana County.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION

Count Your Blessings

There is a song that is titled, "Count Your Blessings". The theme of the song is that all of us receive many blessings from the Hand of God. If we were to take the time to try to number them, we would be amazed at the things God has done for us. It seems that many of us have never learned to be thankful. All of our blessings come from God. Jas. 1:17 "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights . . . . .". God sends physical blessings on all of man-kind whether they are good or bad. " . . . For He maketh His sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust." Mt. 5:45. In our article today we would like for each to pause and think about the blessings that they have daily received from God. Then think how you have expressed your thanks to God, the giver of each of these blessings.

Some of us show that we do not appreciate what God has done by refusing to be obedient to the commands of God. The very least we could do to show our thanks, is to do the things that God has commanded us. Paul teaches that the goodness of God should cause us to turn from our sinful ways. Rom. 2:4 "Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and longsuffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?"

In view of God's goodness, why then is it that so many will try to find ways to keep from being obedient to the Will of God. To illustrate what we mean, notice this plain command of God. Acts 2:38. "Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost." This is the answer that Peter gave by inspiration of God to people who recognized that they were guilty of sins. It seems that people who are thankful to God ought to accept His verdict regarding sins. God said that we must repent and be baptized for the remission of our sins. Yet a great many people today are busy trying to explain that they do not need to obey the words of God. Someone has decided that they did not like the instruction to be baptized and so they have tried every way to eliminate baptism from the plan of salvation. We are told that baptism is just a non-essential. If this is so, then Peter did not know it for he said that baptism saves us. 1 Pet. 3:21. "The like figure whereunto even baptism doth also now save us . . . . ". Why would people who want to please God, try to by-pass this command of God? Remember all that we have and are is a result of the blessing of God. We show our thanks by doing the things that God commands.

"Be ye thankful."

The Oakland church will serve a luncheon to those attending the Sunday afternoon meeting and Sunday night closing service.

Committee Begins Study On Common Bible For All

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A provisional committee of 22 Protestant and Roman Catholic biblical scholars has begun a study of translation requirements needed for a common Bible for all Christians.

The experts met here this week for informal conversations and an exchange of reports.

Augustin Cardinal Bea, German-born biblical scholar who heads the Vatican's Christian Unity Secretariat, told the gathering of 10 Protestants and 12 Catholics they were involved in "a work that is basic and vital to the future of Christianity: Translation and distribution of the Bible."

"It does not seem an exaggeration to say that the possibility of our cooperation is one of the most important developments in contemporary Christian history," said the cardinal. The meeting was in conjunction with a visit to Rome by leaders of the United Bible Societies, under the chairmanship of Dr. Laton E. Holmgren, general secretary of the American Bible Society.

Dr. Holmgren told the Cardinal the UBS was glad to respond "to the new overtures of your great church for consultation and cooperation" in preparing scriptual translations for use by all Christians.

The burning of the Yule logs was featured Friday evening (Christmas Eve) at the Serbian National Home. Fr. Milorad Dobrot awas the celebrant for the midnight services.

The Council of the Mother of God will be celebrated Sunday, with Divine Liturgy at 10 a.m. The responses will be sung by the St. George Junior Church Choir. In the afternoon, members of the Dr. Laza Kostich Choir and the St. George Junior Church Choir will go caroling.

The feast of St. Stephen will be observed Monday at 10 a.m., with Divine Liturgy of St. John Chrysostom.

The traditional New Year's Eve dance will be held Jan. 13 beginning at 9 at the Serbian National Home under the sponsorship of the Dr. Laza Kostich Choir. On New Year's Day, Jan 14, Divine Liturgy will be celebrated at 10 a. m., with a Thanksgivig service at 11:30, in commemoration of the new year.

A Christmas party for the Sunday School children will be held Jan. 15 in the church lyceum beginning at 2:30 p. m.

Lions Hear Vista Girls

They explained the purposes of the VISTA (Volunteers In Service To America) program, defining it as the "domestic Peace Corps."

The relatively new organization, they explained, was created by the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

Miss Sutton is from Bluffton, Ind., and Miss Sperry from Milwaukee, Wis. They are assigned to the East Liverpool and Wellsville area.

The principal purpose of their stay, they explained, is to "organize youth from low income families, and those who are culturally and socially deprived."

Clubs under 4-H sponsorship for children of age 10 and over are being formed through cooperation with school officials, they stated.

"A 4-H club can exist in a city environment as well as rural. We try to instill a feeling of responsibility and leadership in kids who are not being reached by other groups."

They stressed a basic need for male leadership in the VISTA program, and the necessity for arousing interest in the community.

Miss Sutton and Miss Sperry were introduced by Chuck Haugh, program chairman.

Dr. Allan O'Brien was a guest.

The Rev. E. C. Traylor gave the invocation.

Ed Shingler, president, announced that the board of directors will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the Ohio Power Co.

Urich Re-Elected By Stanton Board

IRONDALE — Joseph Urich was re-elected president when the Stanton Local Board of Education held its reorganizational meeting at the school. Audrey Whitcomb was returned as vice president.

An appropriation resolution for the upcoming year was approved.

Glenn Jackson of Monroeville, Pa., was employed as an industrial arts teacher for the second semester.

The board also approved an adult education program. An announcement relative to the courses offered and dates will be forthcoming "in a few days."

Southern Local Citizens Review Financial Needs

SALINEVILLE — Sixty attended a meeting of area residents Friday night at the Southern Local High School during which further plans were made for support of a proposed school levy in a special election Jan. 24.

The group agreed to continue solicitation of funds to pay for the election on the 4.5-mill levy sought to bolster the district's lagging finances.

Jack Hiscox of near Lisbon, coordinator of the committee backing the levy, said $1,000 has been received so far toward the election's estimated cost of $1,300.

Hiscox reviewed the school finances and needs and said Southern Local was last or nearly last in salaries and other financial aspects in Columbiana County.

Yellow Creek Grange Meets

Master George Patterson presided.

The program, arranged by Mrs. Mary Williams, lecturer, included: "A Thought," quizzes, games, "Threshold of the New Year," Mrs. Pearl Duck; "A Prayer for the New Year," Mrs. Barbara Salajczyk; "A New Year's Philosophy," Tom DeLauder; poem, "The Builders," Wilmer (Skip) Ralston.

Miss Linda Jack, member of the Junior Achievement Company, explained what JACS does, how it works and its purpose. Her branch of the company makes stainless steel serving trays and two sizes of cookie sheets and is sponsored by the Crucible Steel Co. The advisers are Norman Bucher and Tom Rodfong.

A get-well card was signed for Mrs. Frances Jack, who is recovering at Cleveland Clinic from surgery. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Grace DeLauder.

Tim James, master, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond James, patron and matron, were in charge of the juvenile meeting.

Lunch was served 30 by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Salajczyk and Mr. and Mrs. James. The next meeting will be Jan. 19.

College Planning For New Chapel

STEUBENVILLE — Ground will be broken in early summer for the Christ the King Chapel on the campus of the College of Steubenville, it was announced today by the Rev. Columba J. Devlin, T.O.R., president.

The structure, which will seat 400, will cost approximately $350,000.

In the planning stage for the last two years, it will be privately financed by individual donors, parents of students, student groups and alumni. A $50,000 grant from the Frank J. Lewis Foundation of Chicago also will be applied toward construction.

The new chapel will be located on the West Campus, on a bluff above Franciscan Way, which will overlook downtown Steubenville. It is expected that completion will be in early 1968.

Paintings By Chimps Displayed At Museum

Eight paintings, several with an orange tang, have evoked much comment from patrons of the institution.

"I think we draw too sharp a line between human and animal endeavor," his companion commented.

A woman told her two young children: "When you're just as good as the little monkeys you can paint, too."

Man Blows His Nose And Out Comes Bullet

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Cab driver Nick Simotes, 32, was on his way to the police station Friday night to view a man suspected of robbing him and shooting him in the head three months ago.

Simotes blew his nose and out came the bullet which had been lodged in his sinus since the shooting. Physicians had known the slug was there but it had not been removed.

Simotes could not identify the man.

If The Shoe Fits—

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The billboard outside St. Paul's Methodist Church recently carried this instant sermon: "Don't knock your church — it may have improved since the last time you were there."

when kathy prays

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When Kathy prays I can almost hear angel wings flutter. Her simple conversations with God are so full of trust and confidence, I feel as though I am standing at the doorstep of heaven.

After prayers, I tuck her into bed, turn out the light and go downstairs. And I find myself continuing the conversation she has started. My prayer is always the same . . . that as she grows, and her needs and wishes change, my little girl will continue to develop her understanding and love of God.

How grateful I am for my church. It has been a constant source of inspiration for my own religious growth. I know it will be ready to help me answer Kathy's questions. It is wonderful to know that I do not have to tackle the religious education of my daughter alone.

Attend your church. Let it help you as you guide your child's religious thinking.

Yellow Creek Grange Meets

Master George Patterson presided.

The program, arranged by Mrs. Mary Williams, lecturer, included: "A Thought," quizzes, games, "Threshold of the New Year," Mrs. Pearl Duck; "A Prayer for the New Year," Mrs. Barbara Salajczyk; "A New Year's Philosophy," Tom DeLauder; poem, "The Builders," Wilmer (Skip) Ralston.

Miss Linda Jack, member of the Junior Achievement Company, explained what JACS does, how it works and its purpose. Her branch of the company makes stainless steel serving trays and two sizes of cookie sheets and is sponsored by the Crucible Steel Co. The advisers are Norman Bucher and Tom Rodfong.

A get-well card was signed for Mrs. Frances Jack, who is recovering at Cleveland Clinic from surgery. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Grace DeLauder.

Tim James, master, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond James, patron and matron, were in charge of the juvenile meeting.

Lunch was served 30 by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Salajczyk and Mr. and Mrs. James. The next meeting will be Jan. 19.

College Planning For New Chapel

STEUBENVILLE — Ground will be broken in early summer for the Christ the King Chapel on the campus of the College of Steubenville, it was announced today by the Rev. Columba J. Devlin, T.O.R., president.

The structure, which will seat 400, will cost approximately $350,000.

In the planning stage for the last two years, it will be privately financed by individual donors, parents of students, student groups and alumni. A $50,000 grant from the Frank J. Lewis Foundation of Chicago also will be applied toward construction.

The new chapel will be located on the West Campus, on a bluff above Franciscan Way, which will overlook downtown Steubenville. It is expected that completion will be in early 1968.

Paintings By Chimps Displayed At Museum

Eight paintings, several with an orange tang, have evoked much comment from patrons of the institution.

"I think we draw too sharp a line between human and animal endeavor," his companion commented.

A woman told her two young children: "When you're just as good as the little monkeys you can paint, too."

Man Blows His Nose And Out Comes Bullet

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Cab driver Nick Simotes, 32, was on his way to the police station Friday night to view a man suspected of robbing him and shooting him in the head three months ago.

Simotes blew his nose and out came the bullet which had been lodged in his sinus since the shooting. Physicians had known the slug was there but it had not been removed.

Simotes could not identify the man.

If The Shoe Fits—

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The billboard outside St. Paul's Methodist Church recently carried this instant sermon: "Don't knock your church — it may have improved since the last time you were there."

When Kathy prays

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When Kathy prays I can almost hear angel wings flutter. Her simple conversations with God are so full of trust and confidence, I feel as though I am standing at the doorstep of heaven.

After prayers, I tuck her into bed, turn out the light and go downstairs. And I find myself continuing the conversation she has started. My prayer is always the same . . . that as she grows, and her needs and wishes change, my little girl will continue to develop her understanding and love of God.

How grateful I am for my church. It has been a constant source of inspiration for my own religious growth. I know it will be ready to help me answer Kathy's questions. It is wonderful to know that I do not have to tackle the religious education of my daughter alone.

Attend your church. Let it help you as you guide your child's religious thinking.

By HARRY STEWART

THE SHARP CRACK of rifle fire rattles through Wellsville's City Hall each Wednesday night attesting to the fact that several area youths are learning gun safety, improving their marksmanship and competing against one another in an age-old sport.

To these boys, members of the National Rifle Association Junior Rifle Club, sponsored by the Wellsville Jaycees shooting is a serious business.

They spend many long hours improving their shooting eye, learning proper breathing control, the best method for squeezing the trigger and the various positions necessary in target shooting. Above all, they are constantly reminded of gun safety.

The club is open to both boys and girls and the membership is from the entire area. Daniel MacLean serves as the instructor and George Hardman, also an avid shooter, is the leader. Both men are from Wellsville and have been in charge for more than five years.

The 50-foot range is located on the third floor of the City Hall. Heavy sheets of metal, slanted at an angle to serve as a trap, are used for the backstops.

Lights are placed so that only the target area is lighted during the shooting.

THE BOYS PLACE their own targets and then return to the mats to await orders to pick up their guns, load and commence firing.

The guns are loaded with one .22 caliber shell at a time. Each boy is limited to a certain number of shots for each target and the first one completed must not move from his position until the last has finished.

The boys usually shoot in groups of five. When they have completed their firing, they retrieve their targets and clear the way for the next group. The first group then begins scoring their targets.

EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW

Scoring is done under NRA rules and a certain number of points, based on which ring the slug hits, must be attained before a target can be certified.

Each boy must shoot a certain number of certified targets before he can qualify for a rank.

The club owns target rifles, secured from the government through the Department of Civilian Marksmanship, although many boys purchase their own.

SHOOTING IS DONE with "peep" sights. This sight has a very small aperture to sight through and requires a steady hand to remain on target. The slightest wavering can be detected by the rifleman as he looks at the target.

A shootoff was held among the boys and last week David Peterson, 15, emerged the winner.

The champion is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Peterson of Wellsville R. D. 1 and a student at Southern Local High School. David won his expert rifleman's rank last year.

MacLean, who is a certified instructor, having taken the necessary courses, comments that safety is one factor that is stressed continually.

THE PRESENT CLUB was chartered by the NRA in 1962. At that time there were 29 boys in the organization. Now there are about 36. Approximately 115 boys have been trained in the use of small caliber firearms through club activities.

Wellsville had rifle clubs prior to 1962. One was chartered in 1943, also at City Hall. The targets were built in the shop classes at Wellsville High School. American Legion Post 70 was the sponsor and Ford Ball, a high school teacher, was the instructor.

This junior group remained active several years, but in 1951 gave way to a senior group. The senior club faded away with the Korean War.

All the equipment remained at City Hall, unused until the present group was formed in 1962.

Hardman, MacLean and Tom Morris were instrumental in organization of the present club. All were charter members of the original junior group.

The club operates under the NRA, a non-profit national organization, because of the many advantages offered.

The NRA, founded in 1871, was recognized by Congress through the National Defense Act of 1961 as an important element in national defense.

Its purposes are to educate and train citizens of good repute in the safe and efficient handling of firearms; to foster a knowledge of small arms and the ability to use them among members of law enforcement agencies and armed services. It has had much to do with the development of small arms training of the armed forces.

AMMUNITION, targets and some rifles for the club are secured through the federal government. In order to qualify each member must fire a designated number of qualifying targets.

At Wellsville, as in other clubs, insurance is purchased through the NRA to cover loss of equipment or injury to a member. No one has been hurt since the club started.

The fee for joining is $3 a year for club dues and $1.50 a year as a share of the cost of the $20,000 liability policy on each member.

The club has a federal firearms license which lists the Wellsville Jaycees as a dealer. This entitles the club to purchase additional equipment and ammunition wholesale.

Home Hints

By Ann Overturf
Columbiana County Home Economist

When dining space is limited, a big holiday dinner can pose serving problems. Plan meal service as carefully as you plan the menu and food preparation timetable.

Will you have a buffet meal? A sit-down meal served family style? A formal dinner with plates served from the kitchen to seated guests?

Your choice depends on the number of people invited, the amount of space available for eating, the type of dinner you plan, and the number of people available to help.

When the meal is served directly from the kitchen, double boilers and ovens keep hot foods at good serving temperature while the refrigerator holds the cold foods.

WITH BUFFET service, you'll need special dishes and equipment to maintain proper serving temperatures. Use chafing dishes or other special dishes to keep foods piping hot during the entire serving period. Serve cold foods in insulated dishes or on beds of ice. If you don't have enough equipment to manage the entire menu, borrow or rent it.

With either family style or buffet service, plan foods and use serving dishes that make self - serving easy. A casserole, pre - sliced meat, precut gelatin salads — all with proper serving spoons, forks or spatulas — are good choices.

If your guests must eat from trays or small tables, plan foods that don't need cutting or buttering. Keep sauces to a minimum to avoid spills on clothing and furnishings. Use plates large enough to hold the entire meal.

A separation of courses may help you manage a large meal in relatively small space. For example — serve the appetizers as the guests arrive. This bridges the various arrival times and gets everyone involved.

THE MAIN COURSE includes everything else except the dessert. Serve main course beverages immediately after the food is served. Even with buffet service, you'll save spills if you take the beverage to the guests after they are seated.

Dessert can be served immediately after the main course dishes are removed or may be delayed briefly. Refill the coffee cups and let guests chat while you stack dishes in the kitchen and get the dessert ready for serving.

That big holiday dinner can be a success, even in limited space, if you take time to prepare a good plan for serving food and handling dishes.

By HARRY STEWART

THE SHARP CRACK of rifle fire rattles through Wellsville's City Hall each Wednesday night attesting to the fact that several area youths are learning gun safety, improving their marksmanship and competing against one another in an age-old sport.

To these boys, members of the National Rifle Association Junior Rifle Club, sponsored by the Wellsville Jaycees shooting is a serious business.

They spend many long hours improving their shooting eye, learning proper breathing control, the best method for squeezing the trigger and the various positions necessary in target shooting. Above all, they are constantly reminded of gun safety.

The club is open to both boys and girls and the membership is from the entire area. Daniel MacLean serves as the instructor and George Hardman, also an avid shooter, is the leader. Both men are from Wellsville and have been in charge for more than five years.

The 50-foot range is located on the third floor of the City Hall. Heavy sheets of metal, slanted at an angle to serve as a trap, are used for the backstops.

Lights are placed so that only the target area is lighted during the shooting.

THE BOYS PLACE their own targets and then return to the mats to await orders to pick up their guns, load and commence firing.

The guns are loaded with one .22 caliber shell at a time. Each boy is limited to a certain number of shots for each target and the first one completed must not move from his position until the last has finished.

The boys usually shoot in groups of five. When they have completed their firing, they retrieve their targets and clear the way for the next group. The first group then begins scoring their targets.

Scoring is done under NRA rules and a certain number of points, based on which ring the slug hits, must be attained before a target can be certified.

Each boy must shoot a certain number of certified targets before he can qualify for a rank.

The club owns target rifles, secured from the government through the Department of Civilian Marksmanship, although many boys purchase their own.

SHOOTING IS DONE with "peep" sights. This sight has a very small aperture to sight through and requires a steady hand to remain on target. The slightest wavering can be detected by the rifleman as he looks at the target.

A shootoff was held among the boys and last week David Peterson, 15, emerged the winner.

The champion is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Peterson of Wellsville R. D. 1 and a student at Southern Local High School. David won his expert rifleman's rank last year.

MacLean, who is a certified instructor, having taken the necessary courses, comments that safety is one factor that is stressed continually.

THE PRESENT CLUB was chartered by the NRA in 1962. At that time there were 29 boys in the organization. Now there are about 36. Approximately 115 boys have been trained in the use of small caliber firearms through club activities.

Wellsville had rifle clubs prior to 1962. One was chartered in 1943, also at City Hall. The targets were built in the shop classes at Wellsville High School. American Legion Post 70 was the sponsor and Ford Ball, a high school teacher, was the instructor.

This junior group remained active several years, but in 1951 gave way to a senior group. The senior club faded away with the Korean War.

All the equipment remained at City Hall, unused until the present group was formed in 1962.

Hardman, MacLean and Tom Morris were instrumental in organization of the present club. All were charter members of the original junior group.

The NRA, founded in 1871, was recognized by Congress through the National Defense Act of 1961 as an important element in national defense.

Its purposes are to educate and train citizens of good repute in the safe and efficient handling of firearms; to foster a knowledge of small arms and the ability to use them among members of law enforcement agencies and armed services. It has had much to do with the development of small arms training of the armed forces.

AMMUNITION, targets and some rifles for the club are secured through the federal government. In order to qualify each member must fire a designated number of qualifying targets.

At Wellsville, as in other clubs, insurance is purchased through the NRA to cover loss of equipment or injury to a member. No one has been hurt since the club started.

The fee for joining is $3 a year for club dues and $1.50 a year as a share of the cost of the $20,000 liability policy on each member.

The club has a federal firearms license which lists the Wellsville Jaycees as a dealer. This entitles the club to purchase additional equipment and ammunition wholesale.

When dining space is limited, a big holiday dinner can pose serving problems. Plan meal service as carefully as you plan the menu and food preparation timetable.

Will you have a buffet meal? A sit-down meal served family style? A formal dinner with plates served from the kitchen to seated guests?

Your choice depends on the number of people invited, the amount of space available for eating, the type of dinner you plan, and the number of people available to help.

When the meal is served directly from the kitchen, double boilers and ovens keep hot foods at good serving temperature while the refrigerator holds the cold foods.

WITH BUFFET service, you'll need special dishes and equipment to maintain proper serving temperatures. Use chafing dishes or other special dishes to keep foods piping hot during the entire serving period. Serve cold foods in insulated dishes or on beds of ice. If you don't have enough equipment to manage the entire menu, borrow or rent it.

With either family style or buffet service, plan foods and use serving dishes that make self - serving easy. A casserole, pre - sliced meat, precut gelatin salads — all with proper serving spoons, forks or spatulas — are good choices.

OUTDOOR ACTIVITY has slowed to a near halt in the district. Most hunting is over, with the exception of rabbit and grouse in Ohio. All small game hunting ended today in Pennsylvania.

Rabbit season in Ohio runs through Jan. 28 while grouse season extends on through the latter part of February.

Very few hunters can be found nowadays. Primarily because the rabbit hunting has been poor.

Now is a good time to take a walk or hike through the woods. There are many interesting things to see and it is a good time to check along the creeks for places to fish next spring.

A skim of ice is beginning to form along the edges of Beaver Creek, but the water is clear and you can easily see rocks and ledges that can't be viewed in the summer.

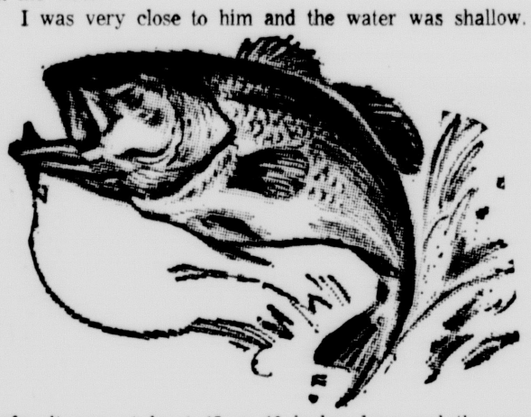

Signs of beaver along the lower end of Beaver Creek are plentiful. They are cutting small aspen and other trees, hauling them over the hillside into the water. Here and there you can see where the beaver have chewed the bark from a small branch and then discarded it. The ends of trees can be seen jutting up from the water, some up through the ice.

I SAW A LARGE BASS near the shore of the creek over the weekend. It was lying beside a rock, apparently feeding.

There were several small minnows in the shallow water and I believe the fish was waiting for them.

I always heard that cold water slowed fish down considerably. So, I rolled up my sleeves, stretched out on a rock and reached down into the water to attempt to pick up the bass. He took off like a streak as soon as my hand hit the water.

I was very close to him and the water was shallow. I judge it was at least 15 or 16 inches long and the mouth looked big enough to shove your fist into.

I found two fishing bobbers along the shore and saw a fishing plug and spinner on the bottom, caught on rocks.

I was hunting at the time, and my friends commented that since I couldn't shoot any game, I was scavenger hunting.

THE ICE WILL be getting heavier in the next month and it is always good to be aware of the dangers involved.

Knowledge of ice safety can save lives. The Ohio Division of Wildlife has issued the following safety facts.

Slush ice is about half as strong as clear, blue ice. River and stream ice is about 15 per cent weaker than lake or pond ice. Continuous travel over the same route on ice will weaken it.

The removal of snow from the surface of ice will usually increase its thickness during subsequent freezes. Two inches of ice will support one man on foot, three inches will support a group of people in single file while seven and a half inches will support a car or truck of two gross tons and 12 inches a heavy truck of eight gross tons.

Ice thickness is not always an accurate measure of its strength or safeness. New ice is stronger than old and ice formed by direct freezing of lake waters is stronger than that formed from melting snow.

Ice may be weakened by continual pressure and during certain conditions of high wind velocity, ice may break loose regardless of its thickness.

OHIO'S SECOND TURKEY hunting will be May 3-6. The state will issue 500 free permits for the hunt.

A public drawing will be held in the Wildlife headquarters March 28. Each successful applicant will be permitted to take a companion.

Interested hunters should send their name, address and 1966 license number on a post card to Turkey Hunt, Ohio Division of Wildlife, 1500 Dublin Road, Columbus, Ohio 43212.

Applications will be accepted through March 24. Persons submitting more than one application will be disqualified.

Wild turkeys may be hunted with shotgun or longbow in Adams, Athens, Hocking, Ross, Monroe, Pike, Scioto, Vinton and Washington Counties.

A TOTAL OF 1,007 deer were taken in Ohio during the past season. This is more than double the 394 taken in 1965.

In the northwest zone, 215 deer were bagged, with about one hunter in every 10 being successful. Last year 66 were taken in the same area.

In the eastern zone, which covered approximately the eastern half of the state, 792 antlered bucks were processed through checking stations. In 1965, 328 bucks were taken in about a third less area and with one less hunting day.

The high kill counties were Athens, 65; Washington, 58; Muskingum, 54; Hocking, 42; Trumbull, 40; Vinton, 38; Meigs, 34; Morgan, 34, and Guernsey, 34.

HUNTING ACCIDENTS dropped approximately 100 per cent this year, compared to a similar period in 1965.

Fatal and non-fatal accidents in 1966 through November were four and 42, respectively, as contrasted with nine fatals and 68 non-fatals for the same period in 1965.

Dan C. Arbruster, wildlife chief, has commended hunters for their safety in the field and urges sportsmen and civic organizations to continue their good work of providing gun safety instructions to all interested persons.

Most of the accidents were a result of shooting at game while hunting partners were in the line of fire.

OF INTEREST TO GUN BUFFS and hunters who enjoy fine guns was the announcement this week of the return of the L. C. Smith side-by-side double barrel.

The Marlin Firearms Co. plans to produce a very limited number of the guns this year. They have not been on the market for more than 10 years.

The double is virtually hand-made and is of the side-lock design. The sideplates are fitted into the frame and extend back to where they are inletted into the stock. These sideplates contain the entire firing mechanism, a separate plate for each barrel.

No price has been announced and the company says it probably will only produce a few before next hunting season.

The Lighter Side

A bit of real Americana faded from the scene not many years ago with the demise of the Sunday newspaper supplement that was at once the common man's encyclopedia and prime source of entertainment on rainy weekends.

Replete with lurid illustrations and some of the most fantastic type faces ever devised by western man, the supplements managed to come up every week with so-called "gee whiz" stories—the kind that made the yokels exclaim: "Gee Whiz!" at first glance.

Printed on ordinary paper stock in the regular page size, as contrasted with today's chintzy tabloid supplements that use coated paper and lavish color illustrations, the old time production offered at least one axe murder per week, along with hair raising accounts of theater fires, steamship explosions and packinghouse scandals and a smattering of pseudo scientific information on everything from Bang Disease to St. Vitus Dance.

Hearst's American Weekly was the front-runner in the field and the last to bow from the scene —long after the reading public's sophistication outstripped the general level of its offerings.

BUT IN ITS heyday, the Sunday supplement was one of the mostly-read sections of the bulky newspaper, always good for a laugh or two in the midst of the lurid accounts of the goings on of Society with a capital "S" in Newport or the moral degeneration sure to result from such outlandish dances as the Charleston or the Black Bottom.

Poor old King Tutankhamen was rousted from his place in the British Museum at least twice a year and trotted through the pulp pages for the edification of the readers in Kokomo and Walla Walla, always with an exhaustive recounting of the curse that was reported to have surrounded his burial place in the Egyptian Desert.

The stories of the aberrations and shenanigans of the idle rich usually ended on a moral tone, as befitted a good family newspaper of the day.

It was the recounting of the foibles leading up to the moralistic conclusion that drew the readers. They usually overlooked the moral in the general tongue clucking and head shaking that followed the denouncement.

One new development in a notorious murder, custody or divorce case was enough to keep the typewriters clacking along Park Row for weeks.

For instance, if one of the famous figures in the Hall-Mills murder case broke a finger nail, it was good for a full-page spread on all the bizarre developments, with a judicious recounting of all the evidence adduced in the trial of the persons accused of the slayings of the minister and the choir singer.

The principal characters in all the sordid dramas were known by tag lines such as "The Pig Woman" or "The Blind Seer of Woonsocket" that were immediately identifiable by every avid supplement reader.

THE SAME ILLUSTRATIONS were used over and over, but the readers in those innocent days never tired of staring at an artist's conception of the scene that day in Fall River when Lizzie Borden wielded her famous axe or the confrontation between Stanley White and Harry Thaw on the steps at Madison Square Garden.

The antics of Daddy Browning and his child bride, Peaches Heenan, were good for reams of copy, as was the untimely demise of Rudolph Valentino, an Italian immigrant who was a Hollywood celebrity before he had mastered the language.

Many of the writers looked far into the future, for who can contradict a forecast that is placed well beyond the life span of anyone now living?

Endlessly they worked over the future of that new invention, the flying machine, and conjured up pictures of the potentialities of the submarine and the automobile. In some of their most lurid imaginings, the hack writers of two generations ago struck pretty close to home.

And there were tales of the ill luck that surrounded the careers of all the persons who had possessed the mighty diamond supposedly stolen from the forehead of a leering heathen idol in India; stories of the men who ventured up the far reaches of the Amazon or fought their way to the North Pole and repetitive accounts of the famous meeting between Stanley and Livingstone in Africa.

ANYTHING WAS GRIST for the mill. Grover Cleveland Bergdoll's name became a household word, thanks to the endless recounting of his flight from the draft in World War I. When Earl Carroll sneezed, Babe Ruth took a new chaw of tobacco or Tom Mix twirled the cylinder on one of his trusty six-shooters, it was all good copy.

Other celebrities got the treatment, too, whether it was Pancho Villa, Calvin Coolidge, William Allen White, Red Grange, Mark Hanna, Pola Negri—or the King of England.

The sinking of the Titanic was good for recounting at least once a year, as were the Haymarket riot, the Chicago Fire, the San Francisco earthquake, the Iroquois Theater disaster and the plague of the Middle Ages.

Sex, murder, disaster and halocaust—in that order—were the main stock in trade of the writers who ground out the stories on a weekly schedule.

They're gone now, most of them to the land where all deadlines are met without struggle and all the editors are saints.

But their direct descendants are writing scripts for such television shows as "Peyton Place" or "Edge of Night."

You And The Law

As a rule, the greatest hazard on a dance floor is a pained look from your partner or a smirk of superiority from nearby couples. But worse things can happen.

If you should suffer bodily injury while dancing in a night club or a dance hall, may you collect damages from the management?

There is one big obstacle to winning such a claim. The law says you assume a degree of risk simply by venturing onto a dance floor in the first place.

Although dancing is not as risky as roller skating, it is riskier than just sitting—and you should realize it. Certainly you could not hold the management liable for a back sprain caused by your own overindulgence in the twist.

Consider these two instances:

A woman dancer who slipped blamed her resulting injury on the fact that the floor was waxed. And a man who tripped blamed the dimness of the lights.

But both victims were denied damages, because a floor reasonably waxed and lights reasonably dimmed are normal and desirable characteristics of a dance floor.

ON THE OTHER hand, the management, while not flatly guaranteeing your safety, must still take due care to prevent accidents. Falls caused by improperly applied wax or other faulty conditions are ordinarily good grounds for collecting.

In one state, a man crash-landed on a night club floor after skidding on a grape. The court there granted his claim for damages, on evidence that the grape — one of several — had been lying there long enough to have been discovered and removed by the club's employes.

Inspiration For Today

FR. WILLIAM J. LAWLER
St. Aloysius Catholic Church

A common expression used by each of us is the one; What time is it?

Have you ever considered just what is contained in the noun: time:

Time, the word used by poets, theologians, philosophers, cooks, travelers and school girls, has many and diverse meanings. We waste it, we make it up, we lose it and eventually it runs out on us.

For the business man, time may be the measure which will determine success or failure in his investment transactions. For the cook, time is the measure of heat to be applied to a roast or steak to make it palatable.

The schoolboy sees time as the distance between himself and his summer vacation. For the prisoner, time is a succession of dreary sunsets between himself and his freedom. To the sick person, time is the balm which will mend a broken bone and restore health.

The theologian will recognize time as the opposite to eternity, man imprisoned in the former, God limitless in the latter. The philosopher defines time as the measure of change in created things.

Often we tend to blame time for our misfortunes. "Why does time drag" says the youngster eager for maturity. "Why does time go so fast" says the oldster for whom time is indeed running out.

The theme of time has fascinated writers and poets.

Time and tide wait for no man, we have heard too often.

What is time?

We can measure its effects, we can see its evidence. But what it is, we know not.

But certainly we should pause and give thought for a moment the next time someone says to us: what time is it?

Hearst's American Weekly was the front-runner in the field and the last to bow from the scene —long after the reading public's sophistication outstripped the general level of its offerings.

BUT IN ITS heyday, the Sunday supplement was one of the mostly-read sections of the bulky newspaper, always good for a laugh or two in the midst of the lurid accounts of the goings on of Society with a capital "S" in Newport or the moral degeneration sure to result from such outlandish dances as the Charleston or the Black Bottom.

Poor old King Tutankhamen was rousted from his place in the British Museum at least twice a year and trotted through the pulp pages for the edification of the readers in Kokomo and Walla Walla, always with an exhaustive recounting of the curse that was reported to have surrounded his burial place in the Egyptian Desert.

The stories of the aberrations and shenanigans of the idle rich usually ended on a moral tone, as befitted a good family newspaper of the day.

It was the recounting of the foibles leading up to the moralistic conclusion that drew the readers. They usually overlooked the moral in the general tongue clucking and head shaking that followed the denouncement.

One new development in a notorious murder, custody or divorce case was enough to keep the typewriters clacking along Park Row for weeks.

For instance, if one of the famous figures in the Hall-Mills murder case broke a finger nail, it was good for a full-page spread on all the bizarre developments, with a judicious recounting of all the evidence adduced in the trial of the persons accused of the slayings of the minister and the choir singer.

The principal characters in all the sordid dramas were known by tag lines such as "The Pig Woman" or "The Blind Seer of Woonsocket" that were immediately identifiable by every avid supplement reader.

THE SAME ILLUSTRATIONS were used over and over, but the readers in those innocent days never tired of staring at an artist's conception of the scene that day in Fall River when Lizzie Borden wielded her famous axe or the confrontation between Stanley White and Harry Thaw on the steps at Madison Square Garden.

The antics of Daddy Browning and his child bride, Peaches Heenan, were good for reams of copy, as was the untimely demise of Rudolph Valentino, an Italian immigrant who was a Hollywood celebrity before he had mastered the language.

Many of the writers looked far into the future, for who can contradict a forecast that is placed well beyond the life span of anyone now living?

Endlessly they worked over the future of that new invention, the flying machine, and conjured up pictures of the potentialities of the submarine and the automobile. In some of their most lurid imaginings, the hack writers of two generations ago struck pretty close to home.

And there were tales of the ill luck that surrounded the careers of all the persons who had possessed the mighty diamond supposedly stolen from the forehead of a leering heathen idol in India; stories of the men who ventured up the far reaches of the Amazon or fought their way to the North Pole and repetitive accounts of the famous meeting between Stanley and Livingstone in Africa.

ANYTHING WAS GRIST for the mill. Grover Cleveland Bergdoll's name became a household word, thanks to the endless recounting of his flight from the draft in World War I. When Earl Carroll sneezed, Babe Ruth took a new chaw of tobacco or Tom Mix twirled the cylinder on one of his trusty six-shooters, it was all good copy.

Other celebrities got the treatment, too, whether it was Pancho Villa, Calvin Coolidge, William Allen White, Red Grange, Mark Hanna, Pola Negri—or the King of England.

The sinking of the Titanic was good for recounting at least once a year, as were the Haymarket riot, the Chicago Fire, the San Francisco earthquake, the Iroquois Theater disaster and the plague of the Middle Ages.

Sex, murder, disaster and halocaust—in that order—were the main stock in trade of the writers who ground out the stories on a weekly schedule.

They're gone now, most of them to the land where all deadlines are met without struggle and all the editors are saints.

But their direct descendants are writing scripts for such television shows as "Peyton Place" or "Edge of Night."

You And The Law

As a rule, the greatest hazard on a dance floor is a pained look from your partner or a smirk of superiority from nearby couples. But worse things can happen.

If you should suffer bodily injury while dancing in a night club or a dance hall, may you collect damages from the management?

There is one big obstacle to winning such a claim. The law says you assume a degree of risk simply by venturing onto a dance floor in the first place.

Although dancing is not as risky as roller skating, it is riskier than just sitting—and you should realize it. Certainly you could not hold the management liable for a back sprain caused by your own overindulgence in the twist.

Consider these two instances:

A woman dancer who slipped blamed her resulting injury on the fact that the floor was waxed. And a man who tripped blamed the dimness of the lights.

But both victims were denied damages, because a floor reasonably waxed and lights reasonably dimmed are normal and desirable characteristics of a dance floor.

ON THE OTHER hand, the management, while not flatly guaranteeing your safety, must still take due care to prevent accidents. Falls caused by improperly applied wax or other faulty conditions are ordinarily good grounds for collecting.

In one state, a man crash-landed on a night club floor after skidding on a grape. The court there granted his claim for damages, on evidence that the grape — one of several — had been lying there long enough to have been discovered and removed by the club's employes.

JOHN McCORD
Southern Local Senior.

Golfing claims part of the spare time of John McCord, an active Southern Local High School senior who plans to attend the Ohio State University after graduation.

McCord, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McCord of Summitville, was a 3-year letterman in both football and basketball and captain of both teams this year.

He is on the yearbook staff, a member of the Latin Club and Future Teachers of America, class president for two years, served on the Student Council and was on both the track and baseball teams.

During the past football season he received honorable mention on the Columbiana County All Star and All Eastern Ohio football teams. He was also on the Buckeye Border Defensive first team.

John intends to enter the College of Arts and Sciences at Ohio State University.

Inspiration For Today

FR. WILLIAM J. LAWLER
St. Aloysius Catholic Church

A common expression used by each of us is the one; What time is it?

Have you ever considered just what is contained in the noun: time:

Time, the word used by poets, theologians, philosophers, cooks, travelers and school girls, has many and diverse meanings. We waste it, we make it up, we lose it and eventually it runs out on us.

For the business man, time may be the measure which will determine success or failure in his investment transactions. For the cook, time is the measure of heat to be applied to a roast or steak to make it palatable.

The schoolboy sees time as the distance between himself and his summer vacation. For the prisoner, time is a succession of dreary sunsets between himself and his freedom. To the sick person, time is the balm which will mend a broken bone and restore health.

The theologian will recognize time as the opposite to eternity, man imprisoned in the former, God limitless in the latter. The philosopher defines time as the measure of change in created things.

Often we tend to blame time for our misfortunes. "Why does time drag" says the youngster eager for maturity. "Why does time go so fast" says the oldster for whom time is indeed running out.

The theme of time has fascinated writers and poets.

Time and tide wait for no man, we have heard too often.

What is time?

We can measure its effects, we can see its evidence. But what it is, we know not.

But certainly we should pause and give thought for a moment the next time someone says to us: what time is it?

'Ed Page'

His associates at the Bergen (N. J.) Evening Record, where Edward L. Bennett is circulation manager, got together and published a one-page "special edition" in observance of the occasion.

Headlined "Half Century of E. L. Bennett," the edition carried a review of Ed's life, including his rise to his present high position among the nation's circulation managers. Brightening the page were photos from the time Ed was a youth until today.

If you enjoy the flavor of pumpkin, try this bread recipe submitted by Miss Sally Bussard of 821 Bank St.

Pumpkin Bread

Mix in order given:
4 eggs, beaten
1¼ cups cooking oil
2 cups pumpkin
2 cups sugar
Sift together and add:
3 cups flour
2 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. allspice
½ tsp. nutmeg
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. soda
Add 1 cup chopped nuts or dates if desired.

Bake in greased loaf pans for 1 hour at 350 degrees. Makes 2 or 3 loaves.

CORRECTION

A line was inadvertently omitted in the recipe for "Crown Jewel Pie" which appeared on last week's feature pie.

Prepare the strawberry gelatin according to the recipe, then when slightly jelled, whip until fluffy, then blend in with the previously whipped Dream Whip.

If You Deal In Stocks, These Tips Should Help

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

All stock sales made during 1966 must be recorded on Schedule D, a special supplement to be attached to your Form 1040.

Your broker's buy-and-sell confirmation slips should supply you all the information you need to complete the schedule.

First, separate your transactions into short-term and long-term deals. If you held the asset six months or less before the sale, it is a short-term. Sales involving assets held longer than six months are long-term.

REPORT first all short-term transactions indicating any losses in brackets () in the margin. Commingle the gains and losses to arrive at a net short-term gain or loss.

Follow the same procedure with your long-term transactions arriving finally at a net long-term gain or loss.

The net short-term gain or loss and the net long - term gain or loss are then combined. If there is a net short-term gain and a net long - term gain, deduct 50 per cent of long-term gain.

If the result is a net long-term loss, reduce the remainder by 50 per cent. If the result is a short-term gain, after reduction by long-term loss, it is taxed at 100 per cent.

If a net loss results, it is fully deductible against ordinary income up to a maximum of $1,000.

Any unused loss carryover from preceding years may be used to offset gains.

A LOSS carryover retains its original character. If it results originally from short - term transactions it retains that identity and is used against short-term gains each year. If it resulted from long-term transactions it consistently remains in the long - term category until finally used up.

Formerly, loss carryovers expired in five years if not used. Now they may be carried forward indefinitely until exhausted.

Chicago Rites Of Ruby Held

CHICAGO (AP) — Jack Ruby was buried Friday in a snow-swept cemetery amidst a group of family and friends.

Ruby, 55, died Tuesday of a blood clot and cancer in Dallas, Tex.

Rabbi David Graubart, conducting the funeral service, termed Ruby "the avenger of a martyred president."

Two days after President John F. Kennedy's assassination, Ruby shot and killed Lee Harvey Oswald in a Dallas police station. Oswald was named the president's killer by the Warren Commission.

Ruby, born in Chicago, was laid to rest in a Conservative Jewish ceremony climaxed by his three brothers' reading of the Kaddish, a Jewish prayer similar to the Lord's Prayer.

Ruby's four sisters were also at the graveside services in Westlawn Cemetery. Six policemen stood watch at the canopied gravesite.

Rabbi Graubart told the mourners at the funeral chapel that "on the surface, Ruby was an avenger. He was an avenger of the blood who pursued the manslayer while the blood was hot."

The services were only for 60 family members and friends. Another 100 persons including newsmen and television cameramen observed from a distance. Ruby was buried next to his mother in the family plot.

Conspiracy, Macing Charge Dismissed

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Conspiracy and macing charges against two Washington County commissioners and two county employes have been dismissed by a grand jury.

Commissioners Michael R. Flyn and John F. Bevec, both Democrats, and Chief Clerk F. William Kittridge and Bridge Superintendent Frank Haffner were accused of forcing county employes to donate money to a "Boosters Club."

The charges were filed by Anne Connor, former clerk in the county food surplus program, who said the club used the money for political and personal purposes.

Long Lineup Faces Judge

Court Suspends Permits For 2 Cited As Speeders

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff Friday decreed 15-day suspensions in the operator's permits of an East Liverpool man and a Youngstown youth cited on speeding charges by the State Highway Patrol.

Roy S. Cox, 23, of 132 W. 4th St. pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding 80 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. He was cited last Saturday at 1:30 a.m., the patrol said.

Edward C. Thompson, 20, of Youngstown, pleaded "no contest" on a charge of speeding 85 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the city section of the Freeway. The patrol said he was cited Dec. 23 at 7:15 p.m.

LEARNING THAT Thompson is a student at Youngstown University, the judge granted him the right to drive during the suspension period, but only to and from classes. Each of the defendants also was fined $20 and costs.

Seven other drivers also faced the court on speeding charges.

Walter L. Allen, 31, of Youngstown and Charles Martin, 49, of Struthers were fined $15 and costs each when they pleaded guilty to a patrol charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the Freeway. The two construction workers were cited at 5:15 p.m. Thursday, the patrol reported.

Thomas J. Hinchcliffe, 29, of Lisbon R.D. 2 was fined $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7. He was cited last Saturday at 1:50 a.m., the patrol said.

Jane L. Mowery, 41, of Post Office Box 263, Salem, was fined $15 and costs after pleading "no contest" on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 30. She was cited by the patrol Dec. 29 at 1 p.m.

Jay Walter Williamson of 2037 Clark Ave., Wellsville, drew a fine of $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on Route 7. He was cited Tuesday at 7:50 a.m., the patrol said. Williamson pleaded "no contest."

Wayne E. Baker, 52, of Wellsville R.D. 1 was fined $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd. He was cited Dec 28 at 7 a.m., the patrol said.

THE JUDGE set a hearing next Wednesday at 9 a.m. for Ben Feldman, 54, of 3285 St. Clair Ave., who pleaded not guilty to a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 45-mile zone on Route 30. He was cited Wednesday at 11:05 p.m., the patrol reported. Feldman was represented by Ben H. Berman.

The court ordered bench warrants for two defendants who failed to appear. They are David L. Howard, 30, of 357 Ogden St., arrested by the patrol Saturday at 10:45 a.m. on Route 170 on a charge of operating an auto without a proper muffler, and Jack E. McCuen, 32, of 1707 Idaho Ave., arrested by the patrol Dec. 28 at 6:45 a.m. on Route 7 on charges of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone and operating an auto without a driver's license.

Four States Eye Compact On Pollution

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The governors of Pennsylvania and three surrounding states and federal officials have been invited to meet here Feb. 3 to discuss a proposal for a compact on interstate air pollution controls.

State Sen. Charles R. Weiner, D-Phila., chairman of the State Commission on Interstate Cooperation, said Friday that an outline for a four-state compact — covering Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey and New York—would be presented at the meeting.

The four states are already participating in or are considering more limited regional air pollution agreements.

The four governors already have an informal agreement reached during the recent National Governors Conference that none of their states will provide a haven for industries dodging air pollution controls of other states.

Tungsten Producer Sets Price Increase

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The price of tungsten carbide products produced by Firth Sterling, Inc., will increase as much as 10 per cent Feb. 1.

The company announced Friday price increases of 6 per cent on all standard tungsten products and 10 per cent on special products made by its Tungsten Division.

The company said increased material costs prompted the action.

Shafer Asks Quick Report On Fund Need

HARRISBURG (AP) — Faced with the prospect of a possible tax increase to meet the budget of his new administration, Gov.-elect Raymond P. Shafer is asking his special tax study commission to submit an emergency report by March 1 on immediate state revenue needs.

"This, I know, is short notice, but essential," he told the commission members at a meeting Friday.

He also told the bipartisan commission, which he appointed recently, that he wanted it to make a long range study of the state's "over-all revenue requirements and how they will be met at both the state and local levels."

It has been estimated that the Shafer Administration will have to come up with $200 million in additional revenue in the next fiscal year to pay for spending authorized by the 1965 and 1966 legislatures.

This figure does not include the cost of any programs the administration may wish to pass.

Shafer said that because of the "enormous task" confronting the commission, he has asked the Department of Community affairs to assist in the project.

Monthly Report Given For Deeds And Mortgages

LISBON — Columbiana County recorded 278 deeds and 141 mortgages in December. The deeds represented $1,343,198 and the mortgages $1,338,590.

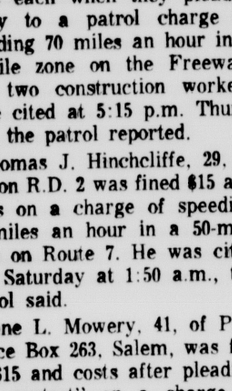

Recorder John P. Wargo said the number of deeds is approximately 100 more than for the same period a year ago, while the mortgages compare with 209 in December 1965.

Other instruments recorded last month were:

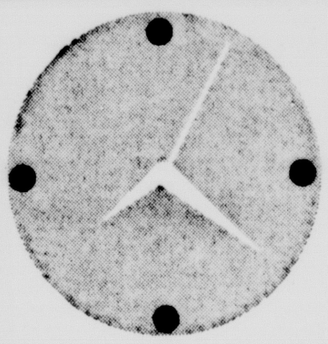

Mortgage cancellations, 305 ($1,722,734); financing statements, 484; termination of financing statements, 94; federal tax releases, 31; coal, gas, oil and building leases, 25; service discharges, 20; federal tax liens, 10; surety bond releases, 9; unemployment compensation liens, 6; mechanic's liens, 4; plats, 3; personal tax releases, 2, and surety bond and power of attorney, 1 each.

If a net loss results, it is fully deductible against ordinary income up to a maximum of $1,000.

Any unused loss carryover from preceding years may be used to offset gains.

A LOSS carryover retains its original character. If it results originally from short - term transactions it retains that identity and is used against short-term gains each year. If it resulted from long-term transactions it consistently remains in the long - term category until finally used up.

Formerly, loss carryovers expired in five years if not used. Now they may be carried forward indefinitely until exhausted.

Chicago Rites Of Ruby Held

CHICAGO (AP) — Jack Ruby was buried Friday in a snow-swept cemetery amidst a group of family and friends.

Ruby, 55, died Tuesday of a blood clot and cancer in Dallas, Tex.

Rabbi David Graubart, conducting the funeral service, termed Ruby "the avenger of a martyred president."

Two days after President John F. Kennedy's assassination, Ruby shot and killed Lee Harvey Oswald in a Dallas police station. Oswald was named the president's killer by the Warren Commission.

Ruby, born in Chicago, was laid to rest in a Conservative Jewish ceremony climaxed by his three brothers' reading of the Kaddish, a Jewish prayer similar to the Lord's Prayer.

Ruby's four sisters were also at the graveside services in Westlawn Cemetery. Six policemen stood watch at the canopied gravesite.

Rabbi Graubart told the mourners at the funeral chapel that "on the surface, Ruby was an avenger. He was an avenger of the blood who pursued the manslayer while the blood was hot."

The services were only for 60 family members and friends. Another 100 persons including newsmen and television cameramen observed from a distance. Ruby was buried next to his mother in the family plot.

Conspiracy, Macing Charge Dismissed

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Conspiracy and macing charges against two Washington County commissioners and two county employes have been dismissed by a grand jury.

Commissioners Michael R. Flyn and John F. Bevec, both Democrats, and Chief Clerk F. William Kittridge and Bridge Superintendent Frank Haffner were accused of forcing county employes to donate money to a "Boosters Club."

The charges were filed by Anne Connor, former clerk in the county food surplus program, who said the club used the money for political and personal purposes.

Long Lineup Faces Judge

Court Suspends Permits For 2 Cited As Speeders

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff Friday decreed 15-day suspensions in the operator's permits of an East Liverpool man and a Youngstown youth cited on speeding charges by the State Highway Patrol.

Roy S. Cox, 23, of 132 W. 4th St. pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding 80 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. He was cited last Saturday at 1:30 a.m., the patrol said.

Edward C. Thompson, 20, of Youngstown, pleaded "no contest" on a charge of speeding 85 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the city section of the Freeway. The patrol said he was cited Dec. 23 at 7:15 p.m.

LEARNING THAT Thompson is a student at Youngstown University, the judge granted him the right to drive during the suspension period, but only to and from classes. Each of the defendants also was fined $20 and costs.

Seven other drivers also faced the court on speeding charges.

Walter L. Allen, 31, of Youngstown and Charles Martin, 49, of Struthers were fined $15 and costs each when they pleaded guilty to a patrol charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the Freeway. The two construction workers were cited at 5:15 p.m. Thursday, the patrol reported.

Thomas J. Hinchcliffe, 29, of Lisbon R.D. 2 was fined $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7. He was cited last Saturday at 1:50 a.m., the patrol said.

Jane L. Mowery, 41, of Post Office Box 263, Salem, was fined $15 and costs after pleading "no contest" on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 30. She was cited by the patrol Dec. 29 at 1 p.m.

Jay Walter Williamson of 2037 Clark Ave., Wellsville, drew a fine of $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on Route 7. He was cited Tuesday at 7:50 a.m., the patrol said. Williamson pleaded "no contest."

Wayne E. Baker, 52, of Wellsville R.D. 1 was fined $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd. He was cited Dec 28 at 7 a.m., the patrol said.

THE JUDGE set a hearing next Wednesday at 9 a.m. for Ben Feldman, 54, of 3285 St. Clair Ave., who pleaded not guilty to a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 45-mile zone on Route 30. He was cited Wednesday at 11:05 p.m., the patrol reported. Feldman was represented by Ben H. Berman.

The court ordered bench warrants for two defendants who failed to appear. They are David L. Howard, 30, of 357 Ogden St., arrested by the patrol Saturday at 10:45 a.m. on Route 170 on a charge of operating an auto without a proper muffler, and Jack E. McCuen, 32, of 1707 Idaho Ave., arrested by the patrol Dec. 28 at 6:45 a.m. on Route 7 on charges of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone and operating an auto without a driver's license.

Four States Eye Compact On Pollution

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The governors of Pennsylvania and three surrounding states and federal officials have been invited to meet here Feb. 3 to discuss a proposal for a compact on interstate air pollution controls.

State Sen. Charles R. Weiner, D-Phila., chairman of the State Commission on Interstate Cooperation, said Friday that an outline for a four-state compact — covering Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey and New York—would be presented at the meeting.

The four states are already participating in or are considering more limited regional air pollution agreements.

The four governors already have an informal agreement reached during the recent National Governors Conference that none of their states will provide a haven for industries dodging air pollution controls of other states.

Tungsten Producer Sets Price Increase

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The price of tungsten carbide products produced by Firth Sterling, Inc., will increase as much as 10 per cent Feb. 1.

The company announced Friday price increases of 6 per cent on all standard tungsten products and 10 per cent on special products made by its Tungsten Division.

The company said increased material costs prompted the action.

Shafer Asks Quick Report On Fund Need

HARRISBURG (AP) — Faced with the prospect of a possible tax increase to meet the budget of his new administration, Gov.-elect Raymond P. Shafer is asking his special tax study commission to submit an emergency report by March 1 on immediate state revenue needs.

"This, I know, is short notice, but essential," he told the commission members at a meeting Friday.

He also told the bipartisan commission, which he appointed recently, that he wanted it to make a long range study of the state's "over-all revenue requirements and how they will be met at both the state and local levels."

It has been estimated that the Shafer Administration will have to come up with $200 million in additional revenue in the next fiscal year to pay for spending authorized by the 1965 and 1966 legislatures.

This figure does not include the cost of any programs the administration may wish to pass.

Shafer said that because of the "enormous task" confronting the commission, he has asked the Department of Community affairs to assist in the project.

Potters' Slowdown Tactics Fail In 63-37 Loss To East

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Columbus East worked around East Liverpool's slowdown tactics to score a 63-37 victory and run its unbeaten string to eight straight Friday night before some 1,500 fans at Memorial Auditorium.

The highly - touted Tigers, rated one of Ohio's top schoolboy basketball teams, successfully picked their way through the Potters' zone defense to hand the Blue and White its fourth setback in seven starts.

EAST Liverpool will attempt to rebound tonight against Youngstown East, which brings a 3-4 record to the MA. The reserve game will get under way at 6:45, with the varsity tipoff due about 8:15.

Columbus East didn't get a chance to flex its muscles and run over the Potters as East Liverpool coach Clint McConnell elected to play it close to the vest and work for the good shot.

East Liverpool's strategy was good in the sense that it slowed down the game, but the Potters, although they had good shots, failed to hit with any consistency.

The Potters shot a poor 28 per cent, making only 16 of 57.

COLUMBUS EAST started a team that measured 6-6, 6-5, 6-4 and 5-10. One ailing regular, Vance Carr, 6-3½, did not make the trip and was replaced by 5-10 Howard Harris, a deadly outside shot who got the Tigers rolling in the opening minutes.

Bob Hart, the Columbus East coach who won a state championship there in 1963, wasn't completely satisfied with his team's performance, especially around the boards.

"WE DIDN'T rebound as well as we usually do, but I feel that Mitchell Jones hit the boards well for East Liverpool and kept us from dominating them," Hart added.

Jones, although he didn't score from the field, grabbed 10 rebounds and put up a game battle on the backboards.

The final count showed Columbus with a 35-26 edge in rebounds. The Tigers shot 46 per cent from the field, hitting 26 of 56 shots.

MCCONNELL pointed out after the contest that his team was getting the good shot, but not hitting. The Potters showed improvement, cutting down their turnovers, but were no match overall for the high-jumping Tigers.

The Tigers showed a well-disciplined team that worked for the inside shot. But, as Hart explained after the game, when a team sets up a zone defense he inserts Harris for the outside shot.

HARRIS hit three out of four in the first period to put Columbus on top 13-5 at the end of the opening quarter.

Sophomore Ed Ratliff, standing 6-5, took over in the second period to score seven points, while his running mate Alonzo Connor, another 6-5 sophomore, added five points and increased the margin to 29-15.

East Liverpool hit a very dry spell in the third quarter and didn't register a field goal until 58 seconds were left in the period. Mike McVay broke the ice from the field, but up to that time, East was outscoring the Potters 12-2 to take a 43-21 advantage into the final eight minutes.

THE WELL - balanced Tigers put four players in the double figures, with Raliff's 15 showing the way. Connor added 14, Harris 13 and Randy Smith 11.

Juniors Earl Diddle and McVay each scored 10 for the Potters, while leading scorer Vern Smith hit four of 13 shots for eight points, but went scoreless in the second half. Bruce Christian finished with eight points, all coming in the final period.

Christian did not start for the Potters Friday night as Darryl Herring moved into the first five.

East Liverpool never led in the game as Harry Hairston opened the scoring for the Tigers before Diddle converted a foul. The next six points were scored by East for an 8-1 lead and the pattern of the game had formed.

HE WENT THAT AWAY. It appears that Randy Smith of Columbus East has a third arm as he comes down with a rebound against East Liverpool Potters Friday night at Memorial Auditorium.

Toronto Star Tallies 27 In Loop Tilt

Toronto moved out to a 25-10 first period lead and was on top 42-23 at halftime and 67-35 after three quarters.

Wellsville, victorious in one game so far this season, received a 22-point performance from its leading scorer Bob Morehead who hit nine times from the field and four of five from the foul line.

Symons and three others hit the double figures mark for Toronto as Allen and Fisher accounted for 15 each and Lukacena added 11.

Toronto will play host to a dangerous Southern team tonight.

Campbell's 18 Sets Pace For Beavers

Beaver Local showed a three-way scoring attack to roll over the hapless Golden Bears of Oak Glen, 67-40 Friday night on the Beaver court.

Rex Campbell, a transfer from East Liverpool joined Bill Barnhart and Don Lyle to give the Beavers a trio of scorers in the double figures Friday night.

Campbell led the way with 18 points while Barnhart added 14 and Lyle 13. Coach Lloyd Stockdale's team which pushed its record to 5-4, built up an early lead which never diminished and the closest Oak Glen got after the first quarter was 23 points.

Beaver Local shot 45 per cent from the floor compared to 34 per cent for Oak Glen.

Jim Carnes led Oak Glen with 11 points. The loss was the seventh in a row for Oak Glen which only has won its opener.

Gilmer Dropped, Joe Schmidt Set To Coach Detroit

William Clay Ford, owner of the National Football League team, officially fired Gilmer Friday. Gilmer had one year left on his three-year contract.

Ford said of Schmidt, "Joe is my only candidate for the job. I discussed the situation with him recently.

Gilmer will be paid in full for 1967 (an estimated $35,000), Ford said.

"It always is an unpleasant step to take," Ford said. "However, my goal is to field a winning football team in Detroit, and I reluctantly have come to the conclusion that our chances would be better with a change of head coaches."

Gilmer, often the subject of criticism from fans and players, compiled a 6-7-1 record his first year and a last place 4-9-1 mark in 1966.

Schmidt was a standout linebacker for the Lions for 13 seasons. The 34-year-old Schmidt was called a very good coach by Gilmer, who said Schmidt had a great ability to impart to the players exactly what he wanted of them.

JU Rallies To Nip Stanton

Stanton Local had Jefferson Union on the hook but let the Jackets get away in dropping a 70-69 verdict Friday night at JU.

Stanton led all the way until the final minute when with 28 seconds to go Grafton made two free throws that put JU in front for the final margin. The loss leaves Stanton with a 3-5 record.

The Red Raiders held a 22-11 first quarter lead, 43-35 at halftime and was on top 62-55 after three periods. Even with two minutes remaining, Stanton led by seven points but JU rallied to grab the victory.

Stanton was in foul trouble most of the contest but still managed to hold the lead until the end. Four Stanton starters had fouled out by the final whistle.

Stanton also had a big edge of 24-17 from the field but JU cashed in on 36 of 49 foul attempts.

Kelly and Grafton with 26 and 23 each paced JU. Frampton and Oleskey led Stanton with 15 each.

Leetonia Edges Lisbon For 55-54 League Win

LISBON — A gym full of home town Lisbon fans were disappointed as they watched the Blue Devils fall at the hands of Leetonia 55-54 Friday night.

The evenly - matched teams alternated the lead throughout the game but Lisbon took a one-point edge into the dressing rooms at half - time.

The winning bucket came with 21 seconds left in the contest. Blue Devil cagers had three opportunities to resume the lead between that point and the buzzer but failed each time, including a lay-up.

High scorer for Lisbon was Don Blair who had 19. Leetonia's Bill Dinzio was good for 16 points.

The reserve game was also taken by the Bears of Leetonia 44-32.

Potters' Slowdown Tactics Fail In 63-37 Loss To East

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Columbus East worked around East Liverpool's slowdown tactics to score a 63-37 victory and run its unbeaten string to eight straight Friday night before some 1,500 fans at Memorial Auditorium.

The highly - touted Tigers, rated one of Ohio's top schoolboy basketball teams, successfully picked their way through the Potters' zone defense to hand the Blue and White its fourth setback in seven starts.

EAST Liverpool will attempt to rebound tonight against Youngstown East, which brings a 3-4 record to the MA. The reserve game will get under way at 6:45, with the varsity tipoff due about 8:15.

Columbus East didn't get a chance to flex its muscles and run over the Potters as East Liverpool coach Clint McConnell elected to play it close to the vest and work for the good shot.

East Liverpool's strategy was good in the sense that it slowed down the game, but the Potters, although they had good shots, failed to hit with any consistency.

The Potters shot a poor 28 per cent, making only 16 of 57.

COLUMBUS EAST started a team that measured 6-6, 6-5, 6-4 and 5-10. One ailing regular, Vance Carr, 6-3½, did not make the trip and was replaced by 5-10 Howard Harris, a deadly outside shot who got the Tigers rolling in the opening minutes.

Bob Hart, the Columbus East coach who won a state championship there in 1963, wasn't completely satisfied with his team's performance, especially around the boards.

"WE DIDN'T rebound as well as we usually do, but I feel that Mitchell Jones hit the boards well for East Liverpool and kept us from dominating them," Hart added.

Jones, although he didn't score from the field, grabbed 10 rebounds and put up a game battle on the backboards.

The final count showed Columbus with a 35-26 edge in rebounds. The Tigers shot 46 per cent from the field, hitting 26 of 56 shots.

MCCONNELL pointed out after the contest that his team was getting the good shot, but not hitting. The Potters showed improvement, cutting down their turnovers, but were no match overall for the high-jumping Tigers.

The Tigers showed a well-disciplined team that worked for the inside shot. But, as Hart explained after the game, when a team sets up a zone defense he inserts Harris for the outside shot.

HARRIS hit three out of four in the first period to put Columbus on top 13-5 at the end of the opening quarter.

Sophomore Ed Ratliff, standing 6-5, took over in the second period to score seven points, while his running mate Alonzo Connor, another 6-5 sophomore, added five points and increased the margin to 29-15.

East Liverpool hit a very dry spell in the third quarter and didn't register a field goal until 58 seconds were left in the period. Mike McVay broke the ice from the field, but up to that time, East was outscoring the Potters 12-2 to take a 43-21 advantage into the final eight minutes.

THE WELL - balanced Tigers put four players in the double figures, with Raliff's 15 showing the way. Connor added 14, Harris 13 and Randy Smith 11.

Juniors Earl Diddle and McVay each scored 10 for the Potters, while leading scorer Vern Smith hit four of 13 shots for eight points, but went scoreless in the second half. Bruce Christian finished with eight points, all coming in the final period.

Christian did not start for the Potters Friday night as Darryl Herring moved into the first five.

East Liverpool never led in the game as Harry Hairston opened the scoring for the Tigers before Diddle converted a foul. The next six points were scored by East for an 8-1 lead and the pattern of the game had formed.

HE WENT THAT AWAY. It appears that Randy Smith of Columbus East has a third arm as he comes down with a rebound against East Liverpool Potters Friday night at Memorial Auditorium.

Toronto Star Tallies 27 In Loop Tilt

Toronto moved out to a 25-10 first period lead and was on top 42-23 at halftime and 67-35 after three quarters.

Wellsville, victorious in one game so far this season, received a 22-point performance from its leading scorer Bob Morehead who hit nine times from the field and four of five from the foul line.

Symons and three others hit the double figures mark for Toronto as Allen and Fisher accounted for 15 each and Lukacena added 11.

Toronto will play host to a dangerous Southern team tonight.

Campbell's 18 Sets Pace For Beavers

Beaver Local showed a three-way scoring attack to roll over the hapless Golden Bears of Oak Glen, 67-40 Friday night on the Beaver court.

Rex Campbell, a transfer from East Liverpool joined Bill Barnhart and Don Lyle to give the Beavers a trio of scorers in the double figures Friday night.

Campbell led the way with 18 points while Barnhart added 14 and Lyle 13. Coach Lloyd Stockdale's team which pushed its record to 5-4, built up an early lead which never diminished and the closest Oak Glen got after the first quarter was 23 points.

Beaver Local shot 45 per cent from the floor compared to 34 per cent for Oak Glen.

Jim Carnes led Oak Glen with 11 points. The loss was the seventh in a row for Oak Glen which only has won its opener.

Gilmer Dropped, Joe Schmidt Set To Coach Detroit

William Clay Ford, owner of the National Football League team, officially fired Gilmer Friday. Gilmer had one year left on his three-year contract.

Ford said of Schmidt, "Joe is my only candidate for the job. I discussed the situation with him recently.

Gilmer will be paid in full for 1967 (an estimated $35,000), Ford said.

"It always is an unpleasant step to take," Ford said. "However, my goal is to field a winning football team in Detroit, and I reluctantly have come to the conclusion that our chances would be better with a change of head coaches."

Gilmer, often the subject of criticism from fans and players, compiled a 6-7-1 record his first year and a last place 4-9-1 mark in 1966.

Schmidt was a standout linebacker for the Lions for 13 seasons. The 34-year-old Schmidt was called a very good coach by Gilmer, who said Schmidt had a great ability to impart to the players exactly what he wanted of them.

JU Rallies To Nip Stanton

Stanton Local had Jefferson Union on the hook but let the Jackets get away in dropping a 70-69 verdict Friday night at JU.

Stanton led all the way until the final minute when with 28 seconds to go Grafton made two free throws that put JU in front for the final margin. The loss leaves Stanton with a 3-5 record.

The Red Raiders held a 22-11 first quarter lead, 43-35 at halftime and was on top 62-55 after three periods. Even with two minutes remaining, Stanton led by seven points but JU rallied to grab the victory.

Stanton was in foul trouble most of the contest but still managed to hold the lead until the end. Four Stanton starters had fouled out by the final whistle.

Stanton also had a big edge of 24-17 from the field but JU cashed in on 36 of 49 foul attempts.

Midland Hits Season High To Rout Brighton, 85-43

Leopards Post Win No. 12

Midland hit its season's high in recording an 85-43 rout over New Brighton Friday night on the Midland court.

The victory left Midland and Monaca in a two-way deadlock for the WPIAL Section 6 lead with each team holding a 4-0 league mark. The triumph also was the 12th of the season for Coach Hank Kuzma's Leopards.

The contest was decided early as Midland ran up a 24-9 first period lead then cruised into the intermission with a 42-18 advantage.

After a 3-1 lead, the vaunted Leopards scored 13 consecutive points to put the game out of reach by late in the first period 16-1.

Midland won the contest in every department showing a 42-25 edge in rebounds as Mahurt grabbed 13. The Leopards shot 39 per cent on 33 of 85 and New Brighton fired at a 36 per cent clip with 17 of 47.

Lacey, Dye Lead Rout

Western Beaver Shatters Record With 101-80 Win

Western Beaver trounced Carnegie High School 101-80 Friday night shattering a school scoring record and floor record.

The victory put Western Beaver 2-1 in WPIAL Section 17-B although they are 3-9 on the season.

The teams both played well with the Carnegie Tartans hitting 36 per cent from the floor, and Western Beaver tallying for 45 per cent.

The last quarter saw 53 points scored by the teams, 30 by Carnegie and the balance by the Golden Beavers.

High scorer for the victors was six-footer Mike Lacey who had 29 while 5-5 Darrell Dye added 21. Danny Lorman secured 18 points for Carnegie.

Coach Dan Sekeres saw Dye, described as a "playmaker", hit for 11 points in the final frame. Clarence Andrews scored 15 points and was given credit for his passing and solid rebounding.

The Golden Beavers also took the reserve match 53-51.

Thomforde Has 24

Princeton Buries Brown 94 To 50

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Big Lew Alcindor who has led top-ranked UCLA to eight straight victories isn't the only former New York City youth making good in college basketball. There's Chris Thomforde of Princeton, who is helping bring back some of the glory days of the Bill Bradley era to the Nassau Tigers.

Alcindor and Thomforde both are 19-year-old sophomores, but there's a difference. Alcindor is 7-foot-1, Thomforde 6-foot-9.

Princeton, rapidly forging to the fore nationally, made it 10 victories in 11 starts by crushing Brown 94-50 Friday night at home in their Ivy League opener. Thomforde sat out 15 minutes but still paced the Tigers with 24 points.

Texas Western, the defending national champion, was the only team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action. The sixth-ranked Miners crushed Southern Mississippi 84-54 at El Paso, Tex., led by David Lattin's 24 points.

Yale made its record 3-0 in Ivy League play by beating Penn 86-74 at Philadelphia while Columbia downed Harvard 80-71 in New York and Cornell whipped Dartmouth 69-57 at Ithaca, N.Y.

On the road Idaho beat Montana 82-79, Gonzaga downed Montana State 80-71 in overtime and Miami of Florida defeated Jacksonville 75-71. New Mexico State humbled Hardin Simmons 69-51 at home.

Bullets Blow Lead To Lose 11th Straight

By The Associated Press

Before Jan. 1, the consistent Bullets won only eight of 36 games. The new year has brought only added misery.

First, they lost to Detroit, then they lost again to Detroit in overtime, and Friday night, they averted a near miracle by losing to Philadelphia 121-115 in overtime in Philadelphia.

The last setback came the hard way because the Bullets had to squander an 18-point lead in the third period before the 76ers could record their 38th victory against only four losses.

The defeat was the 11th straight for Baltimore, only six away from San Francisco's record 17 in 1964-65.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Bulls, the team that was supposed to do all the losing in the NBA, continued their turnabout by whipping the Detroit Pistons 135-125 in Detroit.

It was the 17th victory for the Bulls, the league's newest club.

Los Angeles, however, kept the Bulls in the Western Division cellar by edging the Boston Celtics 102-99.

Nate Thurmond's 30 points and 20 rebounds helped San Francisco overcome an 18-point deficit and beat the St. Louis Hawks 129-118.

Wally Jones and Chet Walker ruined any hopes the Bullets had of a form reversal as they each scored 28 points to lead the 76ers' comeback.

Luke Jackson's field goal with 43 seconds sent the game into overtime at 111-all. Walker then took over with two baskets and the Bullets were back in form.

Dies At Houston Home

Keane Claimed By Heart Attack

By WILL GRIMSLEY

HOUSTON (AP) — Johnny Keane, the gentlemanly little manager who suffered through one of baseball's most tragic success stories in reverse, is dead.

A massive heart attack at his home here Friday night claimed the mild, cigar-chomping perfectionist who won the world championship with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1964, only to be fired 18 months later by the New York Yankees when the American League club plunged to the cellar.

He was 55. He had spent more than half his life — 30 years — building a dream with the Cardinal chain.

When death came to him suddenly, he held the obscure position of special scout with the California Angels.

The baseball world was shocked and saddened. Keane, renowned as a good organizer, an astute manager and a person of extremely high principles, was universally respected and admired.

Bob Fishel, chief publicist for the Yankees, probably expressed the sentiments of most baseball personalities when he said:

"He was one of the finest men it has been my pleasure to be associated with. He was a marvelous human being."

Death came unexpectedly at around 10:30 p.m., EST. Keane complained of feeling ill shortly after dinner. He collapsed and died of what his physician, Dr. William C. Sutton, called a massive coronary occlusion.

Keane's widow, a daughter, Mrs. Pat Masterson, and two grandsons, all of Houston, survive. Services will be held here Monday or Tuesday.

Keane was the central figure in one of the game's most bizarre managerial shifts.

In 1963, Keane's Cardinals were barely beaten out for the National League pennant by the Los Angeles Dodgers after a streak of 19 victories in 20 games.

The next year reports persisted that both Keane and the St. Louis general manager, Devine, were headed for discard. In mid-season the Cards fired Devine and hired Bob Howsam. Leo Durocher was slated to replace Keane.

Then the Cardinals won the World Series from the New York Yankees, four games to three.

Keane was in a position to get almost anything he demanded in a contract renewal with the Cardinals. Instead, he quit and -in a startling turn-took over as manager of the Yankees, replacing the ousted Yogi Berra.

With Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris suffering injuries and the team generally riddled with misfortune, Keane was able to get the Yankees only as high as sixth in 1965.

Things went from bad to worse in 1966, and the team plunged to 10th place. It was then, apparently at the direction of the controlling Columbia Broadcasting System, that Keane was summarily fired in May and replaced by General Manager Ralph Houk.

Outwardly, Keane took the action philosophically.

Then, a team man to the end, he added: "If they can get them (the Yankees) hitting, that is all there will be to it. The pitching wasn't bad. We were just not hitting."

"Things like this happen in baseball," he said at the time. "You do your best, and that's all you can do."

Many said that the reason he failed with the Yankees was that he wasn't hard enough on the stars, such as Mantle and Maris.

Born Nov. 3, 1911, in St. Louis he broke into the Cardinal organization as shortstop with Globe of the Arizona State League in 1929 after reportedly considering a career in the priesthood.

He moved to Houston in the Texas League in 1935, but was hit by a pitched ball in one game and lay in a coma, near death, for six weeks. The accident cut short his playing career.

He became manager of the Cardinals' Albany farm club in the Georgia-Florida league in 1938 and returned to Houston as manager in 1946, winning the Dixie Series championship in 1947.

He managed at Rochester, Columbus and Omaha for the next 11 years, moving up as coach of the Cardinals in 1959. He replaced Solly Hemus as manager in the middle of the 1961 season.

After his 1964 victory, he was named Manager of the Year. "I waited 35 years for this," he said. "I never thought a man could be so happy."

Track Marks Could Fall As Season Opens

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The nation's 1967 indoor track and field season opens tonight at the Cow Palace with the All-American Indoor Games and Meet Director Jim Terrill sees three indoor records and 10 stadium marks in danger.

Randy Matson of Texas A&M, owner of the shot put world record of 70 feet 7 inches, could add the indoor mark by tossing farther than 64-11¾.

Sprinter Charley Greene from Nebraska might nudge the record 5.9 seconds in the 60-yard dash. Last year at the Cow Palace, he stumbled slightly coming out of the blocks yet still was clocked in 6.0.

Seagren faces Paul Wilson in a battle of University of Southern California pole vaulters, and each is expected to top the Cow Palace record of 16-7¼.

San Jose State's Tommie Smith poses the top threat to Greene although the Spartan speedster has been better at longer distances outdoors. The start should foretell the finish. Should Smith get off fast, he could be the winner, but generally Green excels off the blocks.

Griese's Passes Bring Hula Win

HONOLULU (AP) — Two touchdown bombs from Bob Griese of Purdue to Dave Williams of Washington in less than a minute of the fourth quarter provided the margin in a 28-27 victory for the North over the South Friday night in the annual Hula Bowl game.

With his team trailing 21-16, Griese hit Williams for a 43-yard touchdown. Fifty-five seconds later, the same combination clicked for a 40-yard touchdown.

Elusive Charlie Brown of Missouri who ran for 111 yards, making two touchdowns for the South, was named the outstanding back, even in a losing cause.

Fifty of the country's outstanding college players were on hand for the game, played before a capacity 23,500 crowd and at least a dozen professional coaches and scouts.

The first half was lackadaisical, but the two teams got into the spirit of the thing in the second half and hit for keeps.

Otherwise it was all Griese's passing. He hit for 14 of 21 and 279 yards, and also kicked a field goal.

New Rule Curbs Diamond Raiding In College Ranks

By JACK DONOVAN

HOUSTON (AP) — College baseball coaches and the major leagues were a step closer today toward ending their long hostility over the pros raiding the collegiate ranks for players.

John (Hi) Simmons, president of the American Association of College Baseball Coaches said Friday an agreement was reached whereby collegians cannot be signed to a contract until after their senior year, except under certain conditions.

He said the agreement was reached last month at a meeting in Pittsburgh and was adopted by the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues and the major leagues.

The National Football League and the American Football League has long agreed not to sign a college player until his eligibility has expired or, in the case of red shirts, until his class has graduated. A red shirt is a player who completes his three years of varsity football competiton in five years.

Leopards Post Win No. 12

Midland hit its season's high in recording an 85-43 rout over New Brighton Friday night on the Midland court.

The victory left Midland and Monaca in a two-way deadlock for the WPIAL Section 6 lead with each team holding a 4-0 league mark. The triumph also was the 12th of the season for Coach Hank Kuzma's Leopards.

The contest was decided early as Midland ran up a 24-9 first period lead then cruised into the intermission with a 42-18 advantage.

After a 3-1 lead, the vaunted Leopards scored 13 consecutive points to put the game out of reach by late in the first period 16-1.

Midland won the contest in every department showing a 42-25 edge in rebounds as Mahurt grabbed 13. The Leopards shot 39 per cent on 33 of 85 and New Brighton fired at a 36 per cent clip with 17 of 47.

The victory put Western Beaver 2-1 in WPIAL Section 17-B although they are 3-9 on the season.

The teams both played well with the Carnegie Tartans hitting 36 per cent from the floor, and Western Beaver tallying for 45 per cent.

The last quarter saw 53 points scored by the teams, 30 by Carnegie and the balance by the Golden Beavers.

High scorer for the victors was six-footer Mike Lacey who had 29 while 5-5 Darrell Dye added 21. Danny Lorman secured 18 points for Carnegie.

Coach Dan Sekeres saw Dye, described as a "playmaker", hit for 11 points in the final frame. Clarence Andrews scored 15 points and was given credit for his passing and solid rebounding.

The Golden Beavers also took the reserve match 53-51.

Bullets Blow Lead To Lose 11th Straight

By The Associated Press

Before Jan. 1, the consistent Bullets won only eight of 36 games. The new year has brought only added misery.

First, they lost to Detroit, then they lost again to Detroit in overtime, and Friday night, they averted a near miracle by losing to Philadelphia 121-115 in overtime in Philadelphia.

The last setback came the hard way because the Bullets had to squander an 18-point lead in the third period before the 76ers could record their 38th victory against only four losses.

The defeat was the 11th straight for Baltimore, only six away from San Francisco's record 17 in 1964-65.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Bulls, the team that was supposed to do all the losing in the NBA, continued their turnabout by whipping the Detroit Pistons 135-126 in Detroit.

It was the 17th victory for the Bulls, the league's newest club.

Los Angeles, however, kept the Bulls in the Western Division cellar by edging the Boston Celtics 102-99.

Nate Thurmond's 30 points and 20 rebounds helped San Francisco overcome an 18-point deficit and beat the St. Louis Hawks 129-118.

Wally Jones and Chet Walker ruined any hopes the Bullets had of a form reversal as they each scored 28 points to lead the 76ers' comeback.

Luke Jackson's field goal with 43 seconds sent the game into overtime at 111-all. Walker then took over with two baskets and the Bullets were back in form.

Princeton Buries Brown 94 To 50

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Big Lew Alcindor who has led top-ranked UCLA to eight straight victories isn't the only former New York City youth making good in college basketball. There's Chris Thomforde of Princeton, who is helping bring back some of the glory days of the Bill Bradley era to the Nassau Tigers.

Alcindor and Thomforde both are 19-year-old sophomores, but there's a difference. Alcindor is 7-foot-1, Thomforde 6-foot-9.

Princeton, rapidly forging to the fore nationally, made it 10 victories in 11 starts by crushing Brown 94-50 Friday night at home in their Ivy League opener. Thomforde sat out 15 minutes but still paced the Tigers with 24 points.

Texas Western, the defending national champion, was the only team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action. The sixth-ranked Miners crushed Southern Mississippi 84-54 at El Paso, Tex., led by David Lattin's 24 points.

Yale made its record 3-0 in Ivy League play by beating Penn 86-74 at Philadelphia while Columbia downed Harvard 80-71 in New York and Cornell whipped Dartmouth 69-57 at Ithaca, N.Y.

Dies At Houston Home

Keane Claimed By Heart Attack

By WILL GRIMSLEY

A massive heart attack at his home here Friday night claimed the mild, cigar-chomping perfectionist who won the world championship with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1964, only to be fired 18 months later by the New York Yankees when the American League club plunged to the cellar.

He was 55. He had spent more than half his life — 30 years — building a dream with the Cardinal chain.

When death came to him suddenly, he held the obscure position of special scout with the California Angels.

The baseball world was shocked and saddened. Keane, renowned as a good organizer, an astute manager and a person of extremely high principles, was universally respected and admired.

Bob Fishel, chief publicist for the Yankees, probably expressed the sentiments of most baseball personalities when he said:

"He was one of the finest men it has been my pleasure to be associated with. He was a marvelous human being."

Death came unexpectedly at around 10:30 p.m., EST. Keane complained of feeling ill shortly after dinner. He collapsed and died of what his physician, Dr. William C. Sutton, called a massive coronary occlusion.

Keane's widow, a daughter, Mrs. Pat Masterson, and two grandsons, all of Houston, survive. Services will be held here Monday or Tuesday.

In 1963, Keane's Cardinals were barely beaten out for the National League pennant by the Los Angeles Dodgers after a streak of 19 victories in 20 games.

The next year reports persisted that both Keane and the St. Louis general manager, Devine, were headed for discard. In mid-season the Cards fired Devine and hired Bob Howsam. Leo Durocher was slated to replace Keane.

However, Keane rallied his Cardinals and won the pennant on the final day of the season after the dramatic collapse of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Then the Cardinals won the World Series from the New York Yankees, four games to three.

Keane was in a position to get almost anything he demanded in a contract renewal with the Cardinals. Instead, he quit and -in a startling turn-took over as manager of the Yankees, replacing the ousted Yogi Berra.

With Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris suffering injuries and the team generally riddled with misfortune, Keane was able to get the Yankees only as high as sixth in 1965.

Things went from bad to worse in 1966, and the team plunged to 10th place. It was then, apparently at the direction of the controlling Columbia Broadcasting System, that Keane was summarily fired in May and replaced by General Manager Ralph Houk.

Outwardly, Keane took the action philosophically.

Then, a team man to the end, he added: "If they can get them (the Yankees) hitting, that is all there will be to it. The pitching wasn't bad. We were just not hitting."

"Things like this happen in baseball," he said at the time. "You do your best, and that's all you can do."

The lean, soft-spoken ex-manager had none of the brash color of Casey Stengel, the militant driving force of Houk or the warmth of Berra.

Many said that the reason he failed with the Yankees was that he wasn't hard enough on the stars, such as Mantle and Maris.

Keane spent 39 years in the game, but he never played in the majors.

Born Nov. 3, 1911, in St. Louis he broke into the Cardinal organization as shortstop with Globe of the Arizona State League in 1929 after reportedly considering a career in the priesthood.

He moved to Houston in the Texas League in 1935, but was hit by a pitched ball in one game and lay in a coma, near death, for six weeks. The accident cut short his playing career.

He became manager of the Cardinals' Albany farm club in the Georgia-Florida league in 1938 and returned to Houston as manager in 1946, winning the Dixie Series championship in 1947.

He managed at Rochester, Columbus and Omaha for the next 11 years, moving up as coach of the Cardinals in 1959. He replaced Solly Hemus as manager in the middle of the 1961 season.

After his 1964 victory, he was named Manager of the Year. "I waited 35 years for this," he said. "I never thought a man could be so happy."

Track Marks Could Fall As Season Opens

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The nation's 1967 indoor track and field season opens tonight at the Cow Palace with the All-American Indoor Games and Meet Director Jim Terrill sees three indoor records and 10 stadium marks in danger.

Randy Matson of Texas A&M, owner of the shot put world record of 70 feet 7 inches, could add the indoor mark by tossing farther than 64-11¾.

Bob Seagren of Southern California, who boosted his indoor pole vault record to 17-1 just last Dec. 30 in Canada, aims to increase that height.

Sprinter Charley Greene from Nebraska might nudge the record 5.9 seconds in the 60-yard dash. Last year at the Cow Palace, he stumbled slightly coming out of the blocks yet still was clocked in 6.0.

Neal Steinhauer, the Oregon shot putter, generally is considered the world's second best and he could notch a new indoor mark.

Seagren faces Paul Wilson in a battle of University of Southern California pole vaulters, and each is expected to top the Cow Palace record of 16-7¼.

San Jose State's Tommie Smith poses the top threat to Greene although the Spartan speedster has been better at longer distances outdoors. The start should foretell the finish. Should Smith get off fast, he could be the winner, but generally Green excels off the blocks.

Beaver Local Drops Match With Weirton

Griese's Passes Bring Hula Win

HONOLULU (AP) — Two touchdown bombs from Bob Griese of Purdue to Dave Williams of Washington in less than a minute of the fourth quarter provided the margin in a 28-27 victory for the North over the South Friday night in the annual Hula Bowl game.

With his team trailing 21-16, Griese hit Williams for a 43-yard touchdown. Fifty-five seconds later, the same combination clicked for a 40-yard touchdown.

Williams was named outstanding lineman of the game.

Elusive Charlie Brown of Missouri who ran for 111 yards, making two touchdowns for the South, was named the outstanding back, even in a losing cause.

Fifty of the country's outstanding college players were on hand for the game, played before a capacity 23,500 crowd and at least a dozen professional coaches and scouts.

The first half was lackadaisical, but the two teams got into the spirit of the thing in the second half and hit for keeps.

Brown provided a running game for the South, but the North team had little ground gained except for a 79-yard burst around left end by Clint Jones of Michigan State for the first touchdown of the game.

Otherwise it was all Griese's passing. He hit for 14 of 21 and 279 yards, and also kicked a field goal.

New Rule Curbs Diamond Raiding In College Ranks

By JACK DONOVAN

HOUSTON (AP) — College baseball coaches and the major leagues were a step closer today toward ending their long hostility over the pros raiding the collegiate ranks for players.

John (Hi) Simmons, president of the American Association of College Baseball Coaches said Friday an agreement was reached whereby collegians cannot be signed to a contract until after their senior year, except under certain conditions.

He said the agreement was reached last month at a meeting in Pittsburgh and was adopted by the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues and the major leagues.

The National Football League and the American Football League has long agreed not to sign a college player until his eligibility has expired or, in the case of red shirts, until his class has graduated. A red shirt is a player who completes his three years of varsity football competiton in five years.

The college baseball and track coaches met Friday and today in advance of the 61st convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association which begins Monday.

The baseball signing rule, effective last Jan. 1, provides no college player can be drafted and/or signed to a contract prior to the final game of his senior year.

Sonny Jackson of the Houston Astros led the National League with 27 sacrifice bunts last season.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: Do you know how many hours the average housewife spends at her ironing board?

Add up your weekly hours and multiply them by the 52 weeks in each year, times the number of years you expect to live.

You'll be amazed!

If you don't have an adjustable ironing board, why don't you run out and buy one? Or borrow or rent one from your neighbor, and try it out.

Once you have used an adjustable board, you won't be without one.

This takes far less energy than reaching up when sitting at a too-high ironing board, or standing up to iron.

If we spend $5 or $10 on an adjustable ironing board, there's no reason to feel guilty. Look at the hours we spend there.

So, spend a few dollars on this treasure for yourself. You'll never be sorry.

HELOISE

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Why is it???

My husband eats jelly like it's going out of style . . . until I buy a big, economy size, and that's going as slow as molasses in January!

ADELLE J. BLAUMKAMP

DEAR HELOISE: Both my husband and I smoke, and, either through instinct or training we are quite careful when we dump our ashtrays.

I assumed that everyone was equally careful but have noticed how many people (especially nonsmokers) throw still-warm stubs into the waste basket. This is especially true at parties, when ashtrays are filled rather quickly.

When cleaning ashtrays, I dump their contents into a one-pound coffee can and leave them overnight. (Do not cover the can with a plastic lid — the smell will be unbearable.) In the morning, the cigarette stubs can be thrown away, with the assurance that they are cold and harmless.

"SMOKER."

DEAR HELOISE: After you have made contour sheets, try contouring the bottoms of your blankets also, especially for the children's beds.

Wonderful!

HOPE THIS HELPS.

DEAR HELOISE: To give sparkle to mirrors, windows, glassware, etc., add a small amount of household ammonia to soap or detergent water.

It also acts as a grease-cutter and loosens stubborn stains and oily dirt in work clothing.

MARY ELLEN JACOBS.

DEAR HELOISE: My cast iron skillets are kept in good condition with the following treatment:

I season (before use) by greasing with shortening that contains no salt.

I never use detergent on my skillets and as little steel wool as possible. Just scalding hot water and a kitchen brush.

I keep my skillets stored in the oven. I place them there immediately after the oven has been in use and the dry heat keeps them from rusting.

J.R.

DEAR HELOISE: I cut clean half-gallon milk cartons short enough to fit into the freezer.

I slice ice cream into individual servings, wrap the slices in plastic wrap, and store them in the milk cartons with the open end of the cartons facing the front of the freezer.

Both storing and serving is simplified this way.

Hoffa To Receive Hearing Feb. 7

CINCINNATI (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa will have a hearing Feb. 7 on his latest appeal in connection with his jury-tampering conviction handed down in Tennessee.

The date was announced Friday by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here.

Hoffa was sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $10,000 and is attempting to have it set aside.

The hearing here will deal with his appeal from the denial of a motion for a rehearing before the 6th Circuit Court and the denial of a motion to grant him a new trial.

Hoffa and three other men were convicted in federal court in Chattanooga in 1964. The U.S. Supreme Court has rejected an appeal.

Financial Help Asked For 2 Striking Locals

The executive board of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters today threw its support behind a plea for financial help from two of its local unions which are on strike against the Crane Co. in Trenton, N. J.

The international union asked its members to give "financial and moral support" to Locals 45 and 49, which have been on strike against the sanitary ware firm since Nov. 21.

The help was requested by Sigismund Rofolowski, president of Local 45, and Joseph C. Farletta, president of Local 49. They said the employes were "locked out" by the firm and locals then voted unanimously to strike.

Contributions should be sent to Geore D'Ambrosio at 314 Bergen St., Trenton 08610, the IBOP announcement said.

NOTICE FOR BIDS

Sealed bids will be received by the Director of Public Service-Safety of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, until twelve o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, Monday, January 23, 1967, for the purchase of an emergency Fire Truck according to specifications now on file in the office of said Director.

Said bidders shall bid on said Fire Truck on the following basis:

With a simultaneous sale to the bidder of a present Emergency Fire Truck, with the stipulation that the sales price of the City vehicle be subtracted from the purchase price of the new vehicle as a means of determining the lowest and best bidder, and to enter into a single contract for the sale of said City vehicle and purchase of said new vehicle described above.

A contract will be entered into with the lowest and best bidder according to law.

Each bid must contain the full names of every person or company interested in the same and be accompanied by a bond in the amount of 5% of the amount of the bid to the satisfaction of the Director of Public Service-Safety or a certified check on some solvent bank in the amount of 5% of the bid for the new vehicle payable to the Treasurer of the City of East Liverpool, as a guaranty that if the bid is accepted a contract shall be entered into and its performance properly secured. Should any bid be rejected, such check will be forthwith returned to the bidder, and should any bids be accepted, such check will be returned upon the proper execution and securing of the contract.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of our dear father, George W. Heath, who passed away 23 years ago today, Jan. 8, 1944.
Although your soul is now at rest.
And free from care and pain.
The world would seem like Heaven
If we had you back again.
The years may wipe out many things;
But this they wipe out never
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
Sadly missed by your family
Earl and Helen Hancock
Wilber and Bernice Heath

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Nettie Horner who died 2 years ago.
We did not know the pain you had
Or hear your final sigh,
We only know you passed away
Without a last goodby.
Gone, dear Nettie, gone forever
How we miss your smiling face.
But you left us to remember,
None on earth could take your place. A happy home we once enjoyed. How sweet the memory still. But death has left loneliness. The world can never fill.
Husband and Children.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: Do you know how many hours the average housewife spends at her ironing board?

Add up your weekly hours and multiply them by the 52 weeks in each year, times the number of years you expect to live.

You'll be amazed!

If you don't have an adjustable ironing board, why don't you run out and buy one? Or borrow or rent one from your neighbor, and try it out.

Once you have used an adjustable board, you won't be without one.

This takes far less energy than reaching up when sitting at a too-high ironing board, or standing up to iron.

If we spend $5 or $10 on an adjustable ironing board, there's no reason to feel guilty. Look at the hours we spend there.

So, spend a few dollars on this treasure for yourself. You'll never be sorry.

HELOISE

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Why is it???

My husband eats jelly like it's going out of style . . . until I buy a big, economy size, and that's going as slow as molasses in January!

DEAR HELOISE: Both my husband and I smoke, and, either through instinct or training we are quite careful when we dump our ashtrays.

I assumed that everyone was equally careful but have noticed how many people (especially nonsmokers) throw still-warm stubs into the waste basket. This is especially true at parties, when ashtrays are filled rather quickly.

When cleaning ashtrays, I dump their contents into a one-pound coffee can and leave them overnight. (Do not cover the can with a plastic lid — the smell will be unbearable.) In the morning, the cigarette stubs can be thrown away, with the assurance that they are cold and harmless.

"SMOKER."

DEAR HELOISE: After you have made contour sheets, try contouring the bottoms of your blankets also, especially for the children's beds.

Wonderful!

HOPE THIS HELPS.

DEAR HELOISE: To give sparkle to mirrors, windows, glassware, etc., add a small amount of household ammonia to soap or detergent water.

It also acts as a grease-cutter and loosens stubborn stains and oily dirt in work clothing.

MARY ELLEN JACOBS.

DEAR HELOISE: My cast iron skillets are kept in good condition with the following treatment:

I season (before use) by greasing with shortening that contains no salt.

I never use detergent on my skillets and as little steel wool as possible. Just scalding hot water and a kitchen brush.

I keep my skillets stored in the oven. I place them there immediately after the oven has been in use and the dry heat keeps them from rusting.

J.R.

DEAR HELOISE: I cut clean half-gallon milk cartons short enough to fit into the freezer.

I slice ice cream into individual servings, wrap the slices in plastic wrap, and store them in the milk cartons with the open end of the cartons facing the front of the freezer.

Both storing and serving is simplified this way.

MRS. J. S. PINKSTON.

Hoffa To Receive Hearing Feb. 7

CINCINNATI (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa will have a hearing Feb. 7 on his latest appeal in connection with his jury-tampering conviction handed down in Tennessee.

The date was announced Friday by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here.

Hoffa was sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $10,000 and is attempting to have it set aside.

The hearing here will deal with his appeal from the denial of a motion for a rehearing before the 6th Circuit Court and the denial of a motion to grant him a new trial.

Hoffa and three other men were convicted in federal court in Chattanooga in 1964. The U.S. Supreme Court has rejected an appeal.

Financial Help Asked For 2 Striking Locals

The executive board of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters today threw its support behind a plea for financial help from two of its local unions which are on strike against the Crane Co. in Trenton, N. J.

The international union asked its members to give "financial and moral support" to Locals 45 and 49, which have been on strike against the sanitary ware firm since Nov. 21.

The help was requested by Sigismund Rofolowski, president of Local 45, and Joseph C. Farletta, president of Local 49. They said the employes were "locked out" by the firm and locals then voted unanimously to strike.

Contributions should be sent to Geore D'Ambrosio at 314 Bergen St., Trenton 08610, the IBOP announcement said.

NOTICE FOR BIDS

Sealed bids will be received by the Director of Public Service-Safety of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, until twelve o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, Monday, January 23, 1967, for the purchase of an emergency Fire Truck according to specifications now on file in the office of said Director.

Said bidders shall bid on said Fire Truck on the following basis:

With a simultaneous sale to the bidder of a present Emergency Fire Truck, with the stipulation that the sales price of the City vehicle be subtracted from the purchase price of the new vehicle as a means of determining the lowest and best bidder, and to enter into a single contract for the sale of said City vehicle and purchase of said new vehicle described above.

A contract will be entered into with the lowest and best bidder according to law.

Each bid must contain the full names of every person or company interested in the same and be accompanied by a bond in the amount of 5% of the amount of the bid to the satisfaction of the Director of Public Service-Safety or a certified check on some solvent bank in the amount of 5% of the bid for the new vehicle payable to the Treasurer of the City of East Liverpool, as a guaranty that if the bid is accepted a contract shall be entered into and its performance properly secured. Should any bid be rejected, such check will be forthwith returned to the bidder, and should any bid be accepted, such check will be returned upon the proper execution and securing of the contract.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of our dear father, George W. Heath, who passed away 23 years ago today, Jan. 8, 1944.
Although your soul is now at rest
And free from care and pain,
The world would seem like Heaven
If we had you back again.
The years may wipe out many things;
But this they wipe out never
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
Sadly missed by your family
Earl and Helen Hancock
Wilber and Bernice Heath

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Nettie Horner who died 2 years ago.
We did not know the pain you had
Or hear your final sigh,
We only know you passed away
Without a last goodby.
Gone, dear Nettie, gone forever
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember,
None on earth could take your place.
Husband and Children.

Junior Editors Quiz on TRIGGER FISH

QUESTION: How do fish breathe? Do they sleep?

ANSWER: With few exceptions, fish get the oxygen they need from the water rather than from the air, as we do. They have gills, which lie back of the gill slits (upper left.) In the gills, the blood absorbs needed oxygen from the water passing through.

It is difficult to say whether fish sleep. Many appear to rest at times, lying quietly on the bottom, or hiding in some sheltered spot. Fish don't have eyelids, so it is hard to tell if resting fish are sleeping. There is one fish, however, which experts say definitely does sleep: the trigger fish. This unusual creature makes a kind of bed to which he returns every night. He sleeps lying on his side. He looks like a fine dinner for some prowling larger fish. But the trigger fish has an exceedingly sharp spine which jumps up at the slightest alarm and locks into place. Apparently, in some unknown way, other fish know enough to pass up a dinner which might choke them to death.

FOR YOU TO DO: Go to an acquarium and see if you can spot any fish which seem to be sleeping.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, Jan. 7, there are 358 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, the first national election in the United States was held. George Washington was unanimously chosen president and John Adams vice president.

On this date:

In 1931, the first television broadcast of a synchronized sight - sound production was made in Chicago.

In 1932, the United States adopted a policy of nonrecognition of new states established by conquest in violation of the nine-power pact. It was prompted by Japan's forceful takeover of Manchuria.

Ten years ago — At the end of conferences in Moscow, East German Premier Otto Grotewohl and Soviet Premier Bulganin declared that the so-called temporary presence of Soviet troops in East Germany would be prolonged indefinitely.

Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy met with Gen. Lucius Clay, Kennedy's personal representative in West Berlin. The two discussed at the White House meeting the protracted Berlin crisis and the ways of handling situations which could arise.

One year ago — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said after a conference with President Johnson that he expected no early resumption of U.S. bombing attacks on Communist North Vietnam.

Pope Renews Pledge To Work For Peace

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI said today he would not stop working "for the advent of a just and durable peace" in Vietnam.

The pontiff urged responsible heads of state and men of good will to "echo" his initiatives for peace.

Pope Paul, speaking to diplomats from around the world accredited to the Holy See, said he prayed that the new year would bring "a march toward peace."

Viet

and a girl were dead on the trail.

Other Marines, poised aboard the helicopter carrier Iwo Jima, flew inland in assaults upon suspected Communist training camps and bivouac areas. Vietnamese marines also landed in helicopters and surface craft at midday, as the largest amphibious operation so far in Vietnam got under way.

The first U.S. Marines to hit the delta were from the 1st Battalion, 9th Regiment, a group that has seen a lot of action near the so-called demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

"We were prepared for the worst, but we walked in unopposed," said Capt. Michael Sayers of Fort Smith, Ark., commander of B Company.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S forces in Vietnam, told newsmen aboard the Iwo Jima that the Marine assault was the first commitment of American troops to the delta.

"In the coming months it is quite likely that there will be some American troops permanently in the delta area," he said. "They will be very much in the minority compared with the Vietnamese soldier."

Mangrove swamps, infested with centipedes and mosquitoes, edged the beach where the Marines landed. Villages lay derelict and farmlands were overgrown.

The enemy thus far proved not to be the Viet Cong, but the delta itself. Within minutes after coming ashore, eight of the 10 amtracks that moved into the swamps were mired. Other vehicles crossing the beach later in the day suffered the same fate.

The Marines soon found themselves up to their waists in mud and water. The prospects of ploughing through the swamps, the canals and the old abandoned paddyfields was not pleasant, but that was their mission.

Biggest Amphibious Landing Of War Held

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U. S. and Vietnamese marines pushed through forbidding mangrove swamps of the Mekong Delta today and met only slight resistance in the first big American thrust into the delta.

A combined allied force of about 4,000 landed by sea and helicopter Friday 55 miles due south of Saigon on the Thanh Phu Peninsula. Only small, sniper contacts with the enemy were reported.

The operation was the biggest amphibious landing of the war and marked the first major deployment of American troops in the rice field and water-logged delta, where an estimated 100,000 Viet Cong dominate large sections.

As the pace of the ground war quickened after a week's lull, Communist forces in the central highlands unleashed a heavy mortar and ground assault early today against the same airfield at Pleiku where an attack two years ago touched off U. S. air bombings of North Vietnam and led to the massive buildup of American forces in South Vietnam.

A U. S. spokesman said the Communists unloaded more than 100 mortar rounds on Holloway Airfield close to Pleiku City about 240 miles northeast of Saigon. Earlier reports had said 200 to 300 mortar rounds were fired.

The spokesman said 10 enemy soldiers penetrated the airfield and inflicted "light damage" to helicopters and small observations planes. He added that U.S. casualties were light in the 45-minute attack, but several buildings were damaged.

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported the Communists also shelled a nearby Vietnamese airbase early today apparently in a diversionary attack. A spokesman said the Communists inflicted heavy casualties on a regional force platoon defending the Chu Hanh airfield near Holloway and killed four Vietnamese civilian dependents in a shelling of an Army Engineer camp nearby.

In another development, U. S B52 heavy bombers staged four raids Friday night and today in Binh Duong Province 25 to 30 miles northwest of Saigon.

U. S. headquarters said the targets were Viet Cong troop concentrations, supply points, infiltration routes, base camps, storage areas and fortifications.

The delta operation, called Deckhouse Five, was launched from a U. S. Navy task force of 12 warships and was preceded by air strikes and naval gunfire.

One was a Navy F8 Crusader shot down by Communist ground fire. The pilot was missing. The other was an Air Force reconnaissance RF4C Phantom jet shot down by ground fire 100 miles northwest of Hanoi and previously listed as lost by "causes unknown." The two-man crew was rescued.

This brought to 455 the number of U. S. planes lost over North Vietnam. In giving this revised figure, the U. S. command also said helicopter losses over the north remained unchanged at four.

Pope Renews Pledge To Work For Peace

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI said today he would not stop working "for the advent of a just and durable peace" in Vietnam.

The pontiff urged responsible heads of state and men of good will to "echo" his initiatives for peace.

Pope Paul, speaking to diplomats from around the world accredited to the Holy See, said he prayed that the new year would bring "a march toward peace."

and a girl were dead on the trail.

Other Marines, poised aboard the helicopter carrier Iwo Jima, flew inland in assaults upon suspected Communist training camps and bivouac areas. Vietnamese marines also landed in helicopters and surface craft at midday, as the largest amphibious operation so far in Vietnam got under way.

The first U.S. Marines to hit the delta were from the 1st Battalion, 9th Regiment, a group that has seen a lot of action near the so-called demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

"We were prepared for the worst, but we walked in unopposed," said Capt. Michael Sayers of Fort Smith, Ark., commander of B Company.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, told newsmen aboard the Iwo Jima that the Marine assault was the first commitment of American troops to the delta.

"In the coming months it is quite likely that there will be some American troops permanently in the delta area," he said. "They will be very much in the minority compared with the Vietnamese soldier."

Mangrove swamps, infested with centipedes and mosquitoes, edged the beach where the Marines landed. Villages lay derelict and farmlands were overgrown.

The enemy thus far proved not to be the Viet Cong, but the delta itself. Within minutes after coming ashore, eight of the 10 amtracks that moved into the swamps were mired. Other vehicles crossing the beach later in the day suffered the same fate.

The Marines soon found themselves up to their waists in mud and water. The prospects of ploughing through the swamps, the canals and the old abandoned paddyfields was not pleasant, but that was their mission.

Biggest Amphibious Landing Of War Held

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U. S. and Vietnamese marines pushed through forbidding mangrove swamps of the Mekong Delta today and met only slight resistance in the first big American thrust into the delta.

A combined allied force of about 4,000 landed by sea and helicopter Friday 55 miles due south of Saigon on the Thanh Phu Peninsula. Only small, sniper contacts with the enemy were reported.

The operation was the biggest amphibious landing of the war and marked the first major deployment of American troops in the rice field and water-logged delta, where an estimated 100,000 Viet Cong dominate large sections.

As the pace of the ground war quickened after a week's lull, Communist forces in the central highlands unleashed a heavy mortar and ground assault early today against the same airfield at Pleiku where an attack two years ago touched off U. S. air bombings of North Vietnam and led to the massive buildup of American forces in South Vietnam.

A U. S. spokesman said the Communists unloaded more than 100 mortar rounds on Holloway Airfield close to Pleiku City about 240 miles northeast of Saigon. Earlier reports had said 200 to 300 mortar rounds were fired.

The spokesman said 10 enemy soldiers penetrated the airfield and inflicted "light damage" to helicopters and small observations planes. He added that U.S. casualties were light in the 45-minute attack, but several buildings were damaged.

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported the Communists also shelled a nearby Vietnamese airbase early today apparently in a diversionary attack. A spokesman said the Communists inflicted heavy casualties on a regional force platoon defending the Chu Hanh airfield near Holloway and killed four Vietnamese civilian dependents in a shelling of an Army Engineer camp nearby.

In another development, U. S. B52 heavy bombers staged four raids Friday night and today in Binh Duong Province 25 to 30 miles northwest of Saigon.

U. S. headquarters said the targets were Viet Cong troop concentrations, supply points, infiltration routes, base camps, storage areas and fortifications.

The delta operation, called Deckhouse Five, was launched from a U. S. Navy task force of 12 warships and was preceded by air strikes and naval gunfire.

One was a Navy F8 Crusader shot down by Communist ground fire. The pilot was missing. The other was an Air Force reconnaissance RF4C Phantom jet shot down by ground fire 100 miles northwest of Hanoi and previously listed as lost by "causes unknown." The two-man crew was rescued.

This brought to 455 the number of U. S. planes lost over North Vietnam. In giving this revised figure, the U. S. command also said helicopter losses over the north remained unchanged at four.
